tion—Driver of Cab Is Arrested.

Wilson DesBrassy, a blind man, living at 187 College street, was removed to the General Hospital early this morning in a serious condition as a result of being struck down by a yellow cab, and opposite his home, Joseph Francis, 127 Margueretta street, the driver of the cab, is held by the police on a charge of criminal negligence.
According to the police, DesBrassy alighted from a street car at the corner of McCaul and College streets, and commenced to walk around the back of the car to get across the street. As he stepped out from behind the car, however, he was knocked down by the taxi-cab. It is stated that the blind man was unattended at the time of the accident, and had only his cane to feel his way along.

COLCHESTER FIGHT IS QUITE UNCERTAIN

Capt. Dixon, M.C., Is Regarded as Formidable Opponent for McCurdy.

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—(Special).—The result of the by-elections in Colchester and St. John, the polling in which will take place on Monday, is being looked forward to in political circles here with the keenest interest. It is St. John, where Mr. Wigmore is opposed by a Liberal, Dr. A. S. Emery, a decisive government victory is generally conceded, but it is felt in Colchester, where Mr. McCurdy has a Farmer opponent in the person of Capt. Dickson, M.C., the result will be close.
For this belief there are several good reasons. In the first place, Colchester is a 70 per cent rural riding, and if the Farmers' party possesses any strength in Nova Scotia at all, it ought to be manifested in this fight. In the second place, Captain Dixon, who served overseas with distinction, being wounded and having won the military cross, is a very formidable candidate and ought to poll the extreme maximum of the agrarian vote. Finally, there is some possibility that Captain Dickson, in addition to having the advantage of fighting in a riding that is 70 per cent rural, can count upon a measure of support from the Labor party in Truro.

WHITE ROSE CALL MEETS RESPONSE

The call of the "white rose," which goes out on Toronto streets to ask support to nourish and save many little lives that otherwise would fall a prey to tuberculosis, never fails in its appeal, and yesterday $14,000 was collected. Yesterday Queen Mary taggers were out as early as 6 o'clock, holding up the pretty white blossom to workers as they hurried to their daily toil. Rushed as they were, thousands found time to get down into their pockets for the silver coin to give in return for the white-petaled flower.
One thousand boxes were out, with their five thousand workers, who covered the fifty districts into which the city was divided. Each was in charge of a captain, who had under her a number of chaperons, who in turn had a detachment of ten to twenty girls. Mrs. Charles Law, who had charge of the downtown headquarters, was able to report that before nine o'clock some taggers had replenished their tags, one leading with the number 1,000, many times, as her total. The money, as usual, will go to the Queen Mary Hospital for Consumptive Children, the good work of which is widely known.

BELIEVE BRANTFORDITE MURDERED IN DETROIT

Brantford, Ont., Sept. 16.—(Special).—The remains of Harold B. Dugham, a Brantford youth, have been brought back to Brantford. Dunham was the son of H. B. Dunham, Walter street, and went to Detroit to get a better position. He had on Saturday last $100 in his pockets. On Saturday evening he was found in Belle Isle Park with his lips burned with carbolic acid, but with no trace of the money. The father read of the findings of the body, believed it to be his son, went to Detroit and identified it. He firmly believes that the lad was the victim of foul play, and that the cause of carbolic acid on his lips was only a cover-up. He served four years in the war. His stomach is being analyzed to ascertain if he had been drugged.

WHITE ROSE CALL MEETS RESPONSE

Sum of Fourteen Thousand Dollars Raised by Tag Day Collection.

That veterans should discard the use of the word "gratuity" and substitute the word "compensation," in relation to their demand for recognition by the government, was the advice given by Comrade H. L. Howe of Kingston, when he addressed the members of Riverdale Branch, G.W.V.A., in Ogdewell's Hall, Broadway avenue, last evening on "The Question of Bonus." He thought the veterans had put too vigorous enough in pressing their demands, and he was emphatic when he declared that the demand of $2000 as a flat rate was a dead issue.
"I believe in a bonus as I believe in the Bible," said the speaker, who added that there must be some equity in the demands which they put before the government. He said the people would not stand for $2000 as a flat rate.
Comrade Howe read a resolution adopted by the central body, which expressed their belief "that the members of the C.E.F. are entitled to a gratuity bonus as compensation—not for services rendered, but (1) for actual depreciation in the value of the dollar during the period of war, and (2) for the actual increase in the cost of the ordinary necessities of life during the period of the war." He informed the meeting that a conference would be held between delegates from the 23 organizations in the city on the last Thursday of this month, when the entire bonus question would be reopened, and plans formulated for a renewed and aggressive campaign, calculated to educate public opinion in a sane bonus policy.
Comrade Howe said that the veterans' demand for compensation was based on the same reason that was advanced for increases to civil servants, to whom $20,000,000 has voted, namely, the increased cost of living and the shrinkage in the purchasing power of the dollar. Cabinet ministers and members of parliament got their allowance increases for the same reason, while a bonus of $70,000,000 was given towards shipbuilding, and railways had obtained bonuses since construction, totaling $700,000,000, besides 40,000,000 acres of land.
"Basis of Compensation."
He suggested that a fair basis of compensation to returned soldiers, widows and dependents of those who had fallen would be one dollar per bonus per day from the time of enlistment until the time of discharge. "What we are asking is simply deferred pay. We don't want a bonus for mental reasons. It is compensation that we want," declared the speaker.
He strongly advocated that there be standardized viewpoints presented in regard to the claim for bonus or compensation.
"We must make this an issue. You do not require to demonstrate a need. You have earned the money, and it is the attitude I think you should adopt."
He ridiculed the idea that there was not sufficient money in the country to pay such a bonus to veterans and widows and told of how one week after they had been trimmed by the parliamentary committee the government had paid $147,000,000 for the Grand Trunk Railway. He declared that the government would require to increase the question of compensation to soldiers in dead earnest.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL WILL GO ON

MAJOR-GEN. SEELY VISITS KINGSTON

Again Says English Situation
May Cause Hurried Return.

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 16.—(Special).—Major-General Sir Hon. John Seely, C.B., C.M.G., is in the city today, the guest of Major-General Sir Archibald Macdonald, commander of the Royal Military College, at the college sports, commented on the situation in England today. "If a really serious situation arises in England," said General Seely, "it will be necessary to cut my visit short, and from the latest news I no longer feel justified in making any but provisional arrangements."
When asked what impressed him most since landing in Canada, he said it was the extreme kindness of the people everywhere. Major-General Seely impressed one as being typical of the British politicians and statesmen who have knitted together the component parts of the British empire. In his tour of Canada he is renewing acquaintances of his former comrades in arms. He met the officers of the R.C.H.A. He has received numerous invitations from Canadian clubs, and he would like to prolong his stay to the latter part of October. His parliamentary duties may, however, interrupt his itinerary. He left the afternoon for Toronto and will go on thru to the west tonight. It is probable that he will visit Toronto on his return from the west.
