

Stars at 113 Remembers Waterloo

Charlotte County, is Per New Brunswick - Still Reason of Sight and Hearing of 82 to Build Bear Called on Him.

and party when they arrived at his house to get a picture of the oldest man in Charlotte county, if not in New Brunswick. The boys were James McKeivey, 118 years of age and his stepson, Patrick Kehoe, aged 82. They live at Red Rock about two miles from St. George.

The old gentleman is hale and hearty, a wee bit used up with rheumatism but able to see and know his friends approaching the house, a half a mile away.

Mr. McKeivey was born in county Down, Ireland 1801, remembers the well return of the soldiers from Waterloo and speaks of his arrival in St. John, 88 years ago, a man young. He spent several years on Indian Island and Grand Manan, then came to Second Falls working for years in the mills owned by the Gillmor family.

That his faculties are above the ordinary for an aged person has been realized, when it is known that he called one of the party, he had not seen for twenty years, by name telling several anecdotes of his younger days with evident enjoyment.

The old gentleman enjoy visits from passing strangers and few pass the house without a word of greeting for Jimmie and Pat. For St. John people on pleasure bent in the woods with a rifle or along the well stocked streams throughout with rod and line the house is also a popular stopping place and the centenarian has become very well known.

HOUSEKEEPING A D. GRAUHL

CHICKEN? In all lines of housekeeping but it hardly repairing poultry for the table. One so steadily it has become necessary for a chicken so it will last more than a year from one dollar to one dollar and out being drawn so that after the head is dressed it will scarcely tip the scales to a few ounces.

Have thick legs, one-quarter of a pound of meat and garnish with the regular recipe at the thick end of the drum stick and downward. Fill the cavity with a mixture of suet, crumbed, seasoned with salt and mushrooms. Make the legs look as if sewed up the ends. Divide the bacon lattice these across stuffed legs and lay in diced carrots and celery around the boiling water or veal stock. If you use a roasting pan, add a little of the vegetable over for an hour and when brown dust a little flour over it to keep the four brown it will be necessary.

HEAD OF VALLEY ROAD SERVED WITH SUBPOENA AT DEBOC JUNCTION-PROMISES TO ATTEND BEFORE ROYAL COMMISSION.

Woodstock, N.B., July 5-A. R. Gould, who did not accept the "invitation" given him to appear before the royal commission, was served with a subpoena at Debo Junction yesterday. Mr. Gould was on his way to Moncton, having come through by the Montreal express, when an officer from Woodstock met him at Debo Junction and served him with the legal document that calls for his appearance before the commission July 15. He was evidently much surprised but took the train from Sussex, where they expect he would be on hand. After the formalities were completed, Mr. Gould boarded the train for Houston.

Mr. Gould's attorney, Mr. J. H. Plummer, said the government will not wait any more to bring witnesses here, special efforts are being made by Mr. Carvell to get them and the first move resulted in serving Mr. Gould.

Mr. Landon, who resides in Scotch Ridge, about eight miles from town, celebrated his one hundredth birthday yesterday. A large number of his friends gathered at his home to congratulate him. Among those present were T. A. Hart, M. P. G. W. Ganong, W. R. Grimmer, M. P. F. and Rev. W. P. Peppert, pastor of the Methodist church of the parish of St. James. He was also the recipient, through G. W. Ganong, of a congratulatory telegram from the Duke of Connaught.

GAGETOWN GRAMMAR SCHOOL CLOSING

Gagetown, July 2-An unusually large audience attended the closing exercises of Gagetown Grammar School, which were held at the school on Tuesday evening. The school room was decorated with a profusion of beautiful flowers, and the black-boards with stenciled borders done by the pupils, examples of the seal of science note books were displayed; also various pieces of apparatus illustrating advanced study of physics.

The pupils were examined in the various subjects of the school course, during the afternoon, and this work was interrupted by the singing of hymns by the pupils. The titles of these and the names of those who read essays or recited followed:

The Childhood of William Cowper, Jessie McGowan, Lawfield. Recitation-The Donation Party, Eva Hector.

No. 1-Edna Boyd in the Age of Queen Anne, Edna Boyd. Recitation-Winding Up the Clock, Beatrice Wiggins.

Story of "As You Like It," Harry Crawford, Upper Hamstead. The presentation of prizes then took place, the winners receiving their prizes from the hands of the trustees, and Rev. William Smith. The prizes and winners are: 88 each to the pupils making the highest marks throughout the year, the work of grades X, IX, VIII, and VII, won by Harry Crawford, Audrey Gaunce, Roger Scovill and Elma Hector, respectively.

For best attendance, Zedekiah Williams received last prize, and Eleanor Palmer, 2nd. Neither being absent one day. The handwriting prizes for Grades VIII and IX were won by Laura Moore and Elma Hector. Many friends showed their interest in the school by the donation of the above prizes. H. H. Wood, M. P. E. gave $500 in cash, about $50 of which had been received through the sale of postage office orders. The circumstances of the case show it to be one of the most daring breaks for some time and the work of experienced hands was in evidence. Only about a month ago the same store was entered and robbed of about $35.

Gold-stick hatpins are among the novelties.

P. E. BAPTISTS SCORE CONDITIONS

Charlottetown, P. E. I., July 5-The annual meeting of the Island Baptist Association closed tonight with a sermon preached by Rev. T. Cutten, president of Acadia University.

One of the most interesting reports submitted on Friday was that on temperance and moral reform. It stated that profanity open and brazen seems to hold sway largely in public life. The churches were strongly urged to lose no opportunity to show their disapproval of the abominable practice. If the profane cannot be reformed their society should be shut down. The tendency of the times is to degrade the Lord's Day into a simple holiday. The practice of using it for society visiting should be strongly condemned.

No Baptist church is now looked upon as orthodox which tolerates as members persons who are not total abstainers.

Total prohibition of liquor traffic is the great goal towards which the church is working and all church members should present a united front when the time for voting comes.

The prejudice against mixing religion with politics has been taken advantage of by low class politicians who seek to rule the government. Politics therefore should not be excepted from the speech of every Christian.

Rev. W. D. Wilson, field secretary of the Temperance Alliance, in discussing this report, said it had been charged that the alliance had declared war on the government. It was the other way. The officials had declared war against the alliance, as witness the struggle for the past six months. The investigation which is now being held into the charges made by the alliance.

A circular letter dealing with church conditions stated that the church is not aggressive enough in its condemnation of evil.

FOUND DROWNED MAN NEAR CAPE TRAVERSE

Charlottetown, P. E. I., July 5-A man's body badly decomposed was found yesterday near Cape Traverse. It is supposed to be that of Captain Trenholm of the steamer Flora T. which foundered in the Straits last fall on her way from Pughwash to Charlottetown with a cargo of brick for the new R. C. cathedral.

John Wade, one of the best known of C. P. R. conductors, has retired on pension, after many faithful years of service. Conductor Wade's retirement comes as a result of his having reached the age limit of 65 years. He has always been popular with the travelling public and will be greatly missed.

DEUGHTER OF FATHER CHINQUI WILL TRY AGAIN

Montreal, July 5-The celebrated case of Dame Rebecca Chinqui, wife of Professor Morton of McGill University, abandoned by Joseph Becca, publisher of La Croix, which has been dismissed on a technicality by the court of review, will be tried before the courts again for a rehearing.

A. R. GOULD MUST NOW APPEAR AND GIVE EVIDENCE

Woodstock, N.B., July 5-A. R. Gould, who did not accept the "invitation" given him to appear before the royal commission, was served with a subpoena at Debo Junction yesterday. Mr. Gould was on his way to Moncton, having come through by the Montreal express, when an officer from Woodstock met him at Debo Junction and served him with the legal document that calls for his appearance before the commission July 15.
