shange the entire course of life, to save
a soul from death—W. H. H. Murrey.

The pleasures of the world are ceitful; they promise more than they give. They trouble us in seaking them,

they do not satisfy us when possessing them, and they make us despair in Bure I am that it is better to be sick, providing Christ come to the bedside, and draw by the ourtains, and say, "Courags! I am thy salvation!" than to enjoy health, being lusty and strong, and never to be visited of God.—Rusherford.

Real foresight consists of reserving our own forces. If we labour with anxiety about the future, we destroy that strength which will enable us to meet the future. If we take more in hand than now we can do well, we breeffup, and the work is broken up with us.

—Olderer.

Mr. Ruskin calls upon workmen in promise these three things: "1. To do their own work well, whether it be for life or death. S. To help other people to do theirs when they can, and seek to avenge no injury. S. To be sure they can obey good laws before they seek to alter bad ones."

avenge no mjury. 8. To be sure they can obey good laws before they seek to alter bed ones."

Jersny Taylor said: "Hasty conclusions are the mark of a fool; a wise man doubeth—a fool rageth, and is confident; the novice saith, I am sure that it is no; the better loarned answers. Peradventure it may be so; but I prithes inquire. Some man are drunk with fancy and mad with opinion. It is a little learning, and but a little, which makes men o uclude hastily."

A good minister once said, "I am very sensitive to the prayers of little children. I could think of no greater punishment than to less the love of little children; "which proved him to be in the line of apostolic encession from the great Master who tenderly said, "Suffer the little children to come unito Me," and who "took them up in His arms, put His hands upon them, and blossel them." It is the spirit of every true minister of Chriss.

Like most garments, like most carpets, everything in life has a right side and a wong side. You can take any joy, and by turning it ar und, find troubles on the other side; or you may take the greatest trouble, and by turning it around, find troubles on the other side; or you may take the greatest trouble, and by turning it enough the other side. The glocuniest mountain never casts a shadow on both sides at one, nor doos the greatest of life's calamiter.

There are three kin-ls of death set forth in the Scriptures. I. Smiritant
