JIMMY COON GOES TO SEE W HAT MRS. POSSUM WILL SAY. Jimmy Coon was curious to know family, and hide before Teddy Possum what the parents of other families do and his five little brothers got home.

what the parents of other families do to their disobedient children. Now, Jimmy Coon ought to have been ashamed of himself, in planning to give Teddy Possum and his five little brothers an awful ducking that dark night when he took them all fishing.
For, after the six fishermen had started on their fishing trip that night
Teddy Possum had said to Jimmy Coon:
"Now, Jimmy, be sure to take us to a safe place for fishing, for my Mother

Teddy Possum had said to Jimmy Coon:
"Now, Jimmy, be sure to take us to a safe place for fishing, for my Mother warned me not to get our brand new suits wet; she said the cloth might shrink, and that she would give us all an awful licking if we went in swimming!"

Now, Jimmy Coon is such a scamp, and a bad one, that he thought it would be fun to watch the Possum boys getting a licking. So after the ducking, Jimmy Coon ran as fast as he could go to get into the backyard of the Possum hot simple file, like Indians. And they were as wet as drowned rats, and hung down their heads in shame and fear. They certainly looked like "jail birds" going to prison. Mother Possum saw them coming, and Jimmy trembled, up in the branches of that tree, as he hears her scold Teddy Possum and his five little brothers, saying: "Didn't you hear me tell you, time after time, not to go in swimming and not to get those nice brand new suits wet?"

And all Teddy Possum and his five ming!"
Now, Jimmy Coon is such a scamp, and a bad one, that he thought it would be fun to watch the Possum boys getting a licking. So after the ducking, brand new suits wet?"

And all Teddy Possum and his five little brothers could do was to drip water all over the back piazza, and to tremble in their wet clothes and boots, and say, "Yes'um!"

And Mrs. Possum took the broom and tried to beat the water out of their wet suits while their suits were on their backs. But she couldn't get all of the water out of their suits in this way, so she hung the six wet suits on her clothes-line to dry.

And Jimmy Coon was astonished to see those six suits hanging up on the states his sacrard hours with they see those six suits hanging up on the clothes-line several hours, until they were nice and dry. You ask me, in wonder, how Mrs. Possum got those wet suits off the backs of her six sons to hang up the suits to dry? Why, she didn't take their suits off! She just didn't take their suits off! Sne just hung her six boys on a wild grape-vine (which was her clothes-line), and there they hung for hours by their wonderful rope-like tails! And Mother Possum stood nearby with her broomstick to see that her six sons hung on that clothes-

FLETCHER-SEEDS.

A quiet wedding of interest to Londoners was solemnized last week at Port Huron, when Flossie Beil, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Patterson, was united in marriage to Pte. Fred T. Eastman of Camp Gordon, Georgia. Rev. Crissman officiated, in the presence of friends and relatives of the young couple. The bride looked charming in taupe taffeta. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Eastman will reside in Georgia.

Mrs. F. G. Pullett and Mrs. J. R. Craig of this city left on Saturday to attend a session of the Supreme Shriners of Jerusalem, to be held in Grand Rapids today and Tuesday.

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Miss Anna Neville of Sarnia, when a large number of her friends gathered at her home and presented her with a silver-mounted parasol and a gold chain rosary, on the occasion of her leaving Sarnia to train in St.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am only 41 years f age, but feel more like 81, or what imagine anyone at that age must fee I imagine anyone at that age must feel like, and my complaint is very similar to "Elderly's," printed in your paper on May 1, 1918. My opinion is that a man of that sort can't be changed, any more than a leopard's spots can. The only way is to try and circumvent him in every possible way. I've often been able to do it, but it's very wearing on one's vitality in every way, and, it's hard under the circumstances to feel else he requires, to be forever at his beck and call, and right quick at that, and to do it all for her board and todging, with not a cent beyond—unless he gives it grudgingly. How can a man expect a woman to keep her end of the business up and in good working order when her mind is tormented by the discontent caused by these things? I've struggled on for fourteen years and born three children against long odds. Have felt many times like giving up, but I think of the many worse off than I ever have been, and hope is strong in the human heart at all times. So I expect to worry through, as usual, as long as I've strength left to go around.

There's one thing, let "Elderly" remember, her husband must support her, sick or well, no matter whether she raises chickens or not. I never bother rother clothes, so that relieves me of their clothes, so that relieves me of they burdens at once, as you may say, and they have more courage, too, to demand their rights. I think "Elderly" better let the blame things go hang and hunt their feed. They'll live on his stuff just the same, and won't get too fat by working and hunting for it.

There's one thing, let "Elderly" remember, her husband must support while any own and support the lambskin?

Can anybody advise this reader about the lambskin?

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you give me a recipe for cleaning an oil painting?

We got one a couple of weeks ago with dust and dirt on it. Mother was able to get the dust off, but the dirt was limpossible.

Miss Grey, I read in a newspaper about a method of shorthand called—

The course consists of seven lessons, and in fact, never heard of it before. May acquaintance with shorthand, would place more reliance in a longer and more thorough course.

P.S.—How can I soften a lambskin which has been cured by salt?

Ans.—Yes, I am afraid you do understand "Elderily's" trouble all too well and it gives one the heartache to you. One can only pray that in your three children you may find comfort and happiness to make it all "worth while."

Can anybody advise this reader about starting in and let him buy eggs if he wants them. The way you speak about starting in course? Yours truly, E. C. No. 1.

Ans.—Personally, if I valued the painting, I'd take it to an art store for farmers, and it only costs a little over eight cents a pound, and the dealer will likely pay you five and a half for your flour—a good deal, all right. Likely the off all loose dust, using a soft piece of solit, then apply the oil by means of a soft rag draped around the finger's end. Rub very gently and renew the rag frequently. Now, I do not know as to the reliability of this, but you might test a very small corner of the picture where least noticeable.

2. I cannot advise you, because I know nothing of the system, and in fact, never heard of it before. May say, of a man's crochet tie? I do not care three children you may find comfort and happiness to make it all "worth while."

Can anybody advise this reader about the lambskin?

A Solled Painting.

Where least noticeable.

2. I cannot advise you, because I know nothing of the system, and in fact, never heard of it before. May say, though, that from my acquaintance with shorthand, would place more reliance in a longer and more thorough course.

Dear Miss Grey and Readers,—1. Can anyone please give me the instructions of a man's crochet tie? I do not care for the pattern, just the instructions. If anyone can send them to Miss Grey, and Readers,—1. Can anyone please give me the instructions of a man's crochet tie? I do not care for the pattern, just the instructions are least noticeable.
