EVERYTHING NEW!

Our system of selling goods during the season instead of keeping them over, enables us to show an entirely new stock every spring and autumn. This season our stock is becoming very attractive. Every season for the next three or four weeks will add fresh novelties to each department. To-day we show novelties in French and English Neck Ruffles and other Fancy Goods.

Real Torchon Lace.

One lot Thread Torchon Laces, splendid qualities, and marked very cheap.

Received into stock this morning, one case Den's Kid Gloves.

A really good pair of Black or Colored Kid Gloves for 50 cents.

Splendid qualities of Two Button Kids at 75c.

One case Gents' Kid Gloves, good makes for wear and marked very cheap.

Silk Handkerchiefs.

Two cases Ladies' and Gents' Silk Handkerchiefs to be sold very cheap. Prices from 15 cents to $1 each.

Umbrellas.

Our Silk Umbrellas sale at reduced prices is a great success. We hold a large stock of them, all of which must be sold rather than keep them over. Now is the time for cheap Umbrellas.

Shirts and Collars.

The reason why we can sell Shirts and Collars so cheap is because we make them, and save our customers both the manufacturer's and wholesaler's profits.

Our store for Shirts, Collars and Cuffs, all at regular wholesale prices.

The Show Room.

Every business man that has seen our Show Room says it is the finest and most convenient one in Canada. The ladies say it is the show room for real novelties at true value.

Real Welch.

Real Welch Flannels, although not as slightly as other flannels at the same prices, are the cheapest in the end, because they improve in the washing. They do not shrink and will wear longer than any other make. We import Welch Flannels direct from the makers in Newton, Wales.

REWARDS FOR ATTENDING A FUNERAL.

The Orangemen of Ottawa have been decorating their heroes, the heroes being none other than the leaders of the company who went to Montreal to attend poor Hackett's funeral. As a matter of fact there was little or no danger encountered on the occasion. The whole national forces of the neighbourhood were there, ready, if occasion required, to afford ample protection. As everyone knows, no attempt was made to inflict the slightest injury; nay, not even threats were employed to shake the nerves of these doughty pilgrims. It was quite proper that all who wished to attend that or any other funeral should do so with impunity. But to make it appear as if the bonds of social order were dissolved; that we were at that time in a state of civil war; and that those who went to Montreal on the occasion showed as much bravery as if they had mounted a deadly breach or led the forlorn hope to battle and victory, is so extravagantly out of keeping with the facts of the case and with every semblance of propriety that we wonder any one could behave so foolish as to lend himself to the delusion, or to give his countenance to what, if true, would have been a libel upon his country and his people. There was not the slightest danger incurred at the time by the Orangemen, and they knew there was not. But because it seems the right and proper thing that one section of Irishmen should always be flying at the throats of those of another section, we have a certain number of not particularly wise men striking medals as if war had been raging, and making the outside world believe that the people of Canada were a set of savages, among whom there was no law but that of the strongest, and no remedy for wrong but that of the fist and the blade. There are some people proverbially courageous when no particular danger is threatening, and the Ottawa Orangemen who, with grave faces, could receive medals and listen to addresses, as if they had been seamed and scarred veterans returning from the last of a series of campaigns, need not wonder if the common-place is quoted in connection with their names, and they be looked on as only pot-valiant braves.—Toronto Globe.

[The only objection we have to the above is the statement that "one section of Irishmen should be always flying at the throats of another." The fact is three-fourths of the Orangemen of Montreal, Ottawa and Kingston who formed the protecting Army Corps at Montreal on the 16th, are neither Irishmen nor the descendants of Irishmen.—E. T. W.]

CANADIAN ITEMS.

MONTREAL CATHOLIC UNION PIC-NIC TO OTTAWA.—The picnic in connection with the Catholic Young Men's Union to Ottawa was very largely attended on Thursday last. The delegation from Montreal arrived in the morning and were received by a long procession of members of the Union, headed by a brass band. The gentlemen comprising the delegation were as follows:—Messrs. Kirwan, Tass, Winkess, J. E. McEwen, M. Brennan, Thos. Sullivan, Michael Hyland, P. J. Gleeson, M. Carroll, M. Feron, John Dillon, Edw'd. Coyle, E. Coyle, Frank Scanlon, Jas. Gooley, M. Fogarty and G. Harrington. On reaching the Hotel, the band played St. Patrick's Day, after which Capt. Kirwan was introduced in a brief speech. In the afternoon the show grounds were crowded, about 2,000 people being present to witness the sports.

SCHOOL REGULATIONS IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.—Passing over several other interesting preliminaries, we come to the list of text books. There we find Thomson's obnoxious History of England, which no Catholic should be permitted to read. No account, however, is made of Catholic children—they must bear what treatment the law accords to them, and thank their stars that they are allowed as many cubic feet of sitting room as their Protestant fellows. There is a "classified speller" also mentioned in the list of text books. This "classified speller," we may inform our readers, is the handiwork of Mr. Manning, Superintendent of our schools, who, in the days when he occupied an inferior position, seemed to have beguiled his leisure hours with the composition of a very comical work, which he now presents as a text book for the benefit of the schools of Prince Edward Island. There is also on the list of text books a "History of the Maritime Provinces," by Harper. Now, this Harper is the newly imported gentleman from New Brunswick, who is appointed by our present Government to superintend our Normal School. He is a great Historian. He has written three histories, distinct and separate, yet strange to say all the same. He has written the History of Nova Scotia and the Maritime Provinces, the History of New Brunswick and the Maritime Provinces, and the History of Prince Edward Island and the Maritime Provinces.—When it is made known that these volumes are in every way identical save on the title page, some idea may be formed of the ingenuity of the Head Master of our Normal School. He might have a little more of the scheme by changing; still, even as a bell-ringer varies the order of his chimes, and written histories of the Maritime Provinces and Nova Scotia, &c., &c., a change of title pages is all that is needed with this "Harper," and he plays, as is well seen, an infinity of airs. We intend to review this "history," it is not among the text books either of Nova Scotia or New Brunswick, that we can see. Here, however, on Prince Edward Island, we have room for a very great number of walls and strays, both as authors and teachers, thrown out by the St. John fire, especially as it would seem for our benefit. An eruption of Vesuvius entails a fall of cinders on neighboring lands. From the St. John fire we are getting in our Educational Department of State, cinders with a vengeance.—Charlottetown Herald.

FATHER MATTHEW TEMPERANCE EXCURSION.—Yesterday about 11.30 a.m., the steamer Empress of India reached Oaklands with about 500 excursionists from Toronto, who had gone there under the auspices of the Father Matthew Temperance Societies. The weather was far too cool and windy to be thoroughly enjoyable out of doors; nevertheless the young people, by promenading and dancing, managed to spend it very agreeable day. A large number of the excursionists came over to the city, and some went to the beach by the ferries. Some two hundred Hamiltonians went to Oaklands in the afternoon and met their Toronto friends. During that part of the day, the famous Shamrock Lacrosse Club played an exhibition game against a much larger field than is usual, and showed some splendid play. The whole affair passed off with one exception, and reflected credit upon the Managing Committee. It was a matter of regret that the weather had proved so unpropitious. Had it been more pleasant the attendance from the city would have been much larger. The exception referred to consisted of the treatment some of the excursionists met with at the hands of the officers of the Empress of India. After the boat had touched at Oaklands wharf and disembarked the major portion of her passengers, she came over to this city and tied up at Barnard's wharf for the afternoon. A goodly number of Torontonians took advantage of this and came over with her and spent the afternoon in the town. When they reached the boat at 6 o'clock to go back to Oaklands, they were met with a blunt demand for ten cents extra fare. They showed their excursion tickets and said they were good for the round trip. This the officers denied and refused to allow anybody to enter the steamer until the fare to Oaklands had been paid. Some persons who had spent their pocket money in the city were placed in a very unpleasant predicament. A Mr. Albine, with five children, found himself in this fix, and told the Captain he would see him for breach of contract. Others joined in the threat and altogether there was a very exciting scene. The officers, however, had their own way. A good deal of ill-feeling was expressed when the facts were reported at Oaklands. A number of lady passengers, as usual, were left here by the steamer and were forced to take the late evening train to reach home.—Hamilton Times, 5th Sept.
