CO-OPERATION THE KEYNOTE

The community spirit sl:ould expernce a new impetus in Glencoe and vicinity after the rousing meeting held Mosa and Ekfrid Agricultural Society t the Opera House on Monday evening, at which J. H. Laughton of the London Chamber of Commerce gave a spirited address on the benefits of cooperation in town and community building. Mr. Laughton is an optimist of the first water and has the happy faculty of radiating an influence that tells for public spirit and uplift.

He told of splendid work being done in London and Middlesex by the community movement, in which coopera.

on was the keynote. The spirit of tion was the keynote. The spirit of co-operation, the great need of the world today, was beginning to make itself felt in all branches of business and social life. In France it was the spirit of co-operation among the miliary divisions that made our soldier nvincible. The churches were re rganizing and, seeing the need of co peration, were getting away from the ld things and with Christ as their standard were pressing forward with more of the love one toward another spirit. The church is what you yourself make of it; the town and co munity are what you yourself make o hem. If you think the church is cold the chances are that you yourself are the icicle; so in the town and com-munity, the selfish habit must be done munity, the selfish habit must be done away with and more interest taken in the welfare of all. If you think a thing is good for all the community, push it along: if otherwise, leave it alone, even though it would probably

PUNCTUALITY AS A VIRTUE

The decadent manners of the time ven say decadent morals?-are in nothing more evident than in the common lack of punctuality. If royalty mon lack of punctuality. If royalty or other people of quality or high station from the Old Country happen to be touring the Dominion, they invariably set an example of rigid adherence to the arrangements, but the lesson appears to be quite lost on others. The moral, as well as the ethical, obligation, not to break faith, and in breaking faith rob others of time which may be valuable, and in any case is their own, ought to be as self-evident as the obligation to keep one's hands out of one's neighbor's pocket or one's neighbor's till.
