EVERYBODY AT SALONIKI GOES TO "FLOCA'S"

Soldiers in Greek City Make the Little Cafe Famous.

Saloniki, April 7.—(British Official Eye-witness)—Floca's has become the social focus of the Entente armies in the Balkans. Some such rendezvous comes to be associated with almost every expeditionary war. The bar of Shepherd's Hotel in Cairo was the place through which everyone passed sooner or later in the time of the Sudan campaigns; the Rand Club at Johannesburg had a similar function in South Africa. Here the same unexpected greatness has been thrust upon Floca's, so that its name will always remain in the memory of those who took off to spend this tedious winter at Saloniki.

Floca's in peace time was just a commonplace cafe, with no more than the modest distinction of being the best of such establishments in Saloniki. Here on an ordinary weekday were to be found a sprinkling of Levantine gentlemen drinking Turkish coffee while they discussed with fluent gesture the latest political rumors from Athens.

Its fortunate proprietor, who, like so many others here, is making a small fortune, has to thank two of the most cherished Allied institutions—the Englishman's afternoon tea and the Frenchman's afternoon aperitif or appetizer. From four o'clock in the afternoon until eight, Floca's is more densely populated than any spot in Saloniki. It is filled with officers of the allied armies—base officers, camp officers, embarkation officers, staff officers, flying officers, French, British, Serbian, Greek—such a varied collection of officers of every rank and corps that Floca's might be the animated fashion book of a millionaire of international clientele. But Floca's would hardly be a success in fashionable London. Its interior is gloomy and often foggy. Its green waiters of sinister aspect, only descend to serve when their attention is attracted by a series of sharp hand-claps. But in Saloniki men count themselves lucky to find a table free, and for those who have lived for months on a barren mountain side it is a splendidly distant reproduction of the institutions of home.

Famine and Destitution in Jerusalem

Hundreds of Thousands Are Daily Fed From American Relief Fund.

Alexandria, Egypt, April 6.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—According to reports received here, 400,000 persons in Jerusalem are now receiving daily rations from the American Relief Fund.

A woman engaged in relief work there writes:

"Everything costs four times as much as before, so you can imagine what a state the people are in. Our poor children look like skeletons. Bread is very dear and the prices are taken away for soldiers and the mothers are miserable and weak."

An English woman who has arrived here from Palestine by way of Cyprus, states that the Turks fully expect that the Allies will invade the country and are devoting much energy to preparations to repel them. They have constructed numerous military roads. They have fortified the Mount of Olives and believe that they have made it impregnable.

Meanwhile, she says, the economic situation is deplorable. As it is impossible to export the oranges, they have been allowed to rot on the trees. Public executions are frequent. At Jaffa, Haly Hamis, the chief boatman of a tourist agency and the Kavass (military courier) of the American consulate, well known to all tourists in Palestine, has been hanged on a charge of espionage. Emil Knezevich, a son of the British consular agent at Jaffa, was saved from a similar fate only by the intervention of Dr. Glazebrook, the American consul at Jerusalem. He was accused of having received letters from his father, a refugee in Egypt.

More than 400 men, mostly privates, students and ex-students of the agricultural College, are now in uniform.
