From the Halifax Times. FREE TRADE .- We copy from New Bruns wick papers, a report of proceeding in the N B. Legislature, bearing upon this important subject. Mr. Wilmor deserves much credit for his exposure of the system pursued by the British Government, whereby all the British Provinces and Colonies are fast verging to a state of bankruptcy, and the question he very pertinently propounds is—"Shall the Colo-nies content themselves with looking only on, mes content themselves with looking inly on, and witnessing their own destruction?" The question is of grave importance, and deserves a serious answer in every British Colony—He further pointed to the, inevitable consequence of a persistance in such a ratinous policy, in the following emphatic language,—He would jive to see the day when Great British would gase to have a foothold on the American continent." We believe that Mr Wilmot gave expression to the sentiments of thousands of his fellow colonists upon this Continent, and that not only in the outward relations of the Colonies and the distance between them and herself, as wilfully blind to the consequences as when she imposed the stamp act upon the old American depencies. She pets their treason and discourages their lovally—The patients of her for government—fosters a growing disinclination to her rule in all parties, and a reliance upon themselves, which alongiwith her foreign policy as it is made to after them,—will ere long, either foreibly or by mutual conseur, end in total separation. There is but little difference now between the restricts, and a reliance to provide the colonies and burst which characterised the, old American There is but little difference now between the restricts, and a reliance upon the maselves, which alongiwith her foreign policy as it is made to after them,—will ere long, either foreibly or the foreible of the conveyage and the mass hour, and the later at 6 miles an hour. The Mails from Exites ease which the provides will be target to make immediate payment to make imme which made them the United States. And it only requires some important question of trade to arise in which Great Britain may deem it her interest, and manifest her deterance in the interest, and manifest her deterance in the interest, and manifest her deterance in a blaze. She has done much of late to lose the affections of the truly loyal, and ought not to calculate upon their love to a cert such a catastrophe—she has petted the discounted and given themipower to make their machinations effective. She has relied upon the loyalty of the Jatter, and in so far has differed from her practice with the old Provinces, whose expressions of loyalty though equally ardent, up to the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the loyalty of the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the loyalty of the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the loyalty of the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the permitted in the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the moment of the outbreak, were distributed—but whose true, character the permitted in the moment of the outbreak.

Troy, May 15, 1846.

Mr. Fowle—
In October last, I took a violent cold, which settled on my lungs and produced a hacking cough, accompanied with night sweats, which reduced me very low. A few days after I was taken I employed one of our best physicians, but recelved no help: I tried another, but with no better success, and finally a third, still growing worse all the while. At this stage of the disease I was reduced so low as to be unable to turn myself in bed, or set up while mybed was made. My physicians finally gave me up, and said that I had the consemption, and that there was no help for me."—My friends advised me to try "Wistar's Radsam of Wild Cherry." but the Doctors objected, said that it would only hurry me out of the world; I mally procured a bottle, and by using three bottles I was restored to perfect health.
