

Four days later from Europe.

ARRIVAL OF THE CITY OF WASHINGTON

Meeting's Cough Lozenges

A SAFE AND CERTAIN REMEDY

Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness,

AND OTHER AFFECTIONS OF THE

THROAT AND CHEST.

N. B. - It is with much pleasure I have to inform of the benefit I received from your Lozenges attacked with the typhus fever, during which I had a violent cough, so that it kept me the greater part of the night. A friend persuaded me to try a box of your "COUGH LO-ZENGES" which I did and an happy to say that only one box of your valuable compound quite free from cough.

On can take what use of this you please, for it is a safe and certain remedy for all the above mentioned ailments, and is sold at all Chemists and Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

observe that the words "KEYSTONE'S COUGH

LOZENGES" are engraven on the Government

stamp of each box, without which none are

genuine.

Prepared and sold in Boxes and Tins of various

sizes, by THOMAS KEATING, Chemist, Secy,

of St. Paul's Church Yard, London. Sold

retail by all Druggists in the world.

N. B. - To prevent spurious imitations, please

(Continued from the first page.)

"And do believe she's despatched down that letter Sparks coming into her hands."

"Yes."

"But, according to the will of old Mr. Martin the property ain't to go out of her hands until she's dead."

"Just so. And now I'm coming to the point—it's there I'm going to stop Reuben Sparks."

"The widdler Martin herself ain't a bad looking woman?" Joe remarked, in a sort of a mysterious tone of voice, glancing up suddenly into his mother's face.

"No—but what's that got to do with the matter?" replied the old man impatiently.

"An' she ain't very old neither," continued he,

with the same air.

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, something startling, wasn't prepared for this. She

uttered an exclamation of unbounded surprise,

started upward, and her countenance grew

grave and stern as she looked at her son.

"Why ain't he more than forty?"

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his

mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, something startling, wasn't prepared for this. She

uttered an exclamation of unbounded surprise,

started upward, and her countenance grew

grave and stern as she looked at her son.

"Why ain't he more than forty?"

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his

mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, something startling, wasn't prepared for this. She

uttered an exclamation of unbounded surprise,

started upward, and her countenance grew

grave and stern as she looked at her son.

"Why ain't he more than forty?"

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his

mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, something startling, wasn't prepared for this. She

uttered an exclamation of unbounded surprise,

started upward, and her countenance grew

grave and stern as she looked at her son.

"Why ain't he more than forty?"

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his

mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, something startling, wasn't prepared for this. She

uttered an exclamation of unbounded surprise,

started upward, and her countenance grew

grave and stern as she looked at her son.

"Why ain't he more than forty?"

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his

mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, something startling, wasn't prepared for this. She

uttered an exclamation of unbounded surprise,

started upward, and her countenance grew

grave and stern as she looked at her son.

"Why ain't he more than forty?"

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his

mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, something startling, wasn't prepared for this. She

uttered an exclamation of unbounded surprise,

started upward, and her countenance grew

grave and stern as she looked at her son.

"Why ain't he more than forty?"

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his

mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, something startling, wasn't prepared for this. She

uttered an exclamation of unbounded surprise,

started upward, and her countenance grew

grave and stern as she looked at her son.

"Why ain't he more than forty?"

"So I think, and she has a good chance of living a long time."

"Well, and what of it?"

"Just this," said Joe, leaning over to reach his

mother's ear—"I'll marry the widdler."

Mrs. Chickweed, expecting, as she was, some-

The Chronicle.

London, July 20, 1858.

FROM OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT.

London, July, 1858.

The new month upon which we have entered administers Parliament that the session is drawing to an end, and that their labours must be speedily terminated. It is not, however, the beginning of the end. On Tuesday Mr. Secretary Walpole stated that he saw no chance of passing the Corporation Reform Bill. The City is of course in ecstasies at this triumph of their cause; but from some expressions which dropped from several speakers, it seems probable that the bill will in all probability be much less favourably received in the House of Commons than in Parliament. The most noticeable event in Parliament during the week was the grand progress of the India Bill, many clauses of which have been passed through the Committee; and the success of the bill in the House of Commons is now a matter of course. Next year the terms of the bill will in all probability be much less favour-

ably received in the House of Commons than in Parliament. The most noticeable event in Parliament during the week was the grand progress of

the India Bill, many clauses of which have been

passed through the Committee; and the success of the bill in the House of Commons is now a matter of course. Next year the terms of the

bill will in all probability be much less favour-

ably received in the House of Commons than in Parliament. The most noticeable event in Parliament during the week was the grand progress of

the India Bill, many clauses of which have been

passed through the Committee; and the success of the bill in the House of Commons is now a matter of course. Next year the terms of the

bill will in all probability be much less favour-

ably received in the House of Commons than in Parliament. The most noticeable event in Parliament during the week was the grand progress of

the India Bill, many clauses of which have been

passed through the Committee; and the success of the bill in the House of Commons is now a matter of course. Next year the terms of the

bill will in all probability be much less favour-

ably received in the House of Commons than in Parliament. The most noticeable event in Parliament during the week was the grand progress of

the India Bill, many clauses of which have been

passed through the Committee; and the success of the bill in the House of Commons is now a matter of course. Next year the terms of the

bill will in all probability be much less favour-

ably received in the House of Commons than in Parliament. The most noticeable event in Parliament during the week was the grand progress of

the India Bill, many clauses of which have been

passed through the Committee; and the success of the bill in the House of Commons is now a matter of course. Next year the terms of the bill will in all probability be much less favour-