International Bible Lesson for To-Morrow—Christ Crucified — Mark 15, 22-29; Luke 23, 26-46; John 19, 16-30,

Golden Text-"Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures."

Golden Text—"Christ died for our sins, according to the Scriptures."

Seven hundred years before this, Isaiah wrote, "For He was cut off out of the land of the living; for the trans gression of my people was He stricken, yet it pleased the Lord to bruise Him."—Isaiah 53, 8-9-10.

The death of Jesus Christ as the substitute for sinful man, the sacrifice of God's own Son as a sin offering for the whole world, is the pivotion which all God's cealings with mankind turns; the central point of the world's history is this grace of our Lord Jesus Christ here fulfilling the will of God and the purpose of H's life, which was to give H'mself a r. n-some for many. Let every one who reads look on H'm with faith. In the words of the dying Christ, we have an index to His thoughts and emotions. Naiked to the cross, His eyes rest on the executioners and the scoffing multitude; His heart overflows with mercy only He prays, "Father, forgive them, they know not what they do." His s-con? utterance assures the penitent dying thief that his prayer was accepted, and that very day he should be with His Lord in Paradise. The third time His voice was heard committing His broken-hearted mother to His beloved disciple's care. As He sinks in deepest suffering and deinks the dregs of the bitter cup of God's wrath against our sin, He cries loudly, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me ?" Remembering David wrote concerning Him—Pel. 69, 21—"They gave me vin gar to drink," Jesus saith, that this scripture might be fulfilled, "I thirst," when some friendly hand pushed a sponge dipped in vinegar on a bunch of hissop to His parched lips, they opened and His sixth utterance was, "It is finished." For the seventh time, in the darkness, the earth trembling, the tombs opening, again with a loud voice H: says. "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit, and He gave up the ghost." "Look and Live!"

"There is life for a look at the cruci fied one, There is life at this moment for

IMMIGRATION GENTRES

FOUR LAND DISTRICTS TO WHICH TIDE OF EMIGRATION FLOWS.

in the Calgary District—This Shows th Rapid Development of the Canadia Northwest—Alberta Raises the Fines

Northwest—Alberta Raises the Finest Quality of No. 1 Hard Wheat.

There are four great central land districts toward which the tide of emigrants flows in Western Canada. They are Regina, Calgary, Red Deer and Edmonton. Lethbridge, on the south, and Eattleford and Prince Albert on the north, are the other three points where general land offices are maintained. The first four are receiving the bulk of the new settlers this year. In the past Regina has led all other land offices in point of numbers of homestead entries made in the territories. Three thousand a year was the high water mark, and a month that did not witness 300 applications at Regina was considered dull. That has been the story for the past three or four years. The territory tributary to the Regina land office is equal to that of Lethbridge, Calgary, Red Deer and Edmonton. It extends from the fourth meridian on the west to the second on the cast, and from the second on the cast, and from the state line on the south to within fifty miles of the town of Battleford, on the north. This vast district consists almost wholly of surveyed lands, subject to homesteading.

The Calgary district is being flooded so rapidly by ranchers and farmers that the surveyed lands are down to a close margin. In other words, the homesteaders are keeping up with the Government surveyors worked overtime last year, and will have to do even better this year if the land in demand is to be ready for the newcomers. Large numbers of squatters have overrun the big stretch of unsurveyed land north of the Calgary district is region into Red River, Edmonton and Battleford. Squatter rights are not recognized, and only the man on the ground when the Government surveyors arrive can be recognized. This makes squatter sovereignty a very ground when the Government survey-ors arrive can be recognized. This makes squatter sovereignty a very-uncertain quantity.

Calgary Leads This Year.

Calgary Leads This Year.

This year the Calgary land office leads all others in the territories. The agents cast a balance as at June 1 for the previous year. At Calgary, for the year ending June 1, 1903, the record shows 1,916 entries. Regina was two thousand in advance, while the four other big districts, with Prince Albert added, were less than Calgary, but combined they exceeded the entries at Regina by two thousand.

Ten months of the fiscal year have passed. Calgary shows to-day, ac-passed. Calgary shows to-day, according to Mr. Sutherland's latest compilation, 2,416 homestead en-tries. He estimated that the next

From $10 to $50 Per Acre.

The casual observer is impressed, however, with the rapid settlement of the territories and the certainty that within a short time—as time goes in the life of a nation—the immense public domain that is so generously distributed among all who seek the west will be a thing of the past. Driving a mile from Calgary with President Talbot of the Pure Bred Cattle Breeders' Association of the Territories, I was entertained with interesting stories of rapid development. With a sweep of his hand over a considerable area, showing farm-houses on every quarter section and cattle grazing on every hill, Mr. Talbot alluded to the fact that but a few years ago the best could be pre-empted for a ten-dollar Government fee. Now it is held at from thirty to forty dollars an acre.

But from a former Ontario boy I received the clearest analysis of the conditions prevailing in the territories. John R. Sutherland, brother of Hugh Sutherland, is the land agent at Calgary. He came west from Ingersoll, Ont., in 1875. For many years he was located in Manitoba. With papers piled up to his cars around his desk, each representing the hopes and the wealth of some homesteader, Mr. Sutherland discussed the situation. The rush has carried the employes of the office to the point where they must work night and day to keep anywhere near the head of the line, with no hope of catching up until an increase of help is secured.

"Alberta has bocome well known as Alberta Grows Wheat.

"Alberta has become well known a a grazing country. The truth is tha we raise as fine quality of number hard north and south of Calgary a the farmers of Manitoba. This is the evolution of the farm. For years it was not supposed the territory was of value agriculturally. I recall is 1875 that when I first went to Manitoba the agent of the Hudson Bay Company was insisting that whea could not be grown there. Apparent by he was right. The first put is around Bortage is Prairie was caught by the frost. It would no ripea. Before it could mature the of cultivated soil reduced the probabilities of frost. They learned that after all frost goes in streaks. While it reight make its appearance in one field or section, it did no damage in adjacent farms. In other words, they learned that frost acts as erratically learned that frost acts as erratically as hall.

Alberta they are producing immense quantities of what we call fall wheat. In the States they call it winter wheat. It grades No. 1 hard, and is of superior quality. This variety is better adapted to Alberta than the spring article, because it matures several weeks earlier and the chances of its destruction by frost are materially less. Yet fall wheat was an unknown quantity with the pioneer farmers of Alberta. They could produce nothing but spring wheat.

Ontario and Alberta Compared.

"Farming in Ontario and here are entirely different propositions. Here

"Farming in Ontario and here are entirely different propositions. Here wheat grows twice as high as in Ontario. I have seen wheat as high as a man's head and well developed grains, grading No. 1 hard. When I first came to Calgary I remember that farmers who had gone in around Regina abandoned their farms, asserting that the country was not adapted to wheat raising. They went into Manitoba and some came here, yet to-day that same section of Regina is included in the great wheat belt. This illustrates the idea. Men who cultivate the soil successfully in Ontario and the States will be successful in this region, but it is not reasonable to suppose they be successful in this region, but it is not reasonable to suppose they will farm as profitably the first year as the second. The practical chaps recognize this as a fact."—G. C. Porter in The Toronto World.

"They talked for years of Alberta being a fine ranching country, but impossible for wheat raising, yet to-day they are raising in some sections of Alberta 52 bushels of No. 1 hard to the acre. I still advocate mixed farming as the most productive in this section, but the point is that farmers learn to overcome what appears to be insurmountable natural barriers to the cultivation of the soil of Alberta.
