

FAMOUS DUPLEX HAIR CUTTER ON SALE AT HALF PRICE

$2.00 Reg. Price---For Only $1.00 $1.00 CASH GIVEN $1.00 FOR THIS AD $1.00

Read This Offer Carefully. It Will Never Appear Again

There are only two steel plants on this continent that can turn out the fine quality of steel necessary for the DUPLEX. Our contract with one of them expired on March 1, and then they raised the price 50 per cent. We were then forced to charge $2.00 for the DUPLEX. We have just made arrangements with the other plant to supply us with enough special steel at the old price to make up 5000 DUPLEX HAIR CUTTERS. These won't last more than a week or so, and when they are sold we will be forced to charge $2.00 again.

SEND $1.00 TODAY AND SAVE $1.00
No experience or practice is needed with the DUPLEX. You can't possibly go wrong. Over 40,000 now in use daily in Canada. Trims as long or as short as you want it to. Cuts while you comb. No scissors or clippers are needed. The Duplex does the work completely. Trims around ears and back of the neck. If you don't believe our statements, send us your name as witness on printed matter, and read dozens of statements under oath from people who use the Duplex, including opinions of well-known barbers.
As long as this 5000 lot lasts we will accept this advertisement from all readers of The World the same as one dollar cash. Send it to us with only $1.00 cash and we will send you the DUPLEX HAIR CUTTER complete and ready for instant use, postage paid to any address. Send only $1.00 and this ad. TODAY. TOMORROW MAY BE TOO LATE. AGENTS WANTED.

WAR SUMMARY

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

In France the battle died down appreciably yesterday afternoon and both armies are entering the comparative lull before the Germans make a fresh effort, as promised by Berlin papers, or the allies crash into them with their reserves and attempt to show decisively that Germany will lose the war. General Foch, it seems, is to assume supreme command of the Franco-British armies, with the strategic reserve of 500,000 men, in order to conduct the offensive. This French officer has a high reputation as an offensive general and he is also credited with a perfect understanding of the British soldiers as well as of the French soldiers. The enemy, so far, has achieved no real success; but he now issues the claim that he has taken, since the offensive began, 70,000 prisoners. It is now known that only eight British divisions with three more in reserve here the brunt of his opening onset and shattered his striking power.

Another crisis developed in the battle south of the Somme, but the British met the emergency and blocked the German advance on a defensive line just twelve miles east of Amiens. It began with a furious onslaught of the enemy against a sector close to the junction of the British and French lines on the Avre, and the British front bent under the pressure, permitting an enemy advance to a line west of Hamel, Marcel Cave, Mezieres and Denuin. From this region northward to Arras local fighting prevailed. South of the British on the front of the Oise the allies continued to strengthen their line; and the French, who are guarding this front, easily beat off the few enemy attacks. The French counter-offensive on the line Noyon-Lassigny continues.

The defence of Arras and Vimy Ridge will stand out conspicuously as one of the notable events of the battle. With the object of capturing these positions the enemy advanced on both banks of the Scarpe. He had six divisions in front and four others of shock troops in rear, and in one section his attack penetrated to the Laigyrisch and Telegraph Hill. The tenacious British defence flung him back and restored the original positions. The importance of Arras and Vimy Ridge is that they form the British pivot and their capture would probably frustrate the allied counter-offensive, for they would have no pivot on which to swing. The capture of the German pivot at Vimy Ridge by the Canadians a year ago frustrated the plans of Von Hindenburg for an offensive.

HUNT DODGERS OF CONSCRIPTION

Dominion Inspector at Hamilton Tells of Rounding Up of Defaulters.

SEPARATION ALLOWED

Mayor Advocates Uniform Charge on Coal, But Controllers Are Unfavorable.

Hamilton, March 29.—Some interesting facts in connection with the general activities of the Dominion Police, who, through the routing of several pool rooms and the Sons of England dance hall and rounded up two defaulters, were given to The World tonight by Inspector Taylor, in charge of No. 1 and No. 2 military districts.
"Hamilton has a clean bill of health as far as defaulters are concerned, but there are a few local men liable under the act who have left for parts unknown. However, the net is being tightened around them, and it is far dodgier than that of any other town in Hamilton," he said.
Inspector Taylor emphasized the necessity of every man carrying his papers to make an excuse for himself and the police. He stated that two weeks ago there were 1200 absentees in the two districts, and that a force of 200 police, everyone of whom was a returned soldier and had been in France, were successfully rounding them up. Discussing the north country, where many of the defaulters had taken to the bush with large quantities of supplies, the inspector said: "As soon as their beans run out they have to come out. We know of cases now where men have taken supplies into the woods to defaulters, but we are gradually rounding them up."
That act of cruelty has been proven and that the plaintiff was entitled to separation and alimony was the decision of Chief Justice Meredith in the supreme court action of Mrs. Levy against her husband, Morris Levy, for separation and allowance. His lordship decreed that the amount should be referred to the local master, who will hear the evidence in reference to Levy's income.

Uniform Charge on Coal

In the belief that a uniform charge on coal would be of benefit to consumers and also put an end to the prices, Mayor Booker has written to the federal fuel controller, asking for immediate attention in the matter. The idea, however, does not meet with the approval of the controllers, who claim that if a uniform price is fixed it will be sure a steep one that the public will not be in anything.
"I think that we should be satisfied that one of our dealers is able to get good coal and keep down the price," said Controller Jutten.

Found Dead on Street

While patrolling his beat early this morning P.C. Osborne found the dead body of a woman at the corner of Mulberry and Park streets. It was later identified as Mrs. M. Lewis, a widow, 52 years of age. Dr. Hopkins, coroner, decided that death was due to apoplexy and that an inquest was unnecessary. Two sons and one daughter survive.

Special Services were held at the Church of Ascension and also Centenary Methodist Church this morning.

The congregations were large. Before the beginning of the reconstruction of the market hall F. W. Warren, architect, who was engaged by the board of control to design the new building, will leave for Cleveland to inspect the modern market there. There is a possibility that Controller Robson will take in the trip, and that many other large cities will be visited.

S. H. Armstrong, Director of Recreation for the parks department, Toronto, delivered an address on "Recreation and Playgrounds" before the Community Welfare League tonight.

The lecture was one of a series being conducted under the auspices of the local organization and was well attended.
Chief Inspector Graham, of Ottawa, who will take over the office of local income inspector from E. G. Lowe on Monday and install the new inspector, W. H. Davis, is in the city. After the necessary arrangements have been made Mr. Davis will assume his new duties.

Seven grass fires within four hours provided plenty of work for the local police force this afternoon, but caused little damage.

Miss Margaret Harris, 25 years, died yesterday afternoon at 18 Strachan avenue. She had been ailing for some time, and is survived by a mother and two sisters.

St. Clair Beach Loses Mayor in Death of John Cada

Windsor, March 29.—In the death of John Cada, mayor of the Town of St. Clair Beach, just east of Ford, which occurred today, Essex County loses one of her native sons and a man for years prominent in the councils of the Conservative party in the riding. Mr. Cada was 80 years old and died at his farm home in Maidstone Township. He had twice been elected president of the North Essex Conservative Association and was an influential figure at all party gatherings. Besides his widow, he is survived by four sons and three daughters.

SIR GEORGE SMITH COMING.

Head of Aberdeen University Will Arrive in New York Next Week.

New York, March 29.—A cablegram today from Ambassador Foy, in London, notified Henry A. Atkinson, secretary of the national committee on the churches and the moral aims of the war, that the late Sir George Adam Smith, head of Aberdeen University, would arrive in New York early next week for the inter-church clerical conference on April 4 under the joint auspices of the national committee and the Liberty Loan committee.

NEW RUSSIAN ARMY RULES.

Moscow, March 29.—Rules governing the appointment of the commanding personnel of the new Russian army have been promulgated by Leon Trotsky. They provide that the commanders of the units be of larger size—small beapromoted by the war ministry with the consent of the war council.
