THE BLUE DIAMOND

(Continued.) A sharp knock came at her door. She thought that it must be her teacher, she hurried to tell her what decision they had come to concerning her. She crossed the door steadily and unlocked the door. Instead of her father it was Lady Erline Wavenshure who stood outside. Without a word Patience motioned her visitor to enter. Lady Erline rustled into the room, holding the skirts of her rich dress closely about her. "I have come to have a talk with you," she said sharply. "For there is something to be settled between us before I make up my mind what to do."

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO ACHIE

Thousands of Women suffer Un-told Misery Every Day with Aching Backs That Really have no Business to Ache. Under ordinary conditions it ought to be moving and ready to bear the burden of life. It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and is a sign of a lot of trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others. Mrs. Frank O'Neil, Alameda, Ont., writes: "I was doctored for six months for kidney trouble and should be advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so and in one week I was able to walk with very little pain, and in five months my back was as good as over."

IN HER BRIDAL ROBES.

The bride of any season or year is charming in her bridal robes, no matter how simple or expensive they may be, but it seems that the bride of this year of grace should be just a little bit more fetching than we have ever seen her, for the modes and the materials which go to their development are so unusually attractive and becoming. The bridal gown of the illustration is simple in mode, but extremely elaborate in material, for both the bodice and long train skirt are fashioned of exquisite lace, rather uniquely trimmed with white handwork. This use of the material as a trimming is quite a feature of the season. The skirt is formed of wide Chantilly flouncing, point d'esprit net and Valenciennes, set together with bands of white handwork. The bodice is a draped affair of the lace built over a snugly fitting and well-boned taffeta foundation, and is joined to the skirt beneath a high-collared piece of the lacework, which material is also used in yoke form and beautifully applied with fine embroideries outlined with silver thread. The chemise and collar are of net, with silver and broderies, and the sleeves of lace gathered into a band matching the chemise and finished with two frills of lace. The full veil, which reaches the extreme edge of the train, is adorned with orange blossoms and white paradise plume in the prevailing fashion.

A RHEUMATIC WRECK.

After Hospital Treatment Failed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Him. "I suffered the greatest agony from rheumatism. Leading physicians prescribed many medicines. I was compelled to go to an hospital, but even the treatment there failed. Then I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and today I am a well man." These words were spoken by Clifford L. Forbes when interviewed at his home in Port Maitland, N. S. Mr. Forbes is a fisherman and had always been very healthy, until some three years ago while fishing off Newfoundland he was seized with a very severe attack of rheumatism. He could not work or sleep, and the pain was almost unbearable. My case became so serious that I had to be landed for weeks I lay in a Cape Breton hospital as helpless as a cripple. The hospital doctors prescribed different remedies, but they did not cure me. I then left the hospital and was taken home with rheumatism apparently completely fastened upon me. Day and night I suffered. Nothing I did for the trouble seemed to help me and I became despondent and down-hearted. Then a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was skeptical, but my friend promised to try them, with the result you see today. I am fully cured and have not since had even a twinge of that dreadful affliction. It cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I urge all rheumatic sufferers to try them."

CHAPTER VII.

The departure of Lady Erline did not put an end to Patience's trials of that night. She was left but a little while to herself, she was allowed small respite from the torturing of her soul. A heavy step resounded in the corridor; she recognised it as one of that of her father. She sprang to her feet and quickly dried her eyes. She wondered if he would be very brutal to her. He was a man of passionate temper, and never spared the word that stung. He had often struck her when she was a small girl. Patience rather hoped that he would do some as a real physical pain would come as a relief to her, an antidote to her mental suffering.

SUBMARINE TRIALS

Submarine Boats Lake and Octopus Put Through Their Paces Yesterday. NEWPORT, R. I., May 23.—The torpedo tests of the submarine Lake were the most interesting features of the official competitive trials under government auspices yesterday. Two boats anchored 300 yards apart, represented a battleship target, the range being 800 yards. The first shot fired left the starboard tube all right, but, in naval parlance, the torpedo did not function. The second shot fired from the port tube, was a complete success, the torpedo hitting the line squarely between the two anchored boats. Then the Lake started to turn in order to fire a torpedo from the stern tube, but the torpedo was discharged prematurely and made only a short run through the water. All these torpedoes were later picked up by the longer sub-service boat, but in addition to the torpedo trials, the Lake executed some manoeuvres at a depth of ten feet, completing a circle in three minutes and thirty-five seconds. The trial board had intended to have a speed trial along the measured mile course, but there was no-reloading on board. The trial board decided that should the sea be smooth tonight the Octopus would start for Boston at midnight to undergo a deep sea submergence test. It is expected that in addition to the submergence test off Boston Light the Octopus will also have her mining and counter mining trials there. Later in the afternoon the Lake was ordered to sea for a trial in light and rough conditions. The boat went through the test nicely, although the sea was running high.

The Care of the Skin

The reason that many people have had complexion or rough skins is that they do not know how to use the hot and cold water and soap to the best advantage. A little attention to this matter will make a great deal of difference in the texture and clearness of the skin. These two principles are to be remembered: Hot water opens the pores and cold water closes them. To properly wash the face, first wash with hot water, then with cold water, and hold it against the face, repeating this several times. This opens the pores, always look fresh and have a soft, natural color, and will never look in any way oily. If possible, and dip it in hot water, lay soap on it, and dip it in hot water. Lay soap on it, and dip it in hot water. Lay soap on it, and dip it in hot water.

Loss of Appetite

Is common when the blood needs purifying and enriching, for then the blood fails to give the digestive organs the stimulus necessary for the proper performance of their functions. Hood's Sarsaparilla is pre-eminently the medicine to take. It makes the blood pure and rich, and strengthens all the digestive organs. I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla as a spring medicine and find it excellent. My brother-in-law used it for blotches on his face and was perfectly cured. He has not a hair on his head. SULTAN HAS A NEW DAUGHTER

A Little Princess Comes to the Yildiz Kiosk—She is Fourteenth Child of Turkey's Ruler.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 23.—The Sultan in his sixty-fifth year has once more become a father. A daughter has just been born in disgrace at the age of 37. The youngest until the new arrival was Prince Mehmed, who is now a little more than eighteen months old. There is incessant suspicion, plot and counter plot at the Yildiz Kiosk and these influence in no insignificant manner the lives of the imperial princesses. When they are married of their own inclinations are not considered. Abdul Hamid prefers to have for his sons-in-law men of inconspicuous ability, so that he need not fear from them any machination against the throne.

A REAL DUKE COMING

OTTAWA, Ont., May 23 (Special)—It is understood that the Duke D'Abruzzo, who has been representing Italy at the Jamestown Exposition, will make a visit to Canada before returning to Rome. He will probably come north next month, and before returning will look into the merits of some mining property near Sudbury. His visit will be informal. He is a cousin of the King of Italy, and is noted as an arctic explorer and mountain climber.

STRAWBERRY JELLY

Crush enough berries to make a pint of pulp, and pass them through a sieve to remove the seeds. Soften one-third of a package of gelatin in one-third of a cupful of cold water and dissolve by setting the dish in hot water; add two-thirds a cupful of sugar and, when cool, the strawberry juice and the juice of one lemon. Put into a rag mold. Serve with orange sections, fresh cream, flavored with vanilla and slightly whipped cream.
