AN ADVERSE BALANCE OF SIXTY MILLIONS.

The government made an attempt, by the adoption of its preferential schedule, to transfer to Great Britain some of the large trade which the United States does with Canada. There is no disputing the fact that British exports to the United States, in preference over the United States in our markets, but a fact which is equally indisputable is that the preferential tariff has not worked out as anticipated or as has been claimed for it. The increase of United States imports into Canada since the preferential tariff was adopted has been much greater than the increase of British imports into Canada during the same period. An examination of the tables recently prepared by the Bureau of Statistics at Washington shows that in a fairly all articles the exports of the United States to British North America have steadily increased during the two years in which the new Canadian tariff law has been in operation.

Of agricultural implements the United States exports to British North America $201,107 worth in the ten months of 1907 prior to the enactment of the law in question. In the ten months ending with April 30, 1908, during which time the April law which reduced the rates of duty 10 1/2 per cent. was in operation, the exports of agricultural implements increased to $242,354, while in the ten months of the fiscal year 1908, during which time the full 25 per cent. reduction was in operation, they increased to $1,008,078.

In wheat flour the exports for the ten months just ended were over $3,000,000, against less than $2,000,000 in the corresponding months of the preceding year. In books, maps and stationery the exports to British North America in the ten months of 1907 were $711,108, against $694,629 in the corresponding months of 1908, and $517,078 in the ten months of 1907.

Exports of carriages and cars to British North America increased from $100,000 in the ten months of 1907 to $152,443 in the ten months of 1908, and $142,543 in the first year's operation of the new tariff Act, and $420,587 during the ten months just ended and under the full operation of the Act in question.

Inspection of the tables in detail shows that in the finer grades of manufactures, such as cotton cloths, manufactures of iron and steel, etc., exports from the United States also continue to gain. Exports of cotton cloths from the United States to British North America in the ten months just ended were 50 per cent. in excess of those of last year, and other manufactures of cotton also show an appreciable gain, the increase being from $1,351,124 in the ten months of 1907 to $1,573,078 in the ten months of 1908.

Builders' hardware increased from $438,100 in the ten months of 1907 to $583,346 in the ten months of 1908, and $739,530 in the ten months of 1908.

Typewriters increased from $124,501 in 1907 to $138,963 in 1908, and $142,579 in the ten months of 1908.

Manufactures of leather, comprising boots and shoes, increased from $200,450 in 1907 to $224,448 in 1908 and $338,212 in the corresponding months of 1908.

Even in canned beef, which has been the subject of so much discussion of late, the exports to British North America increased from $15,000 in 1907 to $152,443 in the ten months of 1908, and $152,443 in the ten months of 1908.

The preferential tariff having failed to divert business from the United States to Great Britain, the question naturally arises what Mr. Wilfrid Laurier intends doing next. United States exports to this country are increasing at an alarming rate. During the ten months ending April 30 last they amounted to $75,002,519, being an advance of 27 1/2 per cent. over the corresponding period of the previous year. If the increase for the remaining two months keeps up to the same ratio our imports from the United States for the year ending June 30, 1909, will amount to just $90,000,000.

Our exports to the United States for the ten months ending April last were $25,505,528. This is exactly one-third of what the United States is exporting to Canada. What a pitiable contrast!

The people would like to learn from Sir Wilfrid Laurier what he intends doing to protect the country against such an adverse balance of $90,000,000 in our trade with the United States. He cannot get reciprocity from the United States. His program now? The country would like to hear from him.

SOCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE.
A sign of the times is the holding of the so-called National Social and Industrial Conference at Buffalo from June 25 to July 4 next. The conference is described as being a gathering of progressive men and women of various political and social beliefs to consider the present condition of American politics and economics, and what is the next thing to do. The discontent with the political and industrial conditions as they exist today is much more marked in the United States than in this country, and it is altogether likely that the United States will tackle and solve the problems involved before Canada. An idea of the scope of the conference may be had from a reference to the program. The subject for discussion on the opening day is "The People v. the Monopolies." The monopolies are referred to as national and local, the former including industrial monopolies, and the latter, local monopolies. The conference will try to do away with the tendency to throw light on the question as to how far the people should abolish, control or own monopolies. The second day will be taken up with non-partisan reform, such as military, naval, and other reforms, and the third day with the subject of international trade, legislation, etc. The other days will be devoted to political reforms and questions affecting the various political parties of the United States. The names of those who are to take part in the conference include some men of more than national reputation. We notice that Hon. S. M. Jones, the celebrated anti-monopoly Mayor of Toledo, is to take a hand in the proceedings, as is also Hon. Tom L. Johnson, the Chicago millionaire, who recently announced that he intended to retire from his lucrative business and devote himself to industrial and social reform. Among other names we notice Hon. H. S. Pines, Governor of Michigan; Henry D. Lloyd, Hon. Frank Doster, Chief Justice of the Kansas Supreme Court; Col. S. F. Norton of Chicago, Prof. Frank Parsons of Law University, Boston; Prof. Ed. W. Remis, Rufus W. Weeks of New York; Walter S. Logan of New York; Rev. H. W. Thomas of Chicago; Eugene V. Debs, and a great many others. The names of the General Committee include leading men in all the professions, newspaper editors, politicians and publicists. We notice among others the names of the editors of The New York Journal, San Francisco Star, Cosmo, Literary Digest, The Voice, etc. University professors seem to take kindly to advanced views, as the names of not a few of them are down on the committee. The deliberations of the Buffalo Conference will be awaited with interest by the thousands of intelligent people who are in sympathy with many of the reforms that will engage the attention of the conference.

PATRON'S SOUR ON LAURIER.

General dissatisfaction with the Government's failure to carry out its anti-election promises was the leading feature of the gathering of the Patrons of Industry at the Sand Banks on Saturday last. Mr. G. S. Macdonald, a representative Patron and a one-time strong supporter of the Liberal party, vigorously attacked the Laurier Government for its failure to redeem its pledges to the people. Under Mr. Tarte, said he, we have the same old policy as under the late Government. Highly protective duties were still continued, the cotton combines still flourish, and notwithstanding the reduction of the duties on the raw material of the agricultural implement makers, the duties had not been reduced. Enormous subsidies were still granted. The Liberal party and its leadership in Opposition gave the country to understand that if they were returned to power the C.E.R. would have to paddle its own canoe. Since then, however, large subsidies have been granted, and since the Government has begun to give it is pretty hard for anyone to keep up with it. "The Liberal party," said Mr. Macdonald, "played us for suckers, and those who trusted them in 1896 are now looking foolish." Mr. Macdonald also referred to the elevator question in the Northwest. When Mr. Douglas introduced the bill for the regulation of the elevator companies Mr. Sifton said the Government would accept the principle of the bill and extend it to the West. He had it, however, referred to a special committee on which there were only two farmers, and by the committee the bill was thrown out. "If this sort of thing be continued," said Mr. Macdonald, "it will take the sap out of this young nation." Members of Parliament continually say that in reciprocity negotiations with the United States "we will not bend the knee," but none are better than the men who say this in bowing the knee to the C.E.R.

With mutiny of this kind in the ranks there is little occasion for surprise at the efforts Sir Wilfrid is making to strengthen his position before he decides to face the electorate. It is just possible that he will do the bank job in Ontario since he expects to steal by means of his redistribution measure, but several others besides.
