THEY ACTUALLY DO THE WORK

Food Eaten Is Worthless Unless Digested—Some Stomachs Must Have Help.

Food taken into the stomach which, from the nature of the food or the condition of the stomach, is not digested, is worse than no food at all. This is a true statement as far as it goes and a great many dyspeptics go only this far with their reasoning. They argue with themselves that because their stomachs do not do the work given them, they must be given less work. In other words they must be starved. It would be just as sensible for a business man who is unable to do all his own work to cut down his business to his own capacity as it is for a man to starve himself to relieve his stomach. The sensible business man employs help and goes forward with his business. Likewise the sensible dyspeptic will employ help for his stomach and give his body proper nourishment.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets actually do the work assigned to them. They relieve weak and overburdened stomachs of a great portion of their digestive action. Their component parts are identical with those of the stomach and they simply take up the kind and carry on the work just the same as a good, strong, healthy stomach would.

On this account Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are perfectly natural in their action and effects. They do not cause any unnatural or violent disturbance in the stomach and bowels. They themselves digest the food and supply the system with all the nourishment contained in what is eaten and carry out Nature's plans for the sustenance and maintenance of the body.

How much more sensible is this method than that employed by many sufferers from weak stomachs. By all the good, nutritious food they need and the body is properly nourished and equipped to carry on its work and perform its duties. He could not possibly be in proper working condition by starving himself or employing some raw fangled, insufficient food that does not contain enough nourishment for a good old baby. A strong man doing strong work must be properly fed and this applies to the brain as well as the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by relieving the stomach of its work, are able to recuperate and regain its normal health and strength. Nature repairs the worn and wasted tissues just as the head and knits the bone of a broken limb, which is of course not used during the process of mending.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a box and they give you one article that the druggist does not sell. It is something in the place of that "just as good" their unqualified demand for them has placed there.
