The effect must have been pleasing indeed, and a source of joy to the young ladies who, of their own accord, devoted their energies to so laudable a work. But whilst aincerely congravulating our Grimby brethren upon their happy lot we cannot help feeling and for being deprived of a like privilege. A sadder lot, however, eseemed in store for us until recently in fact our decreasing numbers threatened us Special to the CATHOLIC RECORD we fondly hope, turn the tide of prosperity towards us. Our isolated condition and the consequent stagnation in our various industries in former times caused the industries in former times caused the most of our youth to seek elsewhere the means of living, which we could not provide. Now, however, we expect to be able to provide lucrative employment for those who are left to us and many more besides. We are confident that any men of capital and enterprise who will now cast their lot with us will not fall of success. We have here a good church, parochial residence with all the religious consolations atattached thereto, as well as a reeldent priest, and although we have no Separate school, as we are too few in number yet, still we have a good Pub-lic school and High school. Let these Catholics with capital who contemplate moving to the Western States consider these advantages, together with our mild climate, and weigh them against the cyclones and blizz ards, together with the deprivations from religious consolations they will have to suffer in the Western wilds. And here we must deplore the wilds. And here we must deplore the fact that too many Catholics, in seeking new homes for themselves and families, think homes for themselves and families, think only of worldly advantages and settle where there is neither church nor school, and soon they and their families are lost to the faith. When they come to die their worldly property will avail them little, whereas the faith they bartered for it would then procure for them stewed happings.

The writer, who is a constant reader of your journal, had occasion to pay a short visit to friends in Detroit last week, and, visit to friends in Detroit last week, and, while there, witnessed a performance in Holy Redeemer Hall, in the west end of the city. The young men of the sodality of Holy Redeemer church have organized a military company, known as the Holy Redeemer Greys. On Monday and Tuesday evenings of last week they played a most beautiful drama, entitled "The Lily of Killarney." The play is a very pleasing and charming one, indeed, and the acting and speaking of the young men reflected great credit upon their talents and study. The Irish character of Teddy O'Neil was personated by a young man of remarkpersonated by a young man of remark-able intelligence, and so well did he per-form his part that the audience was kept in roars of laughter. London, was made the recipient of some valuable presents from the members of the congregation. The parishioners took occasion of the day to testify their love and esteem for their respected master, and and esteem for their respected paster, and a venerable member of the parish, Mr. a venerable member of the parish, Mr. Francis Hyns, on the part of the parish ioners, made a donation of $110 to Rsv. Father Cook. In his address to the Rsv. Father, Mr. Hyns recounted the many good deeds of Father Cook since his coming to Holy Redeemer Church, and the address, while short, was replete with practical good sense and knowledge. Mis Liy White represented the Young Ladjes' Sodality, and in a few choice and well spoken words presented Father Cook with a handsome surplice. She was followed by Mr. Joseph McCusker, who spoke in behalf of the young men's sodality, and who presented him with $50. Father Cook then addressed the audience, thanking then addressed the audience, thanking the people for their kindness and gener osity, assuring them of his help and is said to be excellent.

support in all that pertained to the welfare of the parish.

I was gratified and pleased, when I saw the good will manifested on the part of the poople. It shows the love and respect which the Catholic congregation has for its devoted pastor. Father Cook is a realous and earnest priest, and it is not difficult to see that his labors are appreciated by the people. May Father Cook be spared to us for many years is the wish and prayer of the parishioners of Holy Redeemer Church.

HOME RULE.

THE BATTLE FOR A PABLIAMENT IN COLLEGE GREEN.

One of the most horrible outrages conceivable took place recently at Clongorey under the name of law and order. Four huts had been erected for the evicted tenants on the farm of Mrs. Mary Kelly, aged eighty years, and when the balliffs ordered the huts to be removed she refused. Anywhere but in Ireland she would have been considered as doing her duty towards suffering humanity in sheltering the homeless; but in Ireland this is an unpardonable orime. Mrs. Kelly, together with her son, Michael Morrissey, and Morrissey's wife and infant child, were arrested and taken from their beds at 6 o'clock in the taken to Grangegorman prison, Dublin, except Morrissey, who was sent to Kil-kenny jail. The old lady suffers much from the ill-treatment she has received, from the ill-treatment she has received, but she declares yet that they may kill her, but she will not consent to turn the poor people out to whom she has given a shelter. This is only a specimen of what is occurring every day.

The preparations for the resumption of evictions from the Ponsonby estate at Youghal, county Cork, are completed. One hundred and seventy write have been served, and the prospective evictees are every whit as determined to remain where they are as the constabulary are resolved to out them. are resolved to oust them.

The Government bills are going to have a hard time of it. The opposition against both the Tithes and the Irish Land Purchase Bill have become intensified during the reces, and has developed into a marked and fairly compact antagonism to the Cabinet. The Tithes Bill will not pass unless the Government will assent to radical modifications of its provisions, which are insisted upon by the land owners, at least so says the Opposition.

It appears that Sister Leo came to the convent six months ago from the parish of the Church of the Geau, Philadelphia, and took the white veil. Since then she has been one of the most devoted of the Order. A week ago she was stricken with the grip, and a day or so later her brain, it is said, became affocted. It was while laboring under a hallucination that she leaped from the window yesterday and attempted to escape. Dr. John R. McClurg, of Winchester, the attending physician, substantiates the story told by the Sisters at the convent. Her death was entirely unexpected, and

Her death was entirely unexpected, and was caused by the exposure of yesterday." It will be seen what a tale of horror could have been manufactured out of the first despatch. It has been done in the past, and we doubt not that many of our past, and we dount not that many or our Protestant contemporaries, conveniently blind to the second despatch, are even now at work upon a startling romance duly exaggerated out of the materials at hand. Readers will remember what a terrible out cry was raised in England about Cardinal (then Dr.) Newman's oratory at Exbaston, near Birmingham. He had ordered a dry cellar for the storage of provisions to be centar for the storage of provisions to be constructed, and the report got about that it was a secret passage, that the bodies of dead persons were carried out through it, that it was used for loathsome, immoral purposes, the rumor awelling as it flew. Finally a mob collected around the building, and Dr. Newman was amazed when he heard the nature of the rumor. He

NOTABLE CONVERSIONS.

An incident of the mission recently An incident of the mission recently held at Newark, N. J., recalls the visit of a Methodist preacher to the late Rev. Father Smarius, S. J., during a mission in St. Francis Xavier's Church, New York City, several years ago. The disciple of John Wesley thought it a great pity that so able a preacher should be losing his talents laboring in the interests of the benighted Catholic Church! "What a benighted Catholic Church! "What a grand thing would it not be," he exclaimed, "to convert the Jesuit preacher to Wesleyism;" and suiting action to the word, he undertook the task. The result of his labors, however, was that many weeks had not elapsed before the disciple of John Wesley found himself making earnest preparation to abjure his heresy. He had the joy and happiness of being received the joy and happiness of being received into the Cauren, and a most exemplary layman he was. Every Saturday he visited St. Francis Xavier's College to make his confession; and it was during one of these visits in 1866 that the writer made his acquaintance, and learned from his lips the story of what he was pleased to term his "remarkable conversion." A HAPPY CONVERSION.

During the mission given recently in Newark Mrs. Lee, a Protestant lady connected with that highest of the "nigh" branches of the Episcopal church in New Jersey, the House of Prayer, was one of the most devoted attendants at the exercises in the Pro-Cathedral. She was first prompted through curiosity to hear the "Scottish Chief," as Father was first prompted through curiosity to hear the "Scottish Chief," as Father MacDonald was called. She prayed for his conversion to Protestantism, but grace touched her own heart, and she responded to the call. She was baptized and received into the One Fold on Saturday, March 29th; and shortly after midnight a measurement and detailed. midnight a messenger was despatched for one of the Fathers to hasten to her house and prepare her for death. By-fore the dawn on Palm Sunday morning her soul, fortified by the sacraments, was summoned to appear before the Judgment Seat.

Weakness of Memory.

Zell, Faulk Co., Dak., Nov., '85.

I was troubled with forgetfulness and tried many remedies, but of no use—I had almost despaired when somebody recommended Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonio. I tried it and took bug abottles of it, which brought back my memory as good as ever. I therefore recommend this remedy to all sufferes, it does more than expected, it speaks for itself.
