the better, as it is the hot, dry weather that damages them. It is now customary to sprout the small potatoes before planting, handling them carefully in order to secure an early stars. Now is the time to look over the seed potatoes throwing out every one that shows the slightest sign of rot, and every potato used for seed should be carefully examined. Do not use seed that came from land where rot has occurred. Better procure sound seed from elsewhere, even if the cost is increased by so doing. OF A CASE OF YEARS STANDING.

It has been declared by scientists that every disease has a remedy. The difficulty is to always find the remedy. In rheumatism South American Rheumatic Cure has been found a certain antidote for this painful disease. It is always effective. Mrs. N. Ferris, wife of a well-known manufacturer of Highgate, Ont., says: "I was seriously affected with rheumatic pains in my ankles, and actimes was almost disabled. I tried everything, as I thought, and doctored for years without much benefit. I was induced to use South American Rheumatic Cure. To my delight the first dose gave me more relief than I had had for years, and two bottles have completely cured me." Sold by S. N. Weare. OF A CASE OF YEARS STANDING —A poultryman says: "The best litter in the poultry house is the refuse from the hay loft. Hay seeds are regarded as invigora-ing, but the benefit derived from them is due to the work induced by the seeds. A flock of hens will scratch and work all day in litthen writ scratch and work all day in itt-ter from the hay loft, as the seeds are a com-plete change for them. Being small, and covered with the leaves and dust, the hens must work to get them. The leaves from clover hay will also be relished, and are among the best foods that can be supplied in winter."

-Instances of fatal cigarette poisoning multiply, giving renewed token, if such were needed, of the dangers attending the practice, making it less a matter of surprise that in some States legislative measures have been taken to interdict the manufacture or sile. It is an evil to which no adequate ramedy has as yet been applied, and perhaps none can be, but every legitimate effort against it is in order, and deserves public encouragement and aid.

The library and guest room contain materials traps all to pieces." Another youngster refor writing a letter, and in the latter room is also a well appointed work basket, which petition "had not been attended to," and enables the fortunate occupant to take the stitch in time that is popularly supposed to save nine. There are probably few working governess was discovered burying a piece of housekeepers among the new women, but in their ranks will be found a new and better paper in the garden. It proved to be a re-quest to the devil to take the governess below. And children can sometimes preach strange class—the executive housekeeper.

When the new woman reaches the age that sermons as well as invent strange prayers.
At the age of 3 a child "who subsequently s supposed to make her an old woman-after she has reached the meridian of years—she does not sit down, quietly awaiting for leath. It may be exceedingly positive to the does not sit down, quietly awaiting for leath. It may be exceedingly positive to the does not sit down, and the down and the dow eath. It may be exceedingly pretty and do evil, cease to do well," and at the same quite like the action of some sweet old story, the "patient waiting with pale face and placid smile and folded hands" playing in a ple, be dood." If our young barbarians all way the part of the Lares and Penates beat play are not more "spiritual" than this, side the fire. The up-to-date woman realizes | we can bear it with equanimity. No book on children is complete, of course than that of a statue in a niche, and there seems to be no real reason for going into the logic. Mr. Lewis gives a few, "Mother, women with gray hair do not think it necessary, as in the past, to hide it with cap or wig, and to hide themselves as well.

Clinging to the chimney corners is a thing of the past, and it is fortunate for women of yet, mother only had it on Sunday." Anadvancing years that public opinion has changed, and that it is expected that they water, and told that to the fly the drop was changed, and that it is expected that they shall form a part of the society. They belong now to clubs; they are engaged in various do these clever things when he was a little boy." We offer Mr. Lewis a "fly" story in Small girl (to fly): "Ickle fly, exchange. Small girl (to fly): "Ickle f'y, does 'oo love Dod?" (Answers herself): "Yes; then" (crushing fly) "do to Dod." Of merely humorous anecdotes of children, Mr. Lewis, preoccupied with proving their "spirituality," has room but for one or two.
A little boy sat on the floor crying. After a while he stopped, and seemed buried in thought. Looking up suddenly, he said: "Mamma, what was I crying about?" "Be-"Oh, yes," and he set up another howl."
Children in Spain are enjoined always to leave a little food on their plates uneaten for the sake of politeness. A little girl, tempted by a peculiarly toothsome dish, whispe "Please, mainma, may I eat politeness to-day?" A boy, wearied with school tasks, sighed: "Oh, if all the world would be

The Double Meaning A Methodist preacher, who protested against people going to sleep during the sermon, would, if he perceived any tendency in that direction, introduce some queer or startling statement to revive their flagging curtains is quite a feature of the home.

By this time all ears and eyes were open, and he proceeded to finish his sermon. The next day he was called upon by one of his hearers to account for his ex "But I didn't say one mosquito would weigh a pound," he protested. "I said a great many of them would and, I think, per-
