Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

Mr. Richard Jennings, a farmer, living in Goderich township, states: About three years ago I was taken down with Bright's Disease of the kidneys, had to give up all work, and placed myself in the care of the family physician. After some months a consultation was deemed necessary, and I was told I could not live.

"In sheer desperation I began to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The first pill gave relief, the first box produced a decided change for the better, and continuing the use of them, I improved in health, until now I am taking the heavy share of work on the farm. No tongue can tell what I suffered previous to using these pills, and I owe my recovery to them."

ROBERT F. BOOTH

The Most Popular Forester in Toledo, Ohio.

The following extract from the Toledo News relates to a former Londoner, whom many readers of the Advertiser remember with kindly regard, and who, like a number of other Canadian boys who have done well in the world, was a graduate of this estab-

The different contests at the Foresters' carnival in East Toledo were concluded last night. In the gold watch contest for the most popular Forester, the subject of this sketch, Mr. R. F. Booth, was an easy winner. He had been put up as a candidate by his own lodge, Court Lucas, without his solicitation, and left the matter solely to his friends. Bob attended his lodge meeting last night for a short time and then went to the Central Labor Union, of which he is a member, tle, shippers, averaging 1,300 pounds and at which important business was to be transacted. The session was a late one, and it was midnight when the tired delegate found his pillow. It was about an hour later when the vicinity of West Washington street was arous ed by the furious barking of dogs and the tramping of horses. Leaping hastily out of bed, Mr. Booth hastened to quiet his dogs and found upon his doorstep Messrs. O. Wittmann, Joseph H. Lohner, John J. Kiel and John Mosher, brother members of Court Lucas, who had just alighted from a hack, Grabbing their astounded brother, they swung him around and told him he was an easy winner. He could hardly believe it, but his lodge's slogan is "Court Lucas against the field," and the result is known. Though found in robe du chambre and with all lights out, "Bob" and his friends had a "hot time" for awhile, and some of the neighbors lost sleep.

The victory was an emphatic one, and reflects great credit upon the hustling members of Court Lucas, No. 20, F. O. A. This is not a large body, but it is full of ginger, and usually gets what it goes after. Mr. Booth has been a member of the lodge for about ten years, and has held all the positions of honor and trust, being at present past chief ranger and deputy grand chief. He is as tickled as the boy with the boots today, and feels deeply grateful to his friends for their loyalty; but says that he is prouder than ever of his lodge. A notice has been sent by him to the entertainment committee, and at its next meeting Court Lucas will enjoy a "stag" on "Bob" Booth.

BETTER PAY

Increase Granted by the Grand Trunk to Sectionmen-Engineers' Negotiations Proceeding Satisfactorily.

Toronto, July 26 .- Word was received from Montreal last night that the Grand Trunk management had in-creased the wages from $1 to $1 10 a day of the section men on the main lines and heavy freight lines. The increase goes into effect on the middle division, where about 800 section men are employed. Two-thirds of these will get the augmented pay. The lines on the middle division to which the in-crease applies are those between the following points: Toronto and the Sarnia tunnel, Suspension Bridge and the Sarnia tunnel, Toronto and Hamilton, Fort Erie and King's Court, Fort Erie and Stratford. No increase has been granted section men on the branch lines. GRAND TRUNK ENGINEERS. Mr. Morse, superintendent of motive power on the Grand Trunk, announced yesterday that the negotiations which have been going on for some time now between the engineers and the G. T. R. management were proceeding to a sat-isfactory conclusion. Mr. Morse ad-mitted that it was quite possible that the terms of the new agreement might be made public in the course of a few days.

PREFERENCE IN BRITISH MARKETS

Resolution in Reference to Canada's Desire Prepared by the Premier.

[Special to The Advertiser per C.P.R.] Ottawa, July 26 .- Sir Wilfrid Laurier informed Mr. McNeill, when the house met today that the resolution which the latter had prepared in reference to Canada's desire to obtain a preference in the British markets was not satisfactory to him. The premier said he had prepared one of his own would show it to Mr. McNeil. Probably they would agree upon it.

Mr. Fielding moved the house into committee on a resolution regarding public assistance to dry docks, In 1882 a statute was passed granting 2 per cent of a subsidy on the outlay for building dry docks, but not to exceed $10,000 per year. Owing to the increased size of steamships larger docks are now required, and the resolution proposed to increase the amount of subsidy to 2 per cent on the cost of the work for twenty years, but not to exceed $20,000 per year. #### NUTS AS FOOD

The Use of Them for Culinary Purposes in Some Foreign Countries.

We have little idea in this country to what a considerable extent the nuc is used for food in foreign ands. Our consuls have been sending information on this subject from far and wide, and the facts here given are condensed from a number of these reports. We are trying to teach foreign nations that Mr. R. Kills met with quite a painful Indian corn is an excellent article of accident on Saturday last. While joint-food, but most of the European peasantry still believe that maize is only fit to fatten hogs and beef cattle. Many Misses M. Cutler and E. McKay, of Lobo, wheeled here one day last week steamed chestnuts with much relish, and are content if they have nothing else, which shows that tastes differ. Throughout the center of France, from the Bay of Biscay to Switzerland, there are large plantations and almost forests of chestnut trees. The nuts are very large, resemble the American horsechestnut and are extensively eaten by the peasantry and animals. In the fall and winter the poor often make two meals a day on chestnuts. They are steamed and eaten with salt or milk, and physicians say they are wholesome, hearty, nutritious and fattening. In some parts of France walnuts are also a regular article of diet. but they are losing ground as an article of food because of their comparative scarcity. Walnuts are also used to make oil, and the convicts in some prisons are employed cracking the nuts and picking out the kernels, from which the oil is expressed. Almonds grow well in the middle and The meat is white and creamy, Hazela luxury. The peanut is rarely eaten in France, though the taste for it is growing. It is imported in enormous quantity for its oil. A few years ago there was a great deal of talk about the merits of bread made of peanut flour, and it was thoroughly tested in the German army, where for a little while it was part of the ration issued to a number of regiments. It was declared to be too highly concentrated and an irritating sort of food, and the soldiers didn't like it. The use of peanut flour was accordingly discontinued.

In Italy almonds are eaten while green or soft as dessert by the wellto-do, but the poor cannot afford them. Chestnuts are the only nuts that enter into the regular diet of the people. Almonds, filberts and walnuts are more of a luxury and are served as dessert or with wine at social gatherings.

The chestnut almost takes the place in Corea that the potato occupies in the western world. It is used raw. boiled, roasted, cooked with meat and in other ways. In Syria nuts are not a part of the regular diet, but enter into the composition of some popular native dishes. "Nuts in this country," writes our consul at Alexandretta, may be classed as a luxury, for use as a dessert and for consumption by the natives at night just before going to bed."-New York Sun.
