

USE JARDINE & CO'S SPICES IN 1-4 LB. PACKAGES.

PATENTS Cases and Designs secured, Trade-Marks registered, and all other patents...

TUNING AND REPAIRING. J. O. Biedermann, PIANO-FORTE and ORGAN TUNER.

FOR MATION I will pay the highest prices in cash for any of the following RAW FURS...

SEASONABLE GOODS. STOVES. SEEDS! SEEDS!

PROPERTIES FOR SALE. THE LOT AND HOUSE between, on the corner of Castle and Henry Sts.

MR. B. R. BOUTHILLIER. Begs to announce to his patrons in Newcastle and the vicinity that he has arranged to be in that town every Wednesday.

FOR SALE. A TWO HORSE POWER BAXTER ENGINE and Boiler, in use in the Advocate Office up to three weeks ago.

On 5 and 10 Box lots of Chicago Bolognas We can do better than anyone.

FOR SALE. A TWO HORSE POWER BAXTER ENGINE and Boiler, in use in the Advocate Office up to three weeks ago.

FOR SALE. A TWO HORSE POWER BAXTER ENGINE and Boiler, in use in the Advocate Office up to three weeks ago.

FOR SALE. A TWO HORSE POWER BAXTER ENGINE and Boiler, in use in the Advocate Office up to three weeks ago.

Fashionable Millinery. THE Subscriber will have ready for inspection in the Brick Store recently occupied by B. Weston & Clarke on and after Monday, April 23rd.

LEATHER & SHOE FINDINGS. THE Subscriber returns thanks to their customers here for past favors and would that they keep constantly on hand a full supply of the best quality of Goods to be had at lowest rates for cash.

For Sale. THAT Lot of Land Fronting on Pleasant Street in Newcastle containing 24 acres with 1 1/2 story Dwelling, Kitchen and Barn thereon.

FRESH SALMON. I am prepared to handle FRESH SALMON at low prices. Consignments Solicited.

Selling at Cost. The Subscriber having taken Stock intended making a change in his Business and will dispose of his Stock at Cost.

BOOTS & SHOES. In MEN'S Steam Drivern Boots, Laced Boots, Men's Rubber Shoes, boys' Laced Boots, Ladies' Buttoned Shoes, Laced Boots and Slippers in a variety of kinds.

Seeds! Seeds! VEGETABLE & Flower Seeds, POTATO ONIONS, ONION SETS, SUGAR.

NOTICE TO THE FARMERS. French Fort Cove Carding Mill. I have leased the property known as the Hutchison Carding Mill, below Newcastle.

MILLINERY. I have selected from the leading English American House A beautiful assortment of Ladies' Hats and Children's HATS and COSETS.

Intercolonial Railway. '91, SUMMER ARRANGEMENT '91. On and after Monday, the 22nd June 1891 the trains will be run daily.

Express for St. John and Halifax (Monday excepted) by the St. John's Express. For Montreal, St. John's, and other points.

Express for St. John and Halifax (Monday excepted) by the St. John's Express. For Montreal, St. John's, and other points.

Express for St. John and Halifax (Monday excepted) by the St. John's Express. For Montreal, St. John's, and other points.

Express for St. John and Halifax (Monday excepted) by the St. John's Express. For Montreal, St. John's, and other points.

Express for St. John and Halifax (Monday excepted) by the St. John's Express. For Montreal, St. John's, and other points.

METEOROLOGICAL. Reported for the Dominion Government by T. J. CONNORS.

Table with columns: DATE, Wind, Barometer, Thermometer, Humidity, Maximum, Minimum. Data for August 1st to 11th.

Miscellaneous. Mothers are your daughters suffering from any of these ailments peculiar to girls budding into womanhood?

Don't be deceived with imitations. Take only McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup.

Bachelors pay a two-dollar tax in Wyoming and when they read about what it costs to take a wife for a month's stay at a summer resort they climb up upon the fence and thank goodness for getting off so early.

No child will refuse to take McLean's Worm Syrup, pleasant and effectual.

The following 'bull' culled from the speech of an American stump orator would be hard to beat: 'Whenever we look back upon the untrodden path of the future, we see the footprints of an Almighty hand!'

Summer complaints and all bowel troubles are soon cured by Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

Minard's Liniment cures Dandruff. 'And you say you would die for me? I'm afraid you'd die as brave as that.'

Minard's Liniment cures Burns, &c. 'Papa, I inquired the editor's only son, 'What do you call your office?'

Minard's Liniment cures Neuralgia. C. C. RICHARDS & CO. I had the muscles of my hand so contracted that I could not use it for two years.

Minard's Liniment cures Neuralgia. I had a valuable coat so bad with mange that I feared that I would lose him. MINARD'S LINIMENT cured him like magic.

Minard's Liniment cures Neuralgia. When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Woman, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Minard's Liniment cures Neuralgia. BURLINGTON, Ia., July 28.—For-paul's circus visited this city on July 16, and while unloading the cages one of them fell from a car and was broken open.

Minard's Liniment cures Neuralgia. Four were captured, but the other could not be found. It is now discovered to have taken up his hiding place in the big main street sewer, to the terror of the whole neighborhood. It is 10 feet long and six inches thick. A reward of $100 is offered for its capture and a gang of men and boys are searching for it.

Minard's Liniment cures Neuralgia. THE LAST OF HIS DYNASTY. Death of Tahiti's King—France Acquires the Island.

THE ISLANDS were annexed to France 11 years ago, King Pomare resisting for this, it is stated, $130,000. Royalty ceases to exist by the terms of annexation with King Pomare's death, and no king can succeed him, Prince Hinoiti, the heir apparent, was placed by a gift of $12,000.

Several deserters from the wrecks of the Trenton and Vandavia have been on the beach at Tahiti for over a year.

Rev. Dr. Thoma Davidson, of London, preached in his pulpit at the other Sunday that the miscellaneous character of the population of that city is almost as marvelous as its stupendous number.

'Not a creed or religion or superstition on the earth,' he exclaimed, 'that has not its representatives here. More Roman Catholics than in Rome, more Jews than in Palestine, more Irishmen than in Dublin, more Scotchmen than in Edinburgh, and it is said (although that cannot be possible) more regiments than in America.'

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A special from New Orleans says the registration in Mississippi shows that the provision in the new constitution of that State in regard to preparation of poll taxes had the effect expected, namely, the diminution of the negro vote. More than three-fourths of the negroes have declined to register on the poll tax.

This provision assures a large white majority of voters in the State.

'TOO MUCHEE BY-AND-BY.' 'What is your complaint against this young man, John?' said the magistrate to the Chinese laundryman who had summoned a young gentleman whose laundry bill was in arrears.

'He too muchee by-and-by,' was the answer of the aggrieved Celestial, who evidently knew what ailed the young man, even if he could not express his views in the most classical English.

There are other youngsters who are troubled with the same complaint—'too muchee by-and-by.' The boy who has to be called four times in the morning, and then is late at breakfast, the boy who says 'In a minute,' when his mother calls him to do chores or run errands; the young gentleman who forgets his promise to bring wood or draw water; the young lady who always 'meant to' do things and have them in order but who never carried out her intentions; the legion of folks always have to be waited for—all these have 'too muchee by-and-by.'

People are likely to sing themselves into perdition with 'the sweet by-and-by.' What they need is the sweet 'now,' which is 'the accepted time and the day of salvation.—Little Christian.

THE LAST OF HIS DYNASTY. Death of Tahiti's King—France Acquires the Island.

THE ISLANDS were annexed to France 11 years ago, King Pomare resisting for this, it is stated, $130,000. Royalty ceases to exist by the terms of annexation with King Pomare's death, and no king can succeed him, Prince Hinoiti, the heir apparent, was placed by a gift of $12,000.

Several deserters from the wrecks of the Trenton and Vandavia have been on the beach at Tahiti for over a year.

Rev. Dr. Thoma Davidson, of London, preached in his pulpit at the other Sunday that the miscellaneous character of the population of that city is almost as marvelous as its stupendous number.

'Not a creed or religion or superstition on the earth,' he exclaimed, 'that has not its representatives here. More Roman Catholics than in Rome, more Jews than in Palestine, more Irishmen than in Dublin, more Scotchmen than in Edinburgh, and it is said (although that cannot be possible) more regiments than in America.'

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—A special from New Orleans says the registration in Mississippi shows that the provision in the new constitution of that State in regard to preparation of poll taxes had the effect expected, namely, the diminution of the negro vote. More than three-fourths of the negroes have declined to register on the poll tax.

This provision assures a large white majority of voters in the State.

'TOO MUCHEE BY-AND-BY.' 'What is your complaint against this young man, John?' said the magistrate to the Chinese laundryman who had summoned a young gentleman whose laundry bill was in arrears.

'He too muchee by-and-by,' was the answer of the aggrieved Celestial, who evidently knew what ailed the young man, even if he could not express his views in the most classical English.

There are other youngsters who are troubled with the same complaint—'too muchee by-and-by.' The boy who has to be called four times in the morning, and then is late at breakfast, the boy who says 'In a minute,' when his mother calls him to do chores or run errands; the young gentleman who forgets his promise to bring wood or draw water; the young lady who always 'meant to' do things and have them in order but who never carried out her intentions; the legion of folks always have to be waited for—all these have 'too muchee by-and-by.'

People are likely to sing themselves into perdition with 'the sweet by-and-by.' What they need is the sweet 'now,' which is 'the accepted time and the day of salvation.—Little Christian.

Farm and Household.

ON SOME PRACTICAL ESSENTIALS OF THE HEALTHY HOME. The home is where nearly everybody spends the greater part of his or her life. Health depending on the surroundings of one's life as well as on the person's habits, it is absolutely essential that the home be in a good sanitary condition.

The first thoughts with those about to build apartments to be, in respect to the dwelling, that it shall be a healthy one. A house should be so constructed that it shall be a healthy one. A house should be so constructed that it shall be a healthy one.

Use abundance of window glass to let in sunlight. Not only is the light a great destroyer of disease germs, and, too, a direct promoter of health, but with it all dirt can be so easily removed.—P. E. J. Agriculturist.

LAMPAS IN YOUNG HORSES. Lampas is a name applied by old practitioners to the swollen and congested state of the buccal membrane from the gums back. In adults it is supposed to be symptomatic of some form of indigestion or other constitutional derangement, while in colts and young animals it is supposed to be in some way connected with teething, both normal and abnormal. It has also been regarded by some, as the result of injuries from bits, ropes, etc., and of eating or drinking substances that acted on the part as an irritant. These, however, appear to me to belong to a different class of ailments more local and confined entirely to the parts affected.

Some veterinarians, writing on this subject, have described a class of symptoms that when closely examined hardly harmonize with the treatment they prescribed. For example, it is evident that where lampas is caused by some constitutional trouble, or from teething, that treatment by physicking, lancing and scarring may be reasonable enough, but diseases the result of direct injury to this part of the mouth, one would hardly require treatment of a more soothing or astringent and antiseptic kind, more like what is in cases of simple stomatitis or inflammation of the mouth.

We will therefore describe the treatment that appears to us best.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

TIED. TIED. TIED.

When he went out and walked slowly ten minutes; then he gave a jump and a whoop. Hurrah! If I had taken that orange it would have been all gone by this time, and God would have known it, and mamma would have known it, too, for I couldn't have helped telling her. And if it were done, I never, NEVER could undo it. I'd have been a thief all my life. Just for an orange! O, I'm glad, glad!

And the sun shone brightly, and the larks sang so merrily, that Tommy felt sure they were glad too.—Sunday School Advocate.

FIELD SPORTS.

'To the best of my belief no boy ever learned any harm while either fishing or shooting, and I would unhesitatingly advise parents to encourage in their sons a taste of field sports and an admiration of all my pastimes. But good, sound common sense should govern the teaching of the young people, and before giving a boy a gun and permission to use it, I would advise a careful study of his character and disposition. If careless and reckless he is no fit guard for a deadly weapon; but if he has sense and caution enough to be trusted there is no good reason why he should not have a gun of his own. Providing he takes proper care of it, makes a cast-iron resolve never to allow the muzzle to cover anything but legitimate game and does not neglect his studies for the pleasure of a tramp field, the use of a gun can do him no possible harm and may do him much good.—Ed. 'Rod and Gun,' in 'Outing' for July.

'TOO MUCHEE BY-AND-BY.' 'What is your complaint against this young man, John?' said the magistrate to the Chinese laundryman who had summoned a young gentleman whose laundry bill was in arrears.

'He too muchee by-and-by,' was the answer of the aggrieved Celestial, who evidently knew what ailed the young man, even if he could not express his views in the most classical English.

There are other youngsters who are troubled with the same complaint—'too muchee by-and-by.' The boy who has to be called four times in the morning, and then is late at breakfast, the boy who says 'In a minute,' when his mother calls him to do chores or run errands; the young gentleman who forgets his promise to bring wood or draw water; the young lady who always 'meant to' do things and have them in order but who never carried out her intentions; the legion of folks always have to be waited for—all these have 'too muchee by-and-by.'

People are likely to sing themselves into perdition with 'the sweet by-and-by.' What they need is the sweet 'now,' which is 'the accepted time and the day of salvation.—Little Christian.

USE ABUNDANCE OF WINDOW GLASS TO LET IN SUNLIGHT. Not only is the light a great destroyer of disease germs, and, too, a direct promoter of health, but with it all dirt can be so easily removed.—P. E. J. Agriculturist.

LAMPAS IN YOUNG HORSES. Lampas is a name applied by old practitioners to the swollen and congested state of the buccal membrane from the gums back. In adults it is supposed to be symptomatic of some form of indigestion or other constitutional derangement, while in colts and young animals it is supposed to be in some way connected with teething, both normal and abnormal. It has also been regarded by some, as the result of injuries from bits, ropes, etc., and of eating or drinking substances that acted on the part as an irritant. These, however, appear to me to belong to a different class of ailments more local and confined entirely to the parts affected.

Some veterinarians, writing on this subject, have described a class of symptoms that when closely examined hardly harmonize with the treatment they prescribed. For example, it is evident that where lampas is caused by some constitutional trouble, or from teething, that treatment by physicking, lancing and scarring may be reasonable enough, but diseases the result of direct injury to this part of the mouth, one would hardly require treatment of a more soothing or astringent and antiseptic kind, more like what is in cases of simple stomatitis or inflammation of the mouth.

We will therefore describe the treatment that appears to us best.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

TIED. TIED. TIED.

When he went out and walked slowly ten minutes; then he gave a jump and a whoop. Hurrah! If I had taken that orange it would have been all gone by this time, and God would have known it, and mamma would have known it, too, for I couldn't have helped telling her. And if it were done, I never, NEVER could undo it. I'd have been a thief all my life. Just for an orange! O, I'm glad, glad!

And the sun shone brightly, and the larks sang so merrily, that Tommy felt sure they were glad too.—Sunday School Advocate.

FIELD SPORTS.

'To the best of my belief no boy ever learned any harm while either fishing or shooting, and I would unhesitatingly advise parents to encourage in their sons a taste of field sports and an admiration of all my pastimes. But good, sound common sense should govern the teaching of the young people, and before giving a boy a gun and permission to use it, I would advise a careful study of his character and disposition. If careless and reckless he is no fit guard for a deadly weapon; but if he has sense and caution enough to be trusted there is no good reason why he should not have a gun of his own. Providing he takes proper care of it, makes a cast-iron resolve never to allow the muzzle to cover anything but legitimate game and does not neglect his studies for the pleasure of a tramp field, the use of a gun can do him no possible harm and may do him much good.—Ed. 'Rod and Gun,' in 'Outing' for July.

'TOO MUCHEE BY-AND-BY.' 'What is your complaint against this young man, John?' said the magistrate to the Chinese laundryman who had summoned a young gentleman whose laundry bill was in arrears.

'He too muchee by-and-by,' was the answer of the aggrieved Celestial, who evidently knew what ailed the young man, even if he could not express his views in the most classical English.

There are other youngsters who are troubled with the same complaint—'too muchee by-and-by.' The boy who has to be called four times in the morning, and then is late at breakfast, the boy who says 'In a minute,' when his mother calls him to do chores or run errands; the young gentleman who forgets his promise to bring wood or draw water; the young lady who always 'meant to' do things and have them in order but who never carried out her intentions; the legion of folks always have to be waited for—all these have 'too muchee by-and-by.'

People are likely to sing themselves into perdition with 'the sweet by-and-by.' What they need is the sweet 'now,' which is 'the accepted time and the day of salvation.—Little Christian.

Farm and Household.

ON SOME PRACTICAL ESSENTIALS OF THE HEALTHY HOME. The home is where nearly everybody spends the greater part of his or her life. Health depending on the surroundings of one's life as well as on the person's habits, it is absolutely essential that the home be in a good sanitary condition.

The first thoughts with those about to build apartments to be, in respect to the dwelling, that it shall be a healthy one. A house should be so constructed that it shall be a healthy one. A house should be so constructed that it shall be a healthy one.

Use abundance of window glass to let in sunlight. Not only is the light a great destroyer of disease germs, and, too, a direct promoter of health, but with it all dirt can be so easily removed.—P. E. J. Agriculturist.

LAMPAS IN YOUNG HORSES. Lampas is a name applied by old practitioners to the swollen and congested state of the buccal membrane from the gums back. In adults it is supposed to be symptomatic of some form of indigestion or other constitutional derangement, while in colts and young animals it is supposed to be in some way connected with teething, both normal and abnormal. It has also been regarded by some, as the result of injuries from bits, ropes, etc., and of eating or drinking substances that acted on the part as an irritant. These, however, appear to me to belong to a different class of ailments more local and confined entirely to the parts affected.

Some veterinarians, writing on this subject, have described a class of symptoms that when closely examined hardly harmonize with the treatment they prescribed. For example, it is evident that where lampas is caused by some constitutional trouble, or from teething, that treatment by physicking, lancing and scarring may be reasonable enough, but diseases the result of direct injury to this part of the mouth, one would hardly require treatment of a more soothing or astringent and antiseptic kind, more like what is in cases of simple stomatitis or inflammation of the mouth.

We will therefore describe the treatment that appears to us best.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

TIED. TIED. TIED.

When he went out and walked slowly ten minutes; then he gave a jump and a whoop. Hurrah! If I had taken that orange it would have been all gone by this time, and God would have known it, and mamma would have known it, too, for I couldn't have helped telling her. And if it were done, I never, NEVER could undo it. I'd have been a thief all my life. Just for an orange! O, I'm glad, glad!

And the sun shone brightly, and the larks sang so merrily, that Tommy felt sure they were glad too.—Sunday School Advocate.

FIELD SPORTS.

'To the best of my belief no boy ever learned any harm while either fishing or shooting, and I would unhesitatingly advise parents to encourage in their sons a taste of field sports and an admiration of all my pastimes. But good, sound common sense should govern the teaching of the young people, and before giving a boy a gun and permission to use it, I would advise a careful study of his character and disposition. If careless and reckless he is no fit guard for a deadly weapon; but if he has sense and caution enough to be trusted there is no good reason why he should not have a gun of his own. Providing he takes proper care of it, makes a cast-iron resolve never to allow the muzzle to cover anything but legitimate game and does not neglect his studies for the pleasure of a tramp field, the use of a gun can do him no possible harm and may do him much good.—Ed. 'Rod and Gun,' in 'Outing' for July.

'TOO MUCHEE BY-AND-BY.' 'What is your complaint against this young man, John?' said the magistrate to the Chinese laundryman who had summoned a young gentleman whose laundry bill was in arrears.

'He too muchee by-and-by,' was the answer of the aggrieved Celestial, who evidently knew what ailed the young man, even if he could not express his views in the most classical English.

There are other youngsters who are troubled with the same complaint—'too muchee by-and-by.' The boy who has to be called four times in the morning, and then is late at breakfast, the boy who says 'In a minute,' when his mother calls him to do chores or run errands; the young gentleman who forgets his promise to bring wood or draw water; the young lady who always 'meant to' do things and have them in order but who never carried out her intentions; the legion of folks always have to be waited for—all these have 'too muchee by-and-by.'

People are likely to sing themselves into perdition with 'the sweet by-and-by.' What they need is the sweet 'now,' which is 'the accepted time and the day of salvation.—Little Christian.

Farm and Household.

ON SOME PRACTICAL ESSENTIALS OF THE HEALTHY HOME. The home is where nearly everybody spends the greater part of his or her life. Health depending on the surroundings of one's life as well as on the person's habits, it is absolutely essential that the home be in a good sanitary condition.

The first thoughts with those about to build apartments to be, in respect to the dwelling, that it shall be a healthy one. A house should be so constructed that it shall be a healthy one. A house should be so constructed that it shall be a healthy one.

Use abundance of window glass to let in sunlight. Not only is the light a great destroyer of disease germs, and, too, a direct promoter of health, but with it all dirt can be so easily removed.—P. E. J. Agriculturist.

LAMPAS IN YOUNG HORSES. Lampas is a name applied by old practitioners to the swollen and congested state of the buccal membrane from the gums back. In adults it is supposed to be symptomatic of some form of indigestion or other constitutional derangement, while in colts and young animals it is supposed to be in some way connected with teething, both normal and abnormal. It has also been regarded by some, as the result of injuries from bits, ropes, etc., and of eating or drinking substances that acted on the part as an irritant. These, however, appear to me to belong to a different class of ailments more local and confined entirely to the parts affected.

Some veterinarians, writing on this subject, have described a class of symptoms that when closely examined hardly harmonize with the treatment they prescribed. For example, it is evident that where lampas is caused by some constitutional trouble, or from teething, that treatment by physicking, lancing and scarring may be reasonable enough, but diseases the result of direct injury to this part of the mouth, one would hardly require treatment of a more soothing or astringent and antiseptic kind, more like what is in cases of simple stomatitis or inflammation of the mouth.

We will therefore describe the treatment that appears to us best.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

TIED. TIED. TIED.

When he went out and walked slowly ten minutes; then he gave a jump and a whoop. Hurrah! If I had taken that orange it would have been all gone by this time, and God would have known it, and mamma would have known it, too, for I couldn't have helped telling her. And if it were done, I never, NEVER could undo it. I'd have been a thief all my life. Just for an orange! O, I'm glad, glad!

And the sun shone brightly, and the larks sang so merrily, that Tommy felt sure they were glad too.—Sunday School Advocate.

FIELD SPORTS.

'To the best of my belief no boy ever learned any harm while either fishing or shooting, and I would unhesitatingly advise parents to encourage in their sons a taste of field sports and an admiration of all my pastimes. But good, sound common sense should govern the teaching of the young people, and before giving a boy a gun and permission to use it, I would advise a careful study of his character and disposition. If careless and reckless he is no fit guard for a deadly weapon; but if he has sense and caution enough to be trusted there is no good reason why he should not have a gun of his own. Providing he takes proper care of it, makes a cast-iron resolve never to allow the muzzle to cover anything but legitimate game and does not neglect his studies for the pleasure of a tramp field, the use of a gun can do him no possible harm and may do him much good.—Ed. 'Rod and Gun,' in 'Outing' for July.

'TOO MUCHEE BY-AND-BY.' 'What is your complaint against this young man, John?' said the magistrate to the Chinese laundryman who had summoned a young gentleman whose laundry bill was in arrears.

'He too muchee by-and-by,' was the answer of the aggrieved Celestial, who evidently knew what ailed the young man, even if he could not express his views in the most classical English.

There are other youngsters who are troubled with the same complaint—'too muchee by-and-by.' The boy who has to be called four times in the morning, and then is late at breakfast, the boy who says 'In a minute,' when his mother calls him to do chores or run errands; the young gentleman who forgets his promise to bring wood or draw water; the young lady who always 'meant to' do things and have them in order but who never carried out her intentions; the legion of folks always have to be waited for—all these have 'too muchee by-and-by.'

People are likely to sing themselves into perdition with 'the sweet by-and-by.' What they need is the sweet 'now,' which is 'the accepted time and the day of salvation.—Little Christian.

Farm and Household.

ON SOME PRACTICAL ESSENTIALS OF THE HEALTHY HOME. The home is where nearly everybody spends the greater part of his or her life. Health depending on the surroundings of one's life as well as on the person's habits, it is absolutely essential that the home be in a good sanitary condition.

The first thoughts with those about to build apartments to be, in respect to the dwelling, that it shall be a healthy one. A house should be so constructed that it shall be a healthy one. A house should be so constructed that it shall be a healthy one.

Use abundance of window glass to let in sunlight. Not only is the light a great destroyer of disease germs, and, too, a direct promoter of health, but with it all dirt can be so easily removed.—P. E. J. Agriculturist.

LAMPAS IN YOUNG HORSES. Lampas is a name applied by old practitioners to the swollen and congested state of the buccal membrane from the gums back. In adults it is supposed to be symptomatic of some form of indigestion or other constitutional derangement, while in colts and young animals it is supposed to be in some way connected with teething, both normal and abnormal. It has also been regarded by some, as the result of injuries from bits, ropes, etc., and of eating or drinking substances that acted on the part as an irritant. These, however, appear to me to belong to a different class of ailments more local and confined entirely to the parts affected.

Some veterinarians, writing on this subject, have described a class of symptoms that when closely examined hardly harmonize with the treatment they prescribed. For example, it is evident that where lampas is caused by some constitutional trouble, or from teething, that treatment by physicking, lancing and scarring may be reasonable enough, but diseases the result of direct injury to this part of the mouth, one would hardly require treatment of a more soothing or astringent and antiseptic kind, more like what is in cases of simple stomatitis or inflammation of the mouth.

We will therefore describe the treatment that appears to us best.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT. UNLIKE ANY OTHER. FOR INTERNAL OR EXTERNAL USE. Sold by all Druggists.

SAFE THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER RELIABLE PLEASANT BRISTOL'S SARSAPARILLA Taints of the Blood. CURES ALL.

Job Printing, plain and colors in first class style at this Establishment.

LOOK AFTER YOUR SLEEP.

Insomnia is rightfully regarded as one of the marks of an overwrought or worried nervous system, and, conversely, we may take it that sound sleep, lasting for a reasonable period—say from six to nine hours in the case of adults—is a fair test of nervous competence. Various accidental causes may temporarily interfere with sleep in the healthy; but still the rule holds good, and a normal brain reveals its condition by obedience to this daily rhythmic variation. Custom can do much to contract one's natural term of sleep, a fact of which we are constantly reminded in these days of high pressure; but the process is too artificial to be employed. Laborious days, with scanty intervals of rest, go far to secure all the beneficial conditions of insomnia. In alluring hours of sleep, it is impossible to adopt any maximum or uniform custom. The due allowance varies with the individual. Age, constitution, sex, fatigue, exercise, etc., has its share of influence. Young persons and hard workers naturally need and have more sleep than those who neither grow nor labor. Women have by common consent been assigned a longer period of rest than men, and this arrangement, in the event of their doing hard work, is in strict accord with their general physical construction and recurrent infirmities. Absolute rest there is none, and it is of little moment to fix an exact allowance, provided the recurrence of sleep be regular and its amount sufficient for the needs of a given person. So that fatigue does not result in such nerve prostration and irritability as render healthy rest impossible.—London Lancet.

CARE OF COWS' EETS.

Far too little attention is paid to the feet of cattle. During the winter, when stabled, the feet grow to an abnormal length, and when turned out in the spring the points often break off close to the quick, and lameness ensues, causing loss of flesh and milking power. This, in most cases, may easily be prevented by trimming off the points and edges with a sharp chisel and mallet before turning the cattle out to pastures. Should, however, the process have been neglected and the hoofs broken off, loose portions