

THE NOVA-SCOTIA ALMANAC.

ADVERTISEMENT.—The unprecedented success which the publication of a CHEAP NEWSPAPER (The Morning Herald) has met with in this province, encourages the publisher in attempting another experiment, viz. to make this little annual a CHEAP ALMANAC. He has therefore made arrangements to effect this object by enlarging the size of the pages; and by this alteration he is enabled to give the Calendar in twelve pages, and to reduce the number of those which contain the various lists, without diminishing the usual variety of information. Consequently, the NOVA SCOTIA ALMANAC will be sold at the low price of 5d. per single copy, or 4s. per dozen.—The weather has been hitherto inserted in the Calendar pages, with but one exception, in all the preceding numbers; although disapproved of by many; but as by the greater number desire its continuance, and to evince a respect for the opinions of all, the publisher, by availing himself of the services of a Correspondent, has at length hit upon a plan by which this objection is removed from the Calendar, and those who desire its insertion, by referring to the Index, will be directed to a SEPARATE TABLE OF THE WEATHER for every day in the year.

Another opportunity is here presented for the publisher to thank his friends in various parts of the Province for their assistance, in furnishing the requisite information, and to request a continuance of their valuable services. The reputation which the Almanac has always sustained for utility and correctness, renders it unnecessary to offer any further recommendations than to state, that the same care as heretofore has been taken to make it worthy of the extensive patronage it receives. The general improvements in this Number will doubtless be observed without being particularised.
