

INDEX

Ryerson, Rev. Egerton, his mission to England, 237; introduced to colonial office, 238; quarrels with Mackenzie, 238
 Rymal, Jacob, aids Mackenzie's escape, 390

S

SELECT COMMITTEE ON GRIEVANCES, Seventh Report of, 26; Mackenzie obtains committee, 263; matters referred to, 269; the committee's report, 270-7; reply of Lord Glenelg, 280; Head's instructions, 280; subjects dealt with, 281-6

Sherwood, Justice Levis P., quarrels with Judge Willis, 131-3
 Shorthills affair, the, 440

Sincoe, General, Lieutenant-Governor of U. C., his view of the Constitutional Act, 54

Small, James E., defeated by Baldwin, 159; opposes Mackenzie, 214

Smith, Go'dwin, his opinion of Mackenzie, 3; Canada and the Canadian Question, 3, 10, 27, 55; Three English Statesmen, 18; on revolution, 18; view of the parliamentary government under the Constitutional Act, 54, 55

Stanley, Lord, colonial secretary, 236; discusses post-office, 236; restores Hagerman to office, 234
Star, the (Toronto), opinion of Mackenzie, 4; on rebellion, 13; Mackenzie as a reformer, 522

Strachan, Rev. Dr., proposes provincial university, 95

Sutherland, Thomas J., plans occupation of Navy Island, 412; want of discretion, 412; starts for Michigan, 418; reaches Detroit, 427; meets Handy, 427; lands on Bois Blanc Island, 428; arrested in Detroit, 428; taken by the Loyalists, 431; found guilty but released, 431

Sydenham, Lord, on the state of the province, 406; would not have fought against rebels, 407; praises Reformers, 407; opposition from the Family Compact, 407; gives responsible government, 409; surprised people had not sooner rebelled, 477

T

THOMPSON, EDWARD, defeats Mackenzie, 308

"Toronto Alliance Society" sympathizes with Lower Canada, 327

U

UNIVERSITY, PROVINCIAL, Mackenzie's view on, 95

Upper Canada Gazette, official organ, 38, 109

V

VAN BUREN, PRESIDENT, anxious to avoid war with Britain, 423; issues neutrality proclamation, 444; annoyed at Mackenzie, 445; pardons Mackenzie, 458; his political death blow, 472

Van Egmond, Colonel, commander-in-chief of the rebels, 1837, 360;