Germany and Sea Fisheries.

The following article copied from the New York Fishing Gazette (current issue) will give an idea of German ambition toward the development and promotion of sea fisheries. The figures quoted show that Teutonic Fish Industries are ambitious for a share in the fish trade, and that they are neglecting nothing to forward their determination. "Keen realization of the importance of developing sea fisheries as a source of new capital," says a note of comment in the journal from which the appended article is taken, "is shown in Teutonic activities, and a remarkable showing has already been made. Dividends distributed by German trawling companies for the last fiscal year compare more than favorably with pre-war conditions, while the catch is rapidly regaining its former volume." The article captioned "Germany Rehabilitates Sea Fishery," is as follows:

"Returns published in Germany indicate that every effort is being put forth to re-establish Teutonic deep sea fisheries. In the herring fishery the catch up to October 1919 was nearly ten times that of 1919 and companies carrying on the deep-sea trawling fishery have been making good profits.

"The German Nordsee Steam Fisheries Company of Bremen is increasing its ordinary share capital by 5,000,000 marks and its preference shares by 250,000 marks, the object being to replace the vessels lost by the company during the war. The company's fleet consists at present of 27 steamers. For the business year ending June 30 last the company had a net profit of 1,284,871 marks, and it distributed a dividend of 20 per cent, as compared with 14 per cent, for the previous year. The Cuxhaven Deep-sea Fishing Co. Ltd. had a dividend of 20 per cent, for the year 1919-20, as against 10 per cent, in the previous year, and it has increased its capital from 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 marks. In August the income was nearly 4,000,000 marks and the expenditure 2,000,000 marks. The company is said to have great reserves. In previous balance sheets the value of twenty-six steam trawlers was placed at 3,500,000 marks, while now they are worth ten times that amount. This company was formed in 1908 with the active assistance of Herr Ballin, of the Hamburg-American line, and since 1913 it has paid the following dividends: 7 per cent, 10, 15, 14, 14, 10, and for the last year 20 per cent.

"The decision already taken by the German Food Commission to abandon central control of the importation of salt herrings upon December 15 next is to be adhered to. This, however, is not taken to mean that a condition of unrestricted importation will necessarily arise after that date. The decision apparently relates only to the central organization, and it is expected that conditions of one kind or another will be attached to importations of salt herring into Germany for some time thereafter. There has been much talk in Germany of "Schleierhandel" (i.e., illicit profiteering) in connection with the trade in salt herrings, and public opinion is at present outspoken on the subject.

"At present the importation of herring into Germany is exclusively confined to one company, the Salt Herring Import Company with headquarters at Altona. This company was started last year, and has paid a dividend of 12½ per cent. It is a monopoly. The herring fishing conducted from German ports is merged in a trust or fusion of all the chief interested concerns; this trust controls the distribution and sale of all German-caught herrings, fresh or salt. The shareholders are from Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Great Britain, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Holland. The stock capital is estimated at over 10 million marks. The organizers expect the annual turn over will be 500 million marks."

Star of the Sea Association.

The monthly meeting of the Star of the Sea Association was held yesterday evening in the Armory T. A. Hall. A large number of members were present. President J. T. Martin presided and fifteen applicants were admitted. The quarterly reports from the different departments of the Society were submitted showing improvements in all branches and call for favorable comments for the management. Chairman W. F. Trelogan of the Building Committee, outlined progress of work to date amid much enthusiasm. Rev. Dr. Greene, Spiritual Director of the Society, addressed the meeting, reviewing the splendid work of the various branches, especially the labors of Chairman Trelogan and his assistants, who were very enthusiastic over the important work entrusted to them.

Hockey Notes.

The Saints and Terra Novas clash to-night in the fourth game of the league series.

It is reported that Bob Stick will not be fit enough to play to-night and Gus Herder will take his place on the Terra's defence.

The line-up so far as can be ascertained is:—

Saints	Goal.	Terra Novas
L. Munn	Goal.	Rawlins
Robertson	Defence.	Defence.
Paterson	Centre.	A. Herder
Field	Centre.	Tobin
Coulitas	Right.	Clouston
E. Munn	Left.	Stick
The Spares are:—
Saints—Hennebury, Churchill, Forsyth.
Terra Novas—J. Herder, Fraser, Gosse.

The game is expected to prove an exciting one. I shouldn't think, however, that goal scoring will be fast enough to permit of my winning the sweep in which I drew forty goals. What a hope!

Quite a lot of comment is heard about town concerning the Healdian-Son's game which will be played Wednesday night.

It is reported that Mr. C. E. A. Jeffrey, the Healdian coach and delegate, will referee to-night's game.

The doors of the rink now open on the nights of hockey games at 6.30 p.m. to avoid congestion at the entrance.

Charged With Murder.

ACCUSED REMANDED TO PENITENTIARY.

On Saturday afternoon the man Nolan brought in by train from Avondale in connection with the death of his daughter, aged nine years, was arraigned before Judge Morris on a charge of murder. Accused was not asked to plead and as the Crown was not yet ready to proceed, he was remanded to the penitentiary until preparations for the preliminary enquiry could be made.

Fish Regulations Responsible

At a meeting of the creditors of a business firm of Placentia held in the Board of Trade Rooms on Saturday, it was decided to allow the business to continue under the supervision of two trustees. It would seem that the Fish Regulations were again in this case responsible for the difficulties into which the company finds itself. Last year a cargo of fish, which could have been sold at a profit, was held up because the offer was not in conformity with the regulation price and in consequence the cargo was spoiled, entailing practically a total loss.

Police Court.

Landlord Fined.—A landlord was charged with having a defective chimney in a house owned by him. He was represented by Mr. Jack Higgins. Sergeant Nugent said that when he visited the house he found it in a bad condition. Owing to the chimney on the first floor having fallen in, there was no way of lighting a fire and the people living there were destitute. Defendant was fined $15, but if repairs were effected by Thursday next the fine would be remitted.

Fr. Sheehan Preaches Eloquent Sermon.

The sermon in the Roman Catholic Cathedral last night was delivered by the Rev. P. Sheehan, of St. Patrick's. The Rev. preacher took for his text "The seed is the Word of God," and called attention to the fact that the "Sower" is none other than God Himself, the Truth, the Eternal Word, the "Ground," the hearts and souls and minds of men. The seed, the spoken and the written Word. Our Divine Lord Himself condescended to explain some of His parables; others He left to be explained by His followers in the sacred Scriptures. These treasures we are privileged to read. The ancient Christian poets based their writings on the sacred Scriptures. It is a sad fact that even in this "Reading Age" when the words of the forests are cut down and reduced to pulp to satisfy the demand of the reading world that so few read the Bible, the Old Testament and the Prophets. This is because faith is so strong and vigorous as it should be. Father Sheehan then exhorted the faithful to read a little of the Bible and sacred Scriptures every day, especially during the Holy Season of Lent, but these must be read in the proper spirit, the "ground" must be ploughed by repentance and the furrows turned by contrition, so that when the seed falls it will fructify and burst forth into blossoms that will bear fruit for a happy eternity, and they will be those spoken of in to-day's Gospel, "Who hear the Word of God and keep it." Benediction was given by the Rev. Dr. Carter.—COM.

Need for Immediate Action.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—With a heart, full of gratitude for the letter published by the Editor of the Morning News in that paper his morning, I would like to add to his few words of mine. On Saturday last I stood at the foot of Theatre Hill, conversing with Mr. Isaac Morris, on the same subject as published this morning in the editorial column of the News. I asked him if he would not write a few lines in reference to same, as I wanted an abler pen than mine, on such an important subject. I said to him, "Mr. Morris, I wish somebody would take this question up," and Mr. Editor, Heaven must, certainly have been listening, as nobody could have succeeded in placing facts before the public as the Editor of the Morning News in his editorial this morning. I am sure you can grasp how my heart is breaking over those I have got to respect and love, knowing they are out of employment. Yes, sir, the name of Workman has a sacred halo around it for me. I would be willing, if it was in a just cause to sink to my neck in blood for one of our working people, because I know what they have had to contend with—suffering and care, and they have had to weep alone, but not now, for their hour has come.

They demand respect for themselves and families. I went over to Miss Benedict's Saturday night, and passed her in five minutes, whom I asked her to help. This fund is now closed, and she informed me after promising very kindly to assist the names I had given her, that only five dollars could be given each case.

Nor, sir, five dollars will only get a quarter of a ton of coal. I consider a good box of groceries should be included with the coal. You want something to eat even though you may be warm. Mr. Editor, I am in a position to tell you, there are people needing assistance, but who do not want publicity. I have been helping through the medium of the Ladies' Branch of the N.I.W.A. many cases the past three weeks, who would rather starve than receive charity.

Thanking you Sir for publishing these few words of mine, I remain,

"The Friend of the Working Classes,"

Stowaways Brought Back.

S.S. Lady of Gaspé, which arrived in port this morning brought two lads, Kennedy and Snelgrove, who had stowed away on the last outward trip of the ship. The boys were detained on the ship while she was at Halifax, and it is said put the captain to considerable expense. They will be arraigned before the Magistrate this afternoon.

In this new year of '21 which has so lately been begun. We wish you all prosperity And as such strict sobriety Is no enforced on you and me We sing the praises of Pheasant Tea.

For if the water's piping hot And Golden Pheasant's in the pot You'll not all the wine and things Of which the Persian poet sings And hot or cold if you will take Like tea which is a drink for kings.

Champagne the rich alone can buy. The price of Grape Juice too is high. But just a pinch of tea will make A drink that any thirst will slake. And hot or cold if you will take 'Twill never cause you pain or ache.

Now Home, Sweet Home could never be One half so sweet devoid of tea. For, sitting 'round the festive pot All cares and troubles are forgot. In stately halls or humble cot Tea is a drink that all have got.

So, for this universal drink The best is none too good we think. As Golden Pheasant is the best. We ask you, give it now a test. You'll find that 'twill be drunk with zest.

And you will praise it like the rest. FERGUSON HOLNESS & CO., LTD.,

Goes to Jail
As Refuge From Mother-in-Law.
"My mother-in-law came to visit us six weeks ago. Then she told us she was going to remain and live with us. My life has been a torment ever since. I want you to look me up and tell her you will not release me until she goes home." So said Hobart Olson as he made his plea to Lieut. Daly at the Englewood police station. Olson had tried every way to get rid of her, but she would not go home. The lieutenant looked him up.

This is not a time for the word Charity, rather would I put it, "Helping one another" through this season of depression of trade. The Ladies' Branch of the N.I.W.A. believes in not letting the left hand know what the right hand doeth, in a crisis like this. I know many cases, sir, that if my purse was not ordered by Divine Providence to be so small, that willingly would I take from my hand money sufficient to help out until factories would again resume work.

Girls supporting their little brothers and sisters.

Girls' boarding without father or mother or friends.

Enough said Sir, for you to take in the serious condition of things. I have had to swallow the awful feeling of the consciousness of an empty purse, as these have appealed to me for help. Again I repeat, my heart is breaking, Mr. Editor, I could bring you with me to many cases, and I am sure your heart would be softened enough to say to me: "Mrs. Earle I do not wonder that you say, and feel, that this cold, cruel world is too much for you."

Mr. Editor, in my official capacity as President of the Ladies' Branch may I say, "I believe that the members of the Executive Government should take at once this question up, and place a fund, under the direction of whom they consider competent to deal with the question, or Sir, before this winter is up—and I think I ought to be in a position to know a thing or two—something will be done."

We hear from our pulpits a lot of talk about Bolshevism and Revolution, but Sir, I would like one of these preachers to get up in these same pulpits with an empty stomach himself, and then hear his discourse on Bolshevism and Revolution.

Listen what the Carpenter's Son of Galilee has to say about this question. Our Divine Lord was forced to say the awful words: "I was hungry and ye fed me not; I was thirsty and ye gave me no drink; forasmuch as ye did it not unto one of the least of these my brethren ye did it not to me."

Mr. Editor, this is no time for talk. I say, For God's sake, let us realize the position. I realize the position, and others in this city, who perhaps may look on Mrs. Earle as an extremist, will realize it soon, while people remain hungry.

I say, after great thought, the only way I see out of the difficulty is for our Executive Government or as many members of it as are in the city to meet, and place a fund into the hands of competent persons to distribute without publicity.

Thanking you Sir for publishing these few words of mine, I remain,
