RECENT DEATHS Mrs. M. M. Sterne. (Amherst News, Saturday.)

(Amherst News, Saturday.)
The entire town heard with deep regret today, the news of the death of Mrs. M. M. Sterne, which occurred at midnight at the home, Church street. Although Mrs. Sterne has not been in the best of health for some months it was not anticipated that she was in a dangerous condition but death was due to angina pectoris from which she had been suffering for some time although unknown to her friends, and her sudden passing came as a most sorrowful blow unknown to her friends, and her sudden passing came as a most sorrowful blow to the family and a large number of friends. Particularly to her husband, Professor Sterne, will the loss be an awful shock. For nearly forty years has the late Mrs. Sterne been a loving and devoted help meet, and it will be difficult for him to bear up in this sad hour. The late Mrs. Sterne was beloved by all cult for him to bear up in this sad hour. The late Mrs. Sterne was beloved by all who knew her, and her acquaintances are numbered in all parts of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. She was a prominent member of Christ Church and took a large part in all the functions conducted by this congregation. The deceased who was sixty years of age is survived by her husband, a daughter, Miss Marion, and two sons, George and Ralph, of the legal firm, Sterne & Sterne, and one brother, R. S. Hibbard, of the Minudie Coal Co.

of the Minudie Coal Co.

The late Mrs. Sterne was a daughter of the late George Hibbard, Lower Cove, and Jane Seaman of Minudie. Her father was one of the important factors in the political life of Nova Scotia. She was a grand daughter of Amos (King) Seaman, who held a huge grant of land, that covered the entire district, known today as Minudie, and whichr he conducted in a manner similar to the barons of the feudal days. of the feudal days.

Enough has been said through your valuable daily to arouse the most languid and the half has never been told guid and the half has never been told or ever will be told of such conditions. The question which comes home to us all is when are we as a city interested in the expansion and progress of present day affairs going to start and take up the question in its entirety and see the matter fully consummated?

I regret that some of my fellow citizens are inclined to think that I have some real estate pursuits in East St. John and elsewhere. To this I may say that such is not the case. My articles

Smart Afternoon Dresses of Taffeta

Feature new style ideas and are developed in many clever and fascinating modes. Among the colors that promise to be spring favorites are taupe, navy, royal and black.

The variety of style is interesting. Short sleeves are among the predominating features of the newest gowns. Overskirts of various lengths and shapes are showing and cascade effects at hips are decidedly new.

As a whole the frocks have a charming simplicity; however, some of the more elaborate models have Georgette fronts handsomely beaded, or fronts of self material with vari-colored Silk embroidery.

Finely pleated ruffles are used with good effect on semi-tailored models. Surplice waists and button back effects are also new.

To the Editor of The Times:
Sir,—So much time is being taken up with the harbor tangle that there seems little thought of the other more urgent needs of our city.

Little effort seems to be made in the solution of the great housing problem which becomes more prominent in our midst today than ever.

People of all shades and classes are in search for some place to make their homes for at least the coming year. Driven to despair at being flooded or frozen out they are seeking shelter elsewhere but without any great success. "Children we don't want in our houses," is the cry from many. Rents are so high that the poor cannot pay and so it goes on day after day.

What a ditsressing shame it is to see in St. John conditions which do not exits in any other city on the continent in comparison to population.
