The Board of Trade is a body of men who understand a good deal about the courts of law in this province and about the changes that Sir Oliver Mowat has introduced in regard to them. Notwithstanding these alleged beneficent hanges the Board of Trade has found i profitable to dispense with the lawyers and to establish a tribunal of its own where ommon-sense law can be had and for one enth of the cost of the Osgoode Hall article. The Patrons are not, sperhaps, sufficiently educated to appreciate Sir Oliver's legal reorms, but they appreciate the fact that a $100 lawsuit generally costs them two or three hundred dollars to decide. Three Rivers, Que., June 18.—Ho oper spoke for three hours this afternoon from conplous notes which he took during the trial, claiming that witnesses and jury were prejudiced sagainst him.

Mr. MacMaster, for the crown, replied that the jury was as intelligent a one as could be found in this country.

The judge before passing sentence said prisoner had had a fair trial and that his own relatives if they had been on the jury could not have done otherwise than give the same verdict.

Hooper was then sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary.

the Government hadn't expended enough money in the development of this district. He instanced the fact that a private company in Montreal was now advocating a scheme for opening up mines of hard coal on the Hudson Bay. Sir Oliver Mowat has been in power for 20 years, but he has made no move to get up to Hudson Bay. Mr. Bertram's idea of developing the back country is a commendable one, but it will never beput not execution by Sir Oliver Mowat. Sir Oliver Mowat has not even done as much as send an exploratory party to report on the natural features of the country to the north of us.

Mr. Osler brought forward but two or three arguments why Sir Oliver Mowat should be sustained in this election. One reason that appealed to him was Sir Oliver's law reforms. During the Mowat regime the law, he said, had been simplified, che apened and made expeditious. Notwithstanding Mr.

It is to be regretted that the first political meeting held in the Massey Music Hall was characterized by so much disorder as co-curred there last night. It was quite evident from the beginning, however, that there was but a small disturbing element present and, as events subsequently proved, this element could have been controlled from the very first if those in charge of the meeting had proceeded about it in a proper way. Of course Mr. Blake used the occasion to score a point by picturing what a terrible calamity would be fall the province if such a hoodlum element were put in charge of the Provincial Government.

Nevertheless the roughs, who formed half-a-dozen knots in the hall, disgraced whomsoever they represented, and had they not been suppressed had disgraced the city itself. Workman writes as follows: I went to a big store on Yonge-street last Friday that advertised men's suits at $4 50. I was satisfied with the material and bought a suit at the above price. I required a collar and a straw hat—these items were purchased at the same time, but I was transferred, as they call it, from one clerk to another, and so much red-tapeism had to be gone through that before I got my parcels settled for I had lost nearly half a day. This was not all though—the goods were promised that afternoon—they did not put in an appearance, and on Saturday morning I went to the "Big" store and complained; it was nearly noon when I got through, and on the same afternoon about 4 o'clock the parcels came to hand. Now, Mr. Army & Navy, I want you to figure out in your "corner" exactly "where I am" in the transaction from a monetary point of view.

Answer: The above is a common occurrence in some of the drygoods stores which profess to do a clothing trade. From our calculations we make out that "Workman" is a loser to the extent of $3.60 by the transaction. The "redtapeism," as he calls it, cost him a day's time at $2, the suit which the big drygoods store charged $4.50 for can always be bought at any of our stores for $2.90. It will be a lesson, however, for "Workman," and he will know where to come next time.
