

158/.

C 18726

In the first place it may be interesting to examine what particular forms ~~the~~ <sup>the</sup> ~~system~~ of home work and contracting have ~~been~~ <sup>been</sup> the subject of criticism in the discussions which have identified them with the Sweating system, for it must be ~~apparent~~ that the mere fact of work being carried on in a home, or tenement, or the mere fact of its being ~~performed~~ <sup>performed</sup> under contract ~~is~~ <sup>are</sup> not sufficient to justify an analogy of them with ~~the~~ <sup>the</sup> ~~system~~ ~~of~~ ~~sweating~~.

A brief ~~examination~~ mention of a few of the outstanding examples will be sufficient to show what has been ~~intended~~ <sup>intended</sup>.

~~An example might be given of the date~~ (note Chapter 25, in 1865, in cases of this kind of work under contract.)

The conditions of the ~~work~~ <sup>work</sup> to be made up into methods of employment which attracted the attention of the Christian Socialists can be thus graphically described by Mr. Thomas Hughes.

W. L. Mackenzie King Papers
Volume C 26