

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TELEGRAPH, ST. JOHN, N. B., MAY 14, 1902.

LOCAL AND PROVINCIAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm M. White, of Elm street, have been presented with a handsome extension table by friends.

The body of Eliza Steves, of Boundary Creek, who died at the private hospital, was taken home for burial on Saturday.

Miss A. Steves, of Elm street, has growing in her garden a dahlia which has already attained a height of 56 inches and is in bud.

Ethel Knight Mollison has been selected by Richard Mansfield to be leading woman in his company, succeeding Letitia Fairfax, who returns to England.

John H. Case, Waterloo street, grocer, has suspended payment. His liabilities are said to be near $5,000. The creditors will be called to meet on May 15.

The monthly meeting of the N. B. Poultry, Kennel and Pet Stock Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

At Chubb's Corner on Saturday afternoon F. L. Potts sold three shares of Bank of New Brunswick stock at $24 per share.

It is rumored that when the new railway station improvements at MacAdam Junction are completed, the name may be changed to Van Horne Junction.

John Fox, Jr., will resume the meat business on St. John street, West End, recently carried on by his father, who died last week.

What will probably be the last private meeting of the board of school trustees was held last Monday as it was decided there that in future public representatives will be admitted to the sessions.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Smith, daughter of W. Smith, and Robert Leveson, both of Fairville, took place on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. A. R. Dymally officiated.

There is but little to chronicle about the Oulton case, save that the investigation of the house is finished, the police will patrol the vicinity and efforts are being made to produce some adequate explanation of what is a deep mystery.

Quite a large force of men are employed in digging and on the beach at Mira Bay. The sand is being used by the Cape Breton Electric Company, the steel and coal companies, and at the Marconi station, Table Bay—Sydney Post.

The congregation of Carleton Baptist church are preparing for the 125th anniversary of their church the latter part of this week. During the last year or two the church has been greatly improved by steel ceiling and the addition of a bell tower.

Thirteen burial permits were issued last week as follows: Premature birth, 2; pneumonia, consumption, convulsions, heart disease, cerebral hemorrhage, cerebral meningitis, acute meningitis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, pneumonia, hemorrhage of lungs, inflammation of chest, one each.

Saturday afternoon about 1400 o'clock Wm. Rogers, a sailor on board the Norwegian bark Harold, lying at MacKays' wharf, fell from the rigging, coming to the water in the hold, a distance of about 30 feet. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and sent to the hospital in the ambulance. He is badly injured, having received a fracture of the skull and at an early hour this morning was still unconscious.

A horse which was born and bred in the stables of Queen Victoria, passed through the city Friday night to the Nova Scotia government, and was brought from England by a rich Cape Bretoner. He is nine years old, a blood bay with black points, and weighs 1,400 pounds. He will be shown at the St. John exhibition this autumn.

A handsomely designed memorial window of opalescent glass, unveiled in St. Stephen's church Sunday. The window was donated by Mrs. M. B. Edwards and dedicated to the memory of her mother, Mrs. Christina Gillespie. The window portrays Eunice, the mother of Timothy, and was made by Montague Cassels, of Montreal. The services in connection with the unveiling were conducted by Rev. D. J. Fraser, who preached an appropriate sermon, dealing with the life of Eunice, the subject of the art window.

Lieutenant Colonel Donville is the proud possessor of the long service decoration, which reached the colonel Monday. The decoration is given, as its name implies, for long service in the Canadian militia and is a silver medal of handsome design surrounded with a golden border. The oval front engraved in bold relief are the words "Colonial Auxiliary Forces," and on the obverse side the name, rank and regiment of the recipient. Colonel Donville's long connection with that crack cavalry corps, the 8th Hussars, fairly entitles him to the honor.

Percy Thomson, of the firm of William Thomson & Company, steamship agents of St. John, will arrive here Saturday night and will remain over Monday. He desires to meet the shippers of this city and all interested in direct steamship service to Great Britain. A meeting of the council of the board of trade together with Charlottetown shippers is called for Monday at 11 o'clock a.m. Our readers are aware that Messrs. Thomson & Company are St. John agents for the cold storage steamer Manchester Trader to ply for the season between this port and Great Britain—Charlottetown Patriot.

Fire Monday afternoon destroyed the two tenement house at Milford owned by William Hanson, sr., and occupied by John Hamilton, jr., and a family named Hennessey. One of the tenants saw smoke coming from the roof and gave the alarm. The fire quickly spread and destroyed the building, but the tenants were able to save most of their belongings. The neighbor, the chief of the Fairville fire brigade and teams from Cushing's mill joined in the work of saving another house owned by Mr. Hanson and standing some 25 feet from the burning building. Water was carried to the scene and a bucket crew organized and the second house was saved. Mr. Hanson had no insurance, and the origin of the fire is not known. John

THROUGH THE FALLS.

Carleton Boy Has Unique if Unpleasant Experience, Sunday.

INTO THE WHIRLPOOLS.

Fred Dodge Was Standing on Rock, Part of Which Crumbled Beneath Him, Plunging Him Into the River—He Tells of What It Was Like and of His Rescue.

To Frederick Dodge, Jr., of Carleton, belonging the distinction of robbing the falls of its sinister reputation in permitting none to pass through its chutes and live. The lad lives at his parents' home on St. James street, Carleton. He is 15 years of age, and is employed in the printing office of George E. Day. Luckily he is an expert swimmer—in fact he belongs to a family of swimmers—his father, Frederick Dodge, having, at the time of the Fred Young drowning fatality, rendered gallant, but ineffectual effort to save. When seen by a reporter Sunday night, young Dodge was sitting on a rock, which he had just jumped down near the falls, and was holding an iron pipe, which he had just used to break up the ice in the river.

At the meeting last Friday of local Chamber of Commerce, it was decided to hold the annual 125th of July celebration at Fredericton, providing suitable transportation rates can be secured.

Rev. H. F. Adams, who is in charge of the Maritime Baptist Twentieth Century Fund, is meeting with a generous response. Only about a third of the Baptist people have been approached.

The reports to the registrar of vital statistics for last week were 7 marriages and 15 births—11 girls.

After June 1 the post office name of Pasmeco will be changed to Lorneville, and Pasmeco West to Seaview.

At the meeting last Friday of local Chamber of Commerce, it was decided to hold the annual 125th of July celebration at Fredericton, providing suitable transportation rates can be secured.

Rev. H. F. Adams, who is in charge of the Maritime Baptist Twentieth Century Fund, is meeting with a generous response. Only about a third of the Baptist people have been approached.

Manager Hubbard, of the Exhibition Association, received yesterday a number of inquiries for space from prospective exhibitors. So far the number of inquiries and applications is far in excess of any previous year.

There is a movement on foot among a number of merchants to arrange for a mass meeting to discuss the matter of increased trade facilities for winter port business in this city.

Sergeant Gibson and Private Swanson, of the R. C. R., Halifax, came to the city yesterday to convey a deserter, Willie Verge, back to Halifax. He gave as a reason for deserting that he was anxious to get to South Africa and wanted to join a regiment that was on active service.

The new Carnegie library building is to be placed on Chipman's hill. That was the decision reached Monday afternoon after the city council had spent two hours in discussing it. There was considerable opposition, but those who favored the Chipman's hill site were in the majority and it was accordingly selected.

For the past few days a strange man has been haunting the vicinity of the Jewett residence, Lansdowne, and from his actions the wife and children of Lansdowne have been placed in great alarm. The man is dressed in a dark suit, and is always in the vicinity of the Jewett residence. He is always in the vicinity of the Jewett residence. He is always in the vicinity of the Jewett residence.

The body of Joseph Browne, the young Englishman who had his foot torn off at the ankle at Raymouth Bros' mill last night, is now in the city. It was found on Thursday, was taken through the city on Saturday for interment at Penobscot.

The young man died on Thursday night from the injuries which he received. He had been working in the mill for only about two weeks when the accident happened. The young man had a brother in the employ of Samuel McKinnon, Penobscot, and the burial will take place in the Baptist cemetery of that village.

The monthly meeting of the N. B. Poultry, Kennel and Pet Stock Association was held last Monday and was well attended. Matters relating to the poultry department at the coming exhibition were discussed and in accordance with a request from the Exhibition Association, a committee was appointed to inspect the poultry building with a view to suggesting the best methods of coping, etc. It is the intention of the association to assist the Exhibition Association in every possible manner, and no doubt, the poultry show next fall will be the best ever seen here.

At the Douglas avenue Memorial Park, last week, a number of trees were planted in memory of deceased letter carriers. One in commemoration of a long service in the Canadian militia and is a silver medal of handsome design surrounded with a golden border. The oval front engraved in bold relief are the words "Colonial Auxiliary Forces," and on the obverse side the name, rank and regiment of the recipient. Colonel Donville's long connection with that crack cavalry corps, the 8th Hussars, fairly entitles him to the honor.

Percy Thomson, of the firm of William Thomson & Company, steamship agents of St. John, will arrive here Saturday night and will remain over Monday. He desires to meet the shippers of this city and all interested in direct steamship service to Great Britain. A meeting of the council of the board of trade together with Charlottetown shippers is called for Monday at 11 o'clock a.m. Our readers are aware that Messrs. Thomson & Company are St. John agents for the cold storage steamer Manchester Trader to ply for the season between this port and Great Britain—Charlottetown Patriot.

Fire Monday afternoon destroyed the two tenement house at Milford owned by William Hanson, sr., and occupied by John Hamilton, jr., and a family named Hennessey. One of the tenants saw smoke coming from the roof and gave the alarm. The fire quickly spread and destroyed the building, but the tenants were able to save most of their belongings. The neighbor, the chief of the Fairville fire brigade and teams from Cushing's mill joined in the work of saving another house owned by Mr. Hanson and standing some 25 feet from the burning building. Water was carried to the scene and a bucket crew organized and the second house was saved. Mr. Hanson had no insurance, and the origin of the fire is not known. John

Hamilton, Jr., one of the tenants, moved in only a few days ago.

Thomas Gilliland will leave early this week to repair the Musquash drawbridge.

Dr. J. W. Daniel has retired from the directorate of the Home for Incurables.

Rev. H. D. Cormier has been appointed chaplain of the Father Matthew Association.

The Maritime Baptist Convention will meet this year in Yarmouth, commencing August 23.

The reports to the registrar of vital statistics for last week were 7 marriages and 15 births—11 girls.

After June 1 the post office name of Pasmeco will be changed to Lorneville, and Pasmeco West to Seaview.

At the meeting last Friday of local Chamber of Commerce, it was decided to hold the annual 125th of July celebration at Fredericton, providing suitable transportation rates can be secured.

Rev. H. F. Adams, who is in charge of the Maritime Baptist Twentieth Century Fund, is meeting with a generous response. Only about a third of the Baptist people have been approached.

The monthly meeting of the N. B. Poultry, Kennel and Pet Stock Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

At Chubb's Corner on Saturday afternoon F. L. Potts sold three shares of Bank of New Brunswick stock at $24 per share.

It is rumored that when the new railway station improvements at MacAdam Junction are completed, the name may be changed to Van Horne Junction.

John Fox, Jr., will resume the meat business on St. John street, West End, recently carried on by his father, who died last week.

What will probably be the last private meeting of the board of school trustees was held last Monday as it was decided there that in future public representatives will be admitted to the sessions.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Smith, daughter of W. Smith, and Robert Leveson, both of Fairville, took place on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. A. R. Dymally officiated.

There is but little to chronicle about the Oulton case, save that the investigation of the house is finished, the police will patrol the vicinity and efforts are being made to produce some adequate explanation of what is a deep mystery.

Quite a large force of men are employed in digging and on the beach at Mira Bay. The sand is being used by the Cape Breton Electric Company, the steel and coal companies, and at the Marconi station, Table Bay—Sydney Post.

The congregation of Carleton Baptist church are preparing for the 125th anniversary of their church the latter part of this week. During the last year or two the church has been greatly improved by steel ceiling and the addition of a bell tower.

Thirteen burial permits were issued last week as follows: Premature birth, 2; pneumonia, consumption, convulsions, heart disease, cerebral hemorrhage, cerebral meningitis, acute meningitis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, pneumonia, hemorrhage of lungs, inflammation of chest, one each.

Saturday afternoon about 1400 o'clock Wm. Rogers, a sailor on board the Norwegian bark Harold, lying at MacKays' wharf, fell from the rigging, coming to the water in the hold, a distance of about 30 feet. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and sent to the hospital in the ambulance. He is badly injured, having received a fracture of the skull and at an early hour this morning was still unconscious.

A horse which was born and bred in the stables of Queen Victoria, passed through the city Friday night to the Nova Scotia government, and was brought from England by a rich Cape Bretoner. He is nine years old, a blood bay with black points, and weighs 1,400 pounds. He will be shown at the St. John exhibition this autumn.

A handsomely designed memorial window of opalescent glass, unveiled in St. Stephen's church Sunday. The window was donated by Mrs. M. B. Edwards and dedicated to the memory of her mother, Mrs. Christina Gillespie. The window portrays Eunice, the mother of Timothy, and was made by Montague Cassels, of Montreal. The services in connection with the unveiling were conducted by Rev. D. J. Fraser, who preached an appropriate sermon, dealing with the life of Eunice, the subject of the art window.

Lieutenant Colonel Donville is the proud possessor of the long service decoration, which reached the colonel Monday. The decoration is given, as its name implies, for long service in the Canadian militia and is a silver medal of handsome design surrounded with a golden border. The oval front engraved in bold relief are the words "Colonial Auxiliary Forces," and on the obverse side the name, rank and regiment of the recipient. Colonel Donville's long connection with that crack cavalry corps, the 8th Hussars, fairly entitles him to the honor.

Percy Thomson, of the firm of William Thomson & Company, steamship agents of St. John, will arrive here Saturday night and will remain over Monday. He desires to meet the shippers of this city and all interested in direct steamship service to Great Britain. A meeting of the council of the board of trade together with Charlottetown shippers is called for Monday at 11 o'clock a.m. Our readers are aware that Messrs. Thomson & Company are St. John agents for the cold storage steamer Manchester Trader to ply for the season between this port and Great Britain—Charlottetown Patriot.

Fire Monday afternoon destroyed the two tenement house at Milford owned by William Hanson, sr., and occupied by John Hamilton, jr., and a family named Hennessey. One of the tenants saw smoke coming from the roof and gave the alarm. The fire quickly spread and destroyed the building, but the tenants were able to save most of their belongings. The neighbor, the chief of the Fairville fire brigade and teams from Cushing's mill joined in the work of saving another house owned by Mr. Hanson and standing some 25 feet from the burning building. Water was carried to the scene and a bucket crew organized and the second house was saved. Mr. Hanson had no insurance, and the origin of the fire is not known. John

Hamilton, Jr., one of the tenants, moved in only a few days ago.

Thomas Gilliland will leave early this week to repair the Musquash drawbridge.

Dr. J. W. Daniel has retired from the directorate of the Home for Incurables.

Rev. H. D. Cormier has been appointed chaplain of the Father Matthew Association.

The Maritime Baptist Convention will meet this year in Yarmouth, commencing August 23.

The reports to the registrar of vital statistics for last week were 7 marriages and 15 births—11 girls.

After June 1 the post office name of Pasmeco will be changed to Lorneville, and Pasmeco West to Seaview.

At the meeting last Friday of local Chamber of Commerce, it was decided to hold the annual 125th of July celebration at Fredericton, providing suitable transportation rates can be secured.

Rev. H. F. Adams, who is in charge of the Maritime Baptist Twentieth Century Fund, is meeting with a generous response. Only about a third of the Baptist people have been approached.

The monthly meeting of the N. B. Poultry, Kennel and Pet Stock Association will be held this evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

At Chubb's Corner on Saturday afternoon F. L. Potts sold three shares of Bank of New Brunswick stock at $24 per share.

It is rumored that when the new railway station improvements at MacAdam Junction are completed, the name may be changed to Van Horne Junction.

John Fox, Jr., will resume the meat business on St. John street, West End, recently carried on by his father, who died last week.

What will probably be the last private meeting of the board of school trustees was held last Monday as it was decided there that in future public representatives will be admitted to the sessions.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Smith, daughter of W. Smith, and Robert Leveson, both of Fairville, took place on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. A. R. Dymally officiated.

There is but little to chronicle about the Oulton case, save that the investigation of the house is finished, the police will patrol the vicinity and efforts are being made to produce some adequate explanation of what is a deep mystery.

Quite a large force of men are employed in digging and on the beach at Mira Bay. The sand is being used by the Cape Breton Electric Company, the steel and coal companies, and at the Marconi station, Table Bay—Sydney Post.

The congregation of Carleton Baptist church are preparing for the 125th anniversary of their church the latter part of this week. During the last year or two the church has been greatly improved by steel ceiling and the addition of a bell tower.

Thirteen burial permits were issued last week as follows: Premature birth, 2; pneumonia, consumption, convulsions, heart disease, cerebral hemorrhage, cerebral meningitis, acute meningitis, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, pneumonia, hemorrhage of lungs, inflammation of chest, one each.

Saturday afternoon about 1400 o'clock Wm. Rogers, a sailor on board the Norwegian bark Harold, lying at MacKays' wharf, fell from the rigging, coming to the water in the hold, a distance of about 30 feet. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and sent to the hospital in the ambulance. He is badly injured, having received a fracture of the skull and at an early hour this morning was still unconscious.

CUPID ON THE WATERS.

TWO CANADIAN TEACHERS FIND HUSBANDS ON BOARD SHIP.

Before the Lake Ontario Reached the Other Side, Two Western Girls Had Given Their Promises, and Engagements Were Announced.

From across the Atlantic comes the tidings that two of the fairest of the Canadian school teachers who sailed from St. John on the Lake Ontario steamer already made variable conquests, if not in the realms of sciences and ologies, in that less prosaic and more attractive field over which Cupid rules.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

DEAD, AGED 111 YEARS.

James Ross, St. Martins' Centenarian, Passed Away Saturday.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Born in 1790 in Scotland and Was a Resident of Nova Scotia When the Battle of Waterloo was Fought—Funeral was Held Sunday and Was Very Largely Attended.

James Ross, of St. Martins, probably the oldest man in Canada, died suddenly early on Saturday morning at the residence of his son. Mr. Ross retired as usual on Friday evening and Saturday morning he was found dead in his bed. The deceased was born at Port Macdonald, parish of Farber, Ross-shire, Scotland, on the 18th of June, 1790, and was therefore 111 years 10 months and 23 days old. He came to this country in 1812 in a vessel called the "Immortal 40." They are residents respectively of Winnipeg and Portage la Prairie. The night before the Lake Ontario sailed from Sand Point the teachers and their friends were entertained at dinner by Manager Campbell, of the Beaver line. At this dinner the teachers and their friends formed the acquaintance of two young men who were to be fellow-passengers. One of them was a resident of Cape Breton and the other was a man well-known in the Canadian financial and industrial world, the other was a wealthy Englishman returning to his home in Bristol after a business trip to Canada. The acquaintance thus formed proved the stepping stone to a closer intimacy and before the Lake Ontario sailed both the teachers and their friends were quite willing to admit the charms which lurked in the eyes of the two pretty school teachers from the Pacific coast.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband.

The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had reached the other side of the Atlantic had each found a husband. The two teachers, who are both young ladies, were on board the steamer, and before the ship had