

course of North River, a head-water of, 201, 221; Kootanie Plain, breadth there, 236; (N. Sask.) Elbow reached, 127; crossed at Carlton, 129, 132—at Pitt, 139—at Edmonton, 146; a supposed head-water of crossed, 193; valley of North River, a head-water of, 200, 230; height-of-land passed, 230; N. Sask. crossed at Kootanie Plain, 236; height-of-land dividing from Bow River (S. Sask.) watershed passed, 237; down N. Sask. in a boat, 273; frozen in, 274; camp by river, 274-282; crossed on the ice, 293, 298.

SOUTH BRANCH OF SASKATCHEWAN.—Breadth and character at Elbow, 75; Mr. Hind's estimate of breadth, 76—of angle of Elbow, 77; feasibility of junction with Red River, 76; character below Elbow, 79; breadth there, 86; crossed by herd of buffalo, 78; crossed by author's party, 89; Bow River, its chief head-water, reached, 244; S. Sask. crossed on the ice—its breadth, 301.

SASKATCHEWAN DISTRICT.—Agriculture—Edmonton, 148—Pitt, 286—Carlton, 300—Bow River, 260; grazing,—Carlton, 129, 133—Pitt, 140, 286—St. Ann, 168; district becoming useless to the Company, 185; colony might be formed there, 286; S. Sask. River probably ere long boundary with United States, 332; chain of settlements on N. Sask. River suggested, 332; N. Sask. River best communication between Canada and Pacific, 333; (district) peculiarities of dress in, 171, 233; James McKay belongs to, 8; Mr. Christie chief officer of in 1859-60, 268; Mr. Hardisty chief officer of in 1874, 300.

Saskatchewan, Little, 47.

Saulteaux (Ojibways). See Indians.

Saux Rapids, 11, 368.

Sawyer, Colonel, Otter-tail, 367.

Scarcity of provisions in author's camp, 245, 268.

Schoolcraft, Mr., 9, 15, 18, 19, 370.

Scottish settlers. See Red River, Fort Garry.

Scott, Sir Walter,—his heroes, 279.

Scow (or skiff), a barge, 14, 50, 129; cart-wheel, 22, 23.

Seneca Lake, 3, 4.

Settee, Rev. Mr., Fort Pelly, 323, 324, 328, 333.

Shakespeare, plays read on various occasions, 54, 64, 135, 137, 146, 189, 218, 235, 245, 313, 336; remarks on "Titus Andronicus," 218—on "Merchant of Venice," 235; his balancing of good and evil in his characters, 219, 278; "Troilus and Cressida" quoted, 314. (For remarks at length on several plays see Appendix.)

Shayenne, river, 20.

Sheep, Wild, description of, 210; plentiful in parts of the Rocky Mountains, 167, 180; seen, 191; ewe shot, 196; ewes, etc., shot, 198, 199; ram shot by Munroe, 200; ewes and two rams shot, 205, 206; twelve rams shot, 209-214; very fine ram leaps off rock, 213; measurements of heads, 215, 216; rams ascend precipice, 231; five ewes shot, 232; ewe shot, 236; ewe falls over cliff, 240; labour of pursuit, 253; Indian woman's dress of skin, 288.

Shoal Lake, 49.