

Will This Solve Housing Problem

A new kind of brick so easily made that housebuilding may become almost a children's pastime, will be manufactured in England in large numbers after April.

These bricks, or blocks, are rectangular in shape, and are nearly as large as five ordinary bricks, but in comparison with their size are much lighter and are easily handled. They are hollowed into two or three air layers.

The hollowing is to reduce the difference in temperature between the air and the wall, thus diminishing the danger of condensation and consequently damp in houses.

"These blocks could be made in unlimited quantities in England," said Baron Ernest Barnekow, representing Messrs. Lean & Co., of Stockholm, originators of the Lean System in which these bricks are employed.

Slag, clinkers, sand and brick dust, mixed with cement, make excellent material. We have portable blockmaking machines weighing 600 to 800 pounds, and they would enable three men, if they worked in three shifts, to build a small house in one day.

A bricklayer expert with the machine can build a Lean wall of 450 bricks, equal to 2000 bricks, in eight hours. The manufacture of the blocks is simple, and an unskilled man can soon learn. Our process is being used in the devastated areas of France. One block would be cheaper than five ordinary bricks.—London Daily News.

A Road That's A Friend to Man

Let me live in a house by the side of a road

Where the race of men go by,
But not such a road as I have now,
With its dust when the season's dry.

Roads are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong,
Built on many a diverse plan;
But I'd like to live by the side of a road
That is always a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of a road

Where flows, like the rich, red blood,
A current of life, cars, flivvers and trucks,
Not a highway composed of mud,
Who could dwell in content by a rut-

splashed track,
Rock-strewn from Beersheba to Dan?

Let me live in a house by the side of a road

That is always a friend to man,
I can live only once, so why should I stay
Where daily offends my eye,

A crooked streak of mud or clay,
Scooped out by the passers-by?

I don't like to sit in the corner's pew;
Nor "hurl the cynic's ban,"

But ye gods!—for a road that the season through

Can be counted a friend to man.
