ARMY ENTERPRISE IN LONDON

As Outfitted and Commanded by Commander Booth.

Commander Booth, in the last edition of the War Cry, has some interesting things to say of London and the army's work here. Among other extracts are the following:

"In no city in the Dominion is the Salvation Army more splendidly and advantageously entrenched than behind the walls of our new Citadel in London. The corps is new established in its new quarters. The barracks, surveyed by me the other day, I give it my fairer opinion, is not to be estimated for its size by any building in the army in any part of the world. Perhaps the crowning victory of the whole lies in the fact that we have a barracks, seating 800 people, with a beautiful week-night hall, with rising seats on the most approved style, accommodating 300, right in the heart of the city on one of the principal thoroughfares, and all at a rental of $8 a week. The popularity of the hall is attested by the fact that since it was opened, the corps has had larger congregations than for years gone by, and I confidently bespeak a magnificent winter campaign for the city."

"Nor is this all. Not only has the corps reaped the advantages of this transaction, but the Salvation Army as a whole. In addition to finding quarters for the Provincial assistant, the field officers, and the janitor, besides renting off other portions of the building, we have accommodation for what comprises, now it is fitted out, one of the neatest and best ordered food and shelter depots in the world. On the top floor there are elegant quarters for the efficient in charge. Then come the airy and spacious dormitories for poor men. Then a commodious restaurant with its appurtenances and roomy kitchen, to say nothing of reading and lounging rooms, and commodious lavatories. Alongside we have our wood yard with every convenience for employing the poor and for pushing an active little business. Truly, the experiment of a shelter in a place like London is to be tried under the most happy conditions, not the least of which is the appointment of Adjutant Miller and his wife to the command of the undertaking. They leave the city this week to prepare for the opening, which the commandant hopes to carry into effect at the end of October. Meanwhile will everyone pray for this undertaking, which has been launched solely for the glory of God, that it might be used for the salvation of many of the poorest of that city. Why not?"

No matter what your trade may be An herbalist or better Or something else, I say to thee If you have aught the matter, Don't take the old style griping pills That rather cause than cure your ills; But take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, for they are very small and pleasant to take and are prompt and effective in their operation. They cure indigestion, sick headache, biliousness, disordered liver and habitual constipation.

Mr. John Haggart will build a fine residence on Sugar Island, six miles from Gananoque. A dock will be built this winter.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrector, Thomas' Electric Oil. It may be used about the slightest apprehension of any danger than salutary consequences. Coughs, colds, catarrhs, earache, bruises, cuts and sunburn to its action.
