States in its whole history never experienced a more severe depression than that which existed during the period between 1873 and 1878. The same is true with respect to Great Britain and the nations of Europe generally.

plunder, for plunder, and probably had been so for a very great period of time; and I am sorry to say the evidence, the overwhelming evidence, which was produced on this occasion rendered it impossible for the most patriotic Canadian no matter how he might feel the insult to his country—to say nothing of his defence, except that he believed in the facts were made known the people of Canada would purge the government of the men who had so betrayed it and decided its fair name for ever.

A Test of Loyalty. One of my friends here was good enough to allude to the fact that I had a deep personal interest in the contest which has recently been waged.

Desire of the Government. Now, I have agreed to say to you with respect to the prosperity of Canada at the present time. The desire of the government is to render equal justice to all classes of persons, and to all portions of Canada; we desire that every united Canadian should not only have that there should be no distinction in Canada between the Englishman and the Frenchman, between the man who speaks another language, or between the man who professes another religion, but that every man in Canada should be treated as a Canadian, and working together, should be a brother in the fields of the country.

The same spirit which actuated him then actuated him in dealing with the question of the contingent. It was no part of his duty to rush uncalled for into the fray. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had been blamed for lack of energy, but he had been held to consider carefully and well what was the proper thing for Canada to do at that particular moment, and so far from being blamed for taking time to act with due consideration, he never showed himself better qualified for the office of leader than when, after mature consideration, he did decide to cast in our lot with the mother country.

Attempts to Stir Up Strife. What, on the other hand, has been the policy adopted by our opponents under these circumstances? Sir, in 1899 we found Sir Charles Tupper doing his level best to stir up strife between the two great divisions into which our country is divided. Sir Charles Tupper was the strongest possible racial appeals in the province of Quebec against Sir Wilfrid Laurier, because the latter chose to stand up for the rights of the province of Manitoba to administer its own affairs as it thought best.

Hon. H. R. Emerson Resigns from the Post. Fredericton, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Hon. H. R. Emerson, premier of New Brunswick, has resigned from the office of premier of the province of New Brunswick. "Good-bye, I feel it my duty upon leaving to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor my resignation as premier and attorney-general of the province, a position of high appreciation of the confidence which you have reposed in me during my tenure of office, as evidenced by the ed to the government which I had the honor to lead, when appealed to at the polls. I trust you will believe me when I assure you that in relinquishing my position as premier and attorney-general, I have not been wilyly actuated by personal considerations, but whatever my future I shall always cherish a grateful remembrance of your generous confidence and support, and will ever take a deep interest in the prosperity of my native province, in whose great future I have every abiding faith.

And, therefore, as I say, their determination to fight and die is great; and I will say this for Sir Charles Tupper, that the stock from which he springs is, as has been shown by his kinsman, Paul Kruger—laughter and cheer—some of the best stock in the world, a great deal of common with our own, that they do not know when they are beaten and are willing to go on and on. (Renewed laughter.) That spirit I give to my countrymen, I have no doubt that he will make the right of his life, that he will do everything that tall talk and great personal exertion can do to secure victory. I have no fear, I am not afraid in the slightest degree of the result of the issue. (Cheers.) But I would be sorry if our friends are not satisfied with the result. It is going to be an easy contest. I have no doubt that, in Ontario, and particularly in the West, we will be called upon to fight as we have never fought before. Here in 1884 and 1885, and in 1890, and in 1894 and 1895, and in 1898 and 1899, I found that the Liberal party have a clear majority of 4,000 or 5,000 votes. They could afford to give Mr. Tupper a clear majority of 500 each and still have a clear 3,500 to spare for carrying through the rest of the province. I thought it was only a fair distribution. There is another matter to which I will allude. I have no friends here, but I am calling my attention to certain grievances which they have. All I can say is that I am a minister of the crown, and my duty is to represent, and as such I shall take pains to bring before my honorable friends, and I am sure that they will give me my share of support. I have no doubt that they will do so, and I have no doubt that they will do so, and I have no doubt that they will do so.

Devoted to the Party. You have, as I say, done very considerable service not merely to me but to the party to which we all belong by your selection as your candidate. I am sure that you will do so, and I have no doubt that they will do so, and I have no doubt that they will do so.

Message from the Ill-fated but Daring Explorer. Stockholm, Aug. 31.—Captain Grennell telegraphs the following message here from Sjerovet, Norway: "Audrey's buoy No. 4 has been found here. It contains the following message: 'July 11, 10 p. m., Greenwich. Our voyage gone well so far. Are now at an altitude of 290 metres. Original direction, north 10 degrees east; compass bearing, later north 45 degrees east; compass unadjusted. Four carrier pigeons dispatched. They are flying west. We are now over ice which is very rugged. Weather splendid the whole time. In excellent spirits.' (Signed) 'ANDRÉE.' 'Struberg (Strinberg)' 'Framel.' 'Above the clouds; fine; 745 Greenwich mean time.'

Sentenced at Amherst for Assault and Robbery. Amherst, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Under the recent trials at Amherst, James Walsh was sentenced to a term of years for assaulting and robbing James T. Crawford and assaulting Mrs. Gilroy, both of which offences he was sentenced to a term of seven years for the Crawford offence and three for the Gilroy offence. His honor lightened the sentence owing to the previous good character of Walsh, and he also took into consideration the fact of his confession, by which his guilt in the Crawford case was discovered. Walsh received his sentence of imprisonment with commutation, remarking that he would be better off.

Killed in a Mine. Sydney, Aug. 31.—(Special)—William Marshall, a miner, was killed at Dominion No. 1 this morning. Marshall and two others who were working in the pit, stepped in the car to come to the surface. Marshall, in attempting to step off just as the engine started, was thrown face forward against the side of the pit and instantly killed. He leaves a wife and six children.

A $30,000 Fire. Montreal, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Brilliant & Amund's cash and door factory, with a quantity of lumber owned by Alex. McLaren, of Buckingham, was burned today. Six houses were also badly damaged. The loss is $30,000. The buildings were fairly insured.

Premier of Quebec Ill. Quebec, Aug. 31.—(Special)—L'Evenement states that since he returned to Quebec Premier Marchand has had a relapse and that his condition is now most critical. John H. Reed. The death occurred at Great St-Augustine, N. B., on August 23, of Mr. John H. Reed, a prominent resident of that place, having resided there all his life. He leaves a wife who was Miss Jennie Richey, daughter of the late John S. Richey, of this city, and three children. According to Mat I the sea of matrimony swamps many a courtship.

Huggins, fourth; Langstroth, fifth; Major Robbie, St. John, fifth; Major Flowers, sixth.

A Warning Note. I have another thing to say, and it shall be the last one. I do not want any of you to go away—even from this country in which you have been truly said that nomination is practically equivalent to election—with the idea that the contest in which we are about to engage is going to be one of a trifling nature.
