Last chance to see popular Company—Country Store again tonight.

Six beautiful Easter Lily plants, in pots, will be given away to purchasers of seats on the orchestra floor. The last children's amateur concert of the season will be staged immediately after the regular play.

Tonight the company closes its engagement here with a production of the great success, "Thorns and Orange Blossoms." There will be a big "country store," also, with a double number of groceries and household articles to be given away. A farewell reception is to be given to the company, with speeches by the several members. The company has been here for eleven weeks and the engagement has been very successful.

REGORD AUDIENCES OUTLOOK FOR "OUR JIM"

The advance sale of seats for the performances of the rural comedy drama, "Our Jim," to be given at the Opera House, Monday and Tuesday, with special Easter Monday matinee, has created record breaking houses at all performances. The presentation is under the auspices of the Loyal Order of Moose and the "Moosers" and their energetic "Booster Club," are working hard to make this the banner theatrical event of the year.

The entire net proceeds of the Tuesday night performance will be given to Royal Standard Chapter, I. O. O. F. for patriotic work in caring for wounded Canadian soldiers and sailors at the battle front. Royal Standard Chapter is to attend the performance in a body under the leadership of Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, regent. There are still plenty of good seats left for all performances.

PONS vs. PROKOS.

The match between Jim Prokos and Emil Pons has been definitely settled on, and the two men will meet in the Opera House on Saturday night, April 10th, at 10 o'clock. The local fans have seen Prokos in action and know he is a clever mat artist.

Emil Pons has been in wrestling game about 16 years—the early part of his career in the ring being spent in Europe. He is of Italian parentage. Weight 185 lbs.

His first match in America was in Chicago about six years ago when he defeated Fred Hill, getting two successive falls in 28 minutes. Has wrestled with Frank Gotch and stayed thirty minutes without a fall. Has defeated Shuteclink in the South; defeated William Dempsey in the Terrible Greek; also has done quite a lot of wrestling around Montreal. Defeated Leo Pandolfo, an Italian of some reputation.

MACK'S MUSICAL REVUE COMING TO OPERA HOUSE

Popular Company which made hit last summer returning for Spring engagement—Miss Akerstrom, Nat Farnum and old favorites in latest musical hits.

NAT (O. B. X. O'BRIEN) FARNUM

Popular comedian with Mack's Musical Revue which returns to Opera House, April 12.

Mack's Musical Revue, the attraction that was so popular at the Opera House last summer for ten weeks, is coming back to St. John and will open on Monday night, April 12th, for an indefinite stay. Two complete programs will be offered weekly, a change being made on Monday and Thursday. Matinee will be given Wednesday and Saturday only.

Miss Ullie Akerstrom is with the company again as director and will also be seen in prominent roles in some of the clever one act plays which she writes especially for this company. Everybody remembers "O'Brien," Nat Farnum is his real name, he is with the company and has a new repertoire of funny stunts and songs to offer.

Others with the attraction are Pearl Evans, prima donna soprano; Rose Reading, Anna May Miller, Anne Sands, a chic singer of typical songs; Lydia Alexander, Besse Hanson, Bob Whinstanley, a Cohanese comedian, singer and dancer; Bud Shepard, Howard Smith, Sid. Gray and others. Clarence A. Love is the musical director. A complete two hour show with no waits or intermission, clean, refined, with no surprise following another in quick succession, everything right up to the minute, is what the company is going to offer and it seems as though this policy should prove to be popular with St. John amusement lovers.

PREVENTION OF TUBERCULOSIS

The Work of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The fourteenth annual report of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, which might be termed 300 pages of strong evidence of magnificent work nobly done in the elimination and the prevention of this scourge has been received. Twelve years ago there was but one consumption sanatorium in the whole of Canada, now there are thirty. These institutions have been made possible by the donations of private citizens and the untiring efforts of the Association. When it was formed there was no legislation of any kind in regard to tuberculosis; today the statute books of every Dominion and of all the Provinces are useful laws that have been the means, not only of preventing the disease from spreading but also of stamping out many of the causes through which it reaches the human being. The effectiveness of these precautions is well exemplified in the report from Ontario which shows that ten years ago there were 148 deaths to each 100,000 of population. Last year (1914) this was reduced to 90 per 100,000 of population; and this proportion is fairly illustrative of the whole of Canada, though there are one or two bad exceptions.

But in the report there is one phase of this great war against tuberculosis which does not make good reading and that is in the showing of the comparative apathy of the municipalities, particularly the larger cities and towns. It is true that in the laying out of parks and open spaces the municipal councils are doing much towards the prevention of the disease, but as the chief danger is to the poorer classes, whose environments are not always conducive to health, the community has a direct responsibility in supplying, out of the public funds, the means that will stamp out consumption in every district. Means that as already mentioned, are at present supplied by private charity.

This disease of the masses, as the great white plague has been aptly termed—is just as much a care on the State as any other infectious disease, or just as much as insanity, and when we have it on the authority of Sir William Osler that 90 per cent of our race had tuberculosis in some form, the responsibility of civic authorities in guarding at every point against its insidious growth is increased proportionately.

Realizing that milk from infected cows was one of the principal agents in spreading consumption amongst human beings the Association urged the Federal authorities to pass regulations preventing, as far as possible, the sale of infected milk, with the consequence that last May an Order-in-Council was passed to put into practice its recommendations. The association's report on the subject in part reads:—

The Federal Government is taking steps to prevent the spread of tuberculosis through milk from infected cows. An Order-in-Council has been passed authorizing regulations providing for the co-operation of the Federal authorities and cities and towns all over Canada, for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis from herds supplying milk to such municipalities. It is specified that the city or town must provide for licensing all milk vendors for clean and sanitary dairies, for the prohibition of the milk sales within two years of the test of the cattle of any dairy unless a clean bill of health is shown, and for the appointment of a municipal inspector. On fulfillment of these conditions and on application being made by the municipal body to the veterinary director general, Federal inspectors will be sent to make tuberculosis tests. Any diseased cattle may be slaughtered and compensation to the owners is to be allowed at the rate of one-half the appraised value of the cow in a case of value if destroyed as a reactor at the request of the owner. No compensation is to be made to the owner, unless, in the opinion of the Minister of Agriculture, he assists as far as possible in carrying out the instructions of the inspector as to disinfection and other necessary precautions.

If the association had done nothing else than in bringing about these preventative regulations, says the Canadian Municipal Journal, it would deserve the gratitude of every citizen of Canada and no municipality, whether urban or rural, dare let the opportunity pass of thus eradicating the chief cause of that awful disease that at present lies lurking in every community.
