A FINE LOT OF FURS.

Henry Primeau, who has charge of the fur department at the Gordon store, has received some of the fur which he purchased on his recent trip to Montreal. The furs to be worn this year consist chiefly of 22 inch jackets of seal, electric seal, astrachan or sable. The prices range from $20 to $300.
The prices of furs are rapidly advancing and the Gordon store is congratulating itself on having purchased some $2400 worth more this year than last so that their customers will not have to pay for the increase in price. Already some $800 worth of furs have been sold and every day sales continue.
A visit to the store will prove interesting to any who desire to purchase furs this fall.

EARLY BASEBALL

What is Known as the Genesis of the So-Called National Sport.

Somewhere about 1845 the first recorded match was played by a club just organized in New York city and called the Knickerbockers. "Baseball," or "base" or "rounders" had been played before by boys of all ages; but this club, formed doubtless because of the growing interest in the sport, is undoubtedly the first organization which really made the game a study and carried on regular practice and arranged regular matches.

The game in New York was in many respects different from the one played in Boston, but our present "old cat" is the basis of both. Boys had played "old cat" all over the country for forty years before the Knickerbockers ever thought of forming themselves into a club and making rules for the sport.

In New York there "were usually nine on a side," but one good sportsman—full of the joy of the game he must have been, too—says that in Boston they usually played with six or eight men to a side. Then he goes on to say that "the pitching or 'tossing' of a ball toward the batsman is never practised (in New England) except by the most juvenile players; and he who would occupy the post of honor as 'catcher' must be able to catch exactly a swiftly delivered ball or he will be admonished of his ineptness by a request of some player to 'butter his fingers.'"

In New York at this time the ball had to be pitched and could not be thrown and so the Bostonians not only put the New Yorkers to contempt, but really anticipated the present rule on that point.

And it seems also that the catcher stood at from three to ten paces behind the "striker," as the batsman was called; although there are some daring examples on record of catchers who stood so near the striker as they could without coming within the radius of the swinging bat, usually wielded with one hand.

This bat, by the way, was interesting in itself. It was most likely to be the stout handle of a rake, or of a pitchfork, cut to a length of from three to three and one-half feet. The ball with which the Boston men played was from five and one-half to six ounces in weight, and two and one-half to three and one-quarter inches in diameter. It was made of yarn, tightly wound round a lump of cork or India rubber and covered with smooth calf-skin in quarters (as we quarter an orange), "the seams closed snugly and not raised, lest they blister the hands of the catcher and thrower."

So far the games seem to have been more or less similar in New York and Boston, the two centres of the sport, and of course it should be borne in mind that the elements of the game, such as the striking, running of bases, and so on, were in all places the same.
But the Knickerbockers were the pioneers in the development of the game, and to them belongs the particular honor of the beginnings of system.
Soon other clubs were formed, and the number gradually grew. Just before the Civil War there were, perhaps, two or three good clubs in Brooklyn, New York, Boston and a few other cities.

The war, of course, wrought the game to a stop; but after 1865 baseball started with renewed vigor, and became so important and so popular that in 1888 the first acknowledged professional teams were organized and the National Baseball Association formed. And then began the really great American game.

WHICH IS CORRECT.

The above cut shows the water in dispute at Mitchell's bay between the fishermen and the sportsmen. The latter claim the dotted line from Ticky-Tack to Grassy Point on St. Ann's Island is the mouth of the Bay, and that the fishermen should not be allowed to lay their nets inside that. The fishermen allege the dotted line from Ticky-Tack to Red Head Point on the mainland is the true boundary of the bay. It will be noticed that the Chenal Earle, a navigable stream, runs into the disputed water between St. Ann's Island and the mainland.

WHAT NOT TO SAY.

Do not say, "I can't eat." Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and say, "I am hungry all the time, and food never hurts me."
Never say to your friends that you are as tired in the morning as at night.
If they happen to be sharp they will tell you Hood's Sarsaparilla cures that feeling.

Do not say, "My face is full of pimples." You are quite likely to be told by some one, "There's no need of that, for Hood's Sarsaparilla cures pimples." It is improper and unnecessary to say, "My health is poor and my blood is bad." Hood's Sarsaparilla will give you good blood, and good health will follow as a natural consequence.

Do that cannot forgive others, breaks the bridge over which he himself must pass if he would ever reach heaven; for every one has need to be forgiven.—Herbert.

TORONTO'S ALL CANADA EXHIBITION.

"Education and entertainment, Aggressive and progressive," are the very appropriate watch-words adopted by the Toronto Industrial Exhibition this year, which will be held from August 27th to September 8th. This is the twenty-second successive year of Canada's great Exposition at Toronto, and each year has not only seen an improvement in the arrangements as compared with the years that have gone, but the quality of the stock is very far ahead of what it was at the beginning, thus proving the institution's value of Fair as such as held annually at Toronto. It is an old story to say that the exhibition immediately approaching will be superior to all its predecessors, but it can safely be said that arrangements have been made, and negotiations are pending, that warrant the statement that the Toronto Fair of 1900 will fully maintain the reputation it has gained of being the best of all that are annually held. A good deal of the space has already been taken up, and a number of entries have been made, but there are so many divisions comprised in the prize list, with its 131 classes and $50,000 in premiums, that there is ample provision for all; and, talking of those divisions, it is interesting to note that there are no fewer than 55 in class 128, knitting, shirts, quilts, cloths, etc.; 354 in class 54, poultry; and an average of 16 or 17 in each of the two dozen classes devoted to horses and cattle. This will give some idea not only of the scope of Toronto's Great Exposition, but also of the opportunities offered to secure a prize.
It is a little early to refer to what is promised in the way of entertainment, but when it is stated that $30,000 is spent annually on this department, visitors have ample guarantee that they will be abundantly provided for, and the admission to the Toronto Exhibition with its myriads of attractions is only 25c. Entries close on August 4th, and prize lists can be had by addressing H. J. Hill, Manager Industrial Exhibition, Toronto. As last year, so this, the exhibition will be inaugurated on Tuesday evening, August 28th, with a brilliant Military Tattoo. Reduced rates will be given and excursions held on all lines of travel. 1d1w
