THE LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day.

The Austro-German armies, which now appear to be working in perfect concert as a result of German organization, giving the Russians little rest, or time to reorganize themselves after the retreat from Galicia, simultaneously with the German effort to reach Warsaw or the Russian line serving that fortress from North, Austrians have attacked along Dniester and have succeeded in crossing the river at several points. General Von Mackensen's army which doubtless has been waiting for Field Marshal Von Hindenburg to move North also comes to the aid. Fighting has been resumed in Southern Poland. In fact there is fighting with more or less severity all along the Russian front, except in Central Poland, where the Russians are in strong positions, that in the opinion of military men it would be impossible to break through. Germans claim to have made further progress with their Northern operations, but with the Russians retiring it is not likely that the main forces have clashed as yet. The combined operations are the most gigantic yet undertaken, the aim being, according to military experts, to squeeze the Russians out of Warsaw and a great slice of the country which they hold north, South and East of that city, and at the same time to attempt the invasion of Bessarabia. So long as these efforts to crush Russia or to take her power offensive continues there is little possibility, military writers say, of Germans attempting any important movement in the West which is believed the Austro-Germans will for a long while require all their available troops in the East. Four German army corps composed of Pomorians, men from Schleswig, are said to have left Thorn to reinforce General Von Hindenburg. The German Crown Prince did try to break through the French lines at Argonne, but it is the opinion of military experts his intention was simply to weaken the French hold of Verdun. The German official statement claims the one result of this offensive was the capture of seven thousand French soldiers in three weeks. On the other hand, however, the French claim to have regained most of the ground which they had been forced to give up, which they state did not exceed four hundred yards in depth. British critics describe the effort of the Crown Prince as costly in the partially successful advance, followed by a counter-offensive which definitely checked his progress. Fighting is now in progress on the Lorraine frontier and in Artois where the French continue the attempt to capture Souchez. Further progress is unofficially reported from Athens to have been made by the Allies in the Gallipoli Peninsula and the Dardanelles campaign, and as the Athens despatches are generally ahead of official reports, this statement is credited here. More important is the news that Roumania declined to accede to the German demand that Roumania allow munitions to pass through that country for Turkey. The Entente Allies announce another victory in Africa, where they captured Magaundere, an important trading centre in the Kamerun.

NO CHANGE IN STRIKE SITUATION

LONDON, To-day.

Yesterday brought no change in the South Wales coal strike situation. Wet weather, which kept the men indoors, prevented the holding of the mass meetings which had been arranged, but a few gatherings took place in small halls where speakers devoted themselves to attacks on colliery owners and the press for outspoken condemnation of their action in quitting work. The Executive Committee of the South Wales Miners' Federation, most members of which opposed the strike, came to London to-day and conferred with Walter Funchman, President of the Board of Trade, who is understood to have made new proposals for the settlement of the trouble which will be considered at a meeting this morning. There is no indication of any weakening on the part of the men, but the impression still prevails that a few days will see the end of the walk-out. It is not believed the introduction of the Munitions War Act can force the men to go back to work for it is impossible to bring 150,000 men before the courts and impose fines for contravening the Act. In fact the resort to this measure it is believed has rather made the situation worse. The demands now include its withdrawal, so far as coal mining is concerned. The supplies of coal on hand is sufficient to prevent any embarrassment for a week or more, as far as the navy is concerned.

A HISTORIC INVITATION.

LONDON, To-day.

The Daily Telegraph, in dealing editorially with the Canadian Premier's presence at a Cabinet meeting under the caption of "A Historic Invitation," says the attendance of Sir Robert Borden at a Cabinet meeting has revolutionized the system by which this country has been governed for more than a century and a half, and revolutionized it less completely the nature of the constitutional relationship between Britain and the Dominion Overseas. The Prime Minister in issuing this historic invitation to Sir Robert Borden fully realizes the consequences that must naturally follow his action in the fulness of time.

PRESIDENT WILSON PREPARING REPLY.

WASHINGTON, To-day.

The Developments in the issue between the States and Germany awaited to-day by the return of President Wilson from Cornish, N.H. The President is taking it up with Secretary of State Lansing and other members of the Cabinet. Several drafts of an answer to Germany's recent reply to the United States have been made. The note will reassert the right of Americans on the high seas. It probably will be brief and to the point. The President is taking it up with Secretary of State Lansing and other members of the Cabinet. Several drafts of an answer to Germany's recent reply to the United States have been made. The note will reassert the right of Americans on the high seas. It probably will be brief and to the point.

FINDING IN LUSITANIA INQUIRY.

LONDON, To-day.

The Court held that no blame for the tragedy, attached either to Captain Turner, the Commander of the vessel or the Cunard Line owners, after having carefully inquired into the circumstances of the disaster, the report finds the loss of the said vessel and lives was due to damage caused to the ship by a torpedo fired by a submarine of German nationality. In the opinion of the Court, the act was done not merely with the intention of sinking the ship, but also with intention of destroying lives of the people on board.

to the allies, the Corriere della Sera points out that America never has refused to supply arms and munitions to the Central Empire, but that Germany and Austria are unable to obtain them from that country because of the superior naval power of the allies. The American market is open to all says the paper, and if the Government were to close it to the allies it would commit a violation of neutrality in favor of Central Empire.

LONDON, To-day.

The Court found the Lusitania was unarmed and carried a cargo of general ammunition consisting only of 5,000 cases of cartridges, from which there was no explosion. No doubt there were mishaps in handling the ropes of boats. Lord Mersey said, but in my opinion there was no incompetence or neglect. Baron Mersey found that Captain Turner was fully advised by the British Admiralty as to the best course to follow, and added that in some respects he did not follow these out. The Court pointed out, however, that Admiralty instructions were not intended to prevent Captain Turner from exercising his individual judgment.

One Aeroplane in Sight

By noon to-day the Newfoundland Aeroplane Fund amounted to $9,570. Probably before we go to press on Monday the cost of one large aeroplane will have been subscribed. Last night the George St. S. Committee of men met to make arrangements for the annual treat, but it was unanimously decided to forego it this year and devoted the cost and what else could be subscribed to the Aeroplane Fund. Mr. Reuben Horwood is having a dial made 27 inches in diameter which will be placed in the windows of the Board of Trade to show the state of the Fund.

STRONG GREEK PROTEST.

The feeling of Greece is shown by the Venizelos newspapers, Patris and Hestia, who have opened a violent campaign against the doings of Baron Schenk, the well-known chief of the German propaganda in Athens. The Hestia writes:

"We appeal to the Government not to permit the further sojourn among us of such vipers (meaning Baron Schenk and his satellites), whose mission it is to bribe Greek consciences and pollute our morals. These miserable vipers have now gone so far as to question the result of the elections, in which the popular will in favor of M. Venizelos was emphatically asserted itself, by boasting that they will cause the majority returned to vanish by the time the Chamber meets on July 20, implying by this that they will attempt to use with success, in Greece, the same dastardly means of bribery and corruption which they tried in Rome, but which failed, and which the Italian Premier, in his scathing speech from the Capitol of Rome, denounced to the world."

BRITISH NAVY WILL WIN FRESH LAURELS WHEN DAY OF BATTLE COMES.

London, July 15.—The belief that the British Navy will win fresh laurels, "whenever the day of battle comes," is expressed by King George in a message to Admiral Jellicoe, after a visit to the grand fleet.

"I have had the pleasure of seeing the greater portion of the officers and men of the fleet," said His Majesty, "I realize the patient and determined spirit with which you have faced long months of waiting and hoping. I know how strong is the comradeship that links all ranks together. Such a happy state of things convinces me that whenever the day of battle comes my Navy will add fresh triumphs to its old and glorious traditions."

MAMMOTH AT CHATHAM.

"Under the direction of the officials of the British Museum, excavations are being made on Government land near Chatham, with the object of securing intact the skeleton of a huge mammoth, which had been accidentally partially exposed during some digging operations there," says the Daily News. "As each part of the remains of the colossal animal is discovered it is placed in plaster of Paris, and carefully packed ready for removal. One tusk which was dug out measured nine feet in length. The work will occupy several weeks."

"We have had isolated bones of the species in England before," said Dr. Andrews, of the British Museum, as he stood in his shirt-sleeves superintending the work of his assistants, "but never associated to the extent that these are. Indications up to the present point to the creature having stood over 13 feet high, and, if it is a mammoth, it will be one of the biggest ever found."

BEING OVERHAULED.—The s.s. Terra Nova is now into dry dock getting a thorough overhauling. Before coming off the stocks she will have placed in position a new stem, which came recently from New York by one of the Red Cross boats.
