The animal was first noticed by PostMaster Cooper who resides near Presten.
Mr. Cooper had to go through a small piece of wood to reach his horse.
When half way through he was startled at seeing a huge creature some distance in front of him standing erect. It leoked, he says like a gorilla. The height of it was nearly seven feet. Mr. Cooperwho is a reliable person—went home another way and with others returned armed to the place where he had seen the strange creature. It was gone, however, but its footprints were plainly visible. Richard Owen saw the same animal. His description is similiar to that given by Mr. Cooper. Gordon Kulin and his son also saw the animal the same day. Persons residing in this vicinity have become alarmed.

Perhaps Tennyson has written no-thing which appeals to the heart of all who read his poems more than the lyric of "Too Late." The burden of the sad of "Too Late." The burden of the sad refrain comes home with telling force to the hearts of those who have lost friends by that dread disease—Consumption. They realize "too late," the result of neglect. They feel that the dear one might have been saved if they had heeded the warning of the hashing cough, the pallid cheek, and weaksning aystem. They feel this all the more keenly because they see others being rescued from the grasp of the destroyer, and they think what is assing others might have saved their loved one. When the first signal of danger is seen, take steps to avert the catastrophe—Be wise in time. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will drive away consumption. Do not wait until too late before putting its wonderful efficacy to the test. It succeeds where other remedies fail.
