THE FALL SHOW AT LAMBETH

Good Display of Exhibits Witnessed by a Fair Crowd.

Some of the Prize-Winners—The Races—Notes on the Ground.

The fall show of the Westminster Agricultural Society was held at Lambeth yesterday. Early in the day the officers of the society were on hand making arrangements, and before the hour of noon everything was in order, and the crowd began to arrive. By two o'clock the hotel was crowded, while all available space was taken up with buggies and wagons. The day opened very promising, but after dinner the high wind made traveling very disagreeable. Those who attended from the city—and they were a large number—had to face the southwest wind, and the continual traffic on the highway swept clouds of dust across the paths, and at times hid everything from view. The fair grounds are just back of the village, and are somewhat sheltered.

Opinions differed as to how the attendance compared with former years. The officers said that the receipts were ahead of last year, while several farmers were heard to express themselves that the crowd was not one-half as large. Towards four o'clock the grounds were filled, and no doubt the "Westminster" will have a balance on the right side after all expenses have been paid.

The exhibits in some departments are better, while others are behind those of previous years. The display of fruit was not nearly as large. In former years the fruit department has been one of the best and has equalled any of the township fairs. No reason was given why this department was allowed to fall behind, but it is probably on account of the somewhat bad season throughout that section. The display of paintings was excellent, and was the best ever seen in the history of the fair. The show of roots was most commendable, their quality and size being second to none. One of the best displays was made by R. S. Nichol of Humber. Several mangels shown by him were of enormous size. Mr. Nichol took several prizes. Mr. Murray also made a meritorious display in this department. He captured several red ducks. In fact, both these gentlemen walked off with most of the root prizes. A peculiar-shaped mangel shown by Mr. Nichol caused much interest.

The display of ladies' work in the hall was excellent. The exhibit of bread and butter was very large. One noticeable and commendable feature was the entire absence of any jealousy on the part of defeated exhibitors. It seemed to be a family affair, and the good feeling that prevailed was the subject of general remark.

THE RACES.

The sports began about 3 o'clock, and every event was fully filled. In the special entry, open to all roadsters, three heats only were required. In the first heat Dr. Routledge's Duke broke badly and he could not recover. An almost neck-and-neck finish was made by Jennie Rooker and Bonnie Pacer. Dr. Routledge captured the next two heats quite easily. Summary:

A Plain Talk To Women

Almost all the sufferings that women endure can be traced to irregularities of the delicate and sensitive feminine organism. A healthy woman is never irregular. It is the pale, weak, nervous woman who suffers with headaches, backaches, bearing down feelings and gloomy forebodings when the monthly action comes on.

Set the nerves right and the pains and aches will disappear. They will be no more irregularities when the whole body is under control of healthy nerves.

The most successful restorative that science has ever devised for exhausted nerves is

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

and it has proven so wonderfully beneficial to women that it is now considered specific for ailments peculiar to women.

Besides restoring and revitalizing the nerves, Dr. Chase's Nerve Food makes new red corpuscles in the blood, rounds out the form, and gives new vitality and elasticity to every movement. 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edman & Co., Toronto.

BOY SHOT DOWN BY A SIMCOE LAD

An Affair That May Have a Fatal Ending.

Suicide at Rat Portage and Another at Hamilton.

Simcoe, Sept. 23.—Two lads named Barber, living in the town, desired to fight with another lad named Stewart, also of this place. Stewart's power being smaller than either of the Barber lads, declined to enter into any "scrapping" contest. One of the Barber lads ran home and procured a gun, and then told Stewart that if he didn't fight he would shoot. Stewart still declined, whereupon the Barber lad gave him the contents of the gun in the face. It is thought the lad will not recover.

STONE LODGED IN WINDPIPE.
Toronto, Sept. 23.—Frank White, the 12-year-old son of Mr. F. White, 327 Seaton street, is dangerously ill at the Sick Children's Hospital with inflammation of the lungs. On Monday the boy was eating plum, and one of the stones lodged in his windpipe. He was operated on on Thursday, and the plum-stone was found lodged in the windpipe near the entrance to the lungs. It was removed, and the lad was thought to be on the way to recovery until yesterday, when inflammation of the lungs developed, and now his recovery is doubtful.

SUICIDE AT RAT PORTAGE.
Rat Portage, Ont., Sept. 23.—Hans Larson, a Norwegian, committed suicide in his room on South Main street. He placed the butt of a musket near his head and fired the gun by pressing a stick against the trigger. The charge entered the body near the abdomen, causing almost instant death. He had suffered for some time from an incurable disease, and it is supposed that brooding over this led him to take his life.

SLEPPED ON A CHESTNUT.
Toronto, Sept. 23.—John Liddard, caretaker of the Mercantile Chambers, at 18 Wellington street, was going upstairs yesterday when he slipped upon a chestnut. He fell down several steps and sustained a fracture of the right hip. Dr. Atkins attended to his injury, and he was removed to the General Hospital.

A LABORER DROWNED.

SUICIDE AT HAMILTON.
Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 23.—Edward Hayes, of No. 37 New street, a married man, who cut his throat with a razor on Sunday night last, with suicidal intent, died yesterday afternoon in the city hospital. ## CROPS IN LAMBTON

An Advertiser Correspondent Reviews the Conditions Around Petrolia.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:
Having resided in Westminster and Delaware townships for nearly a quarter of a century previous to the spring of 1899, when I removed with my family near Petrolia on a farm of 200 acres, I purchased from Mr. C. McKenzie, and as I am pretty well acquainted with the majority of the people in the two townships I have named, no doubt quite a number would like to know what sort of a place this is, etc. The land is very good and pretty level back from Bear Creek a small distance. Government ditches have been constructed all through the township of Enniskillen, so that crops of all kinds can be raised very successfully. The samples of grain raised in this township are as good as they are anywhere in Western Ontario.

The land is remarkably adapted to the growing of mangolds and carrots, wheat, oats and hay, and when the farmers of this part of the country go more in for winter feeding in place of selling nearly all of their coarse grains, the better it will be for themselves and the land they occupy. As to the water supply for stock, most farmers have dug rock wells or more, that dry weather does not affect. This summer has been very dry, and the grass has been terribly burned up, but the stock has not suffered for the want of water during the long dry spell. Rain fell on Monday last—the first rain we have had since the beginning of July of any account. I had 95 acres of hay, 70 acres of it was very heavy, growing two tons or more to the acre. The wheat here suffered from the same cause that it did in other parts of Ontario, namely, deep freezing. In my opinion, with one exception, this part of the country compares favorably with any part of Western Ontario. The exception is the mud, which is a little too affectionate after a rain. JOHN H. BURNARD.

David Breckenridge, manager of the Cornwall (Ont.) Manufacturing Company, is dead.

KIPLING'S LATEST

A New Poem Apropos of the Transvaal Crisis.

Entitled "The King"—The Poem "Sloven, Sullen, Savage, Secret."

London, Sept. 23.—These stanzas are part of a new poem, entitled "The King," apropos of the Transvaal crisis, written by Rudyard Kipling for the London Times:

All we have of freedom—all we use of knavery—
This our fathers bought for us, long and long ago.
Ancient Right, unnoticed as the breath we draw,
Leave us to die by no man's leave, underneath the Law.

So they bought us freedom, not at little cost;
Wherefore must we watch the King, lest our gain be lost.
Over all things certain, this is sure indeed,
Suffer not the old King, for we know the breed.

Howso' great their clamor, whatso'er their claim,
Suffer not the old King, under any name.
Here is naught unproven—here is naught to learn,
It is written what shall fall if the King return.

Cruel in the shadow, crafty in the sun,
Far beyond his borders shall his teaching run.
Sloven, sullen, savage, secret, uncontrollable,
Laying on a new land evil of the old.

Here is naught unproven, here is nothing hid,
Step for step, and word for word, so the old Kings did;
Step by step, and word by word, who is ruled may read,
Suffer not the old Kings, for we know the breed.

All the rights they promise, all the wrong they bring,
Stewards of the judgment, suffer not the King.

STOMACHS THAT WON'T WORK
That Retain the Food and Refuse to Digest It, Make the Head Heavy and the Nerves Weak, Need Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

There is a cure for dyspepsia. Sufferers who have tried noxious nostrums will probably be skeptical, but skepticism vanishes when Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are tried. Whether the trouble is dyspepsia of long standing, or merely a simple case of indigestion, relief is prompt and pronounced. The less the trouble the fewer tablets need be taken.

Heaviness after eating, sour stomach, as indicated by belching, fatigue with slight exertion, or with no exertion at all, disturbed sleep, nervousness, constipation, depression, "blues," these things can commonly be set down as symptoms of dyspepsia. And dyspepsia is merely indigestion in an aggravated form.

By promoting perfect digestion, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets produce strong nerves, restful, refreshing sleep, pure blood and good, sound, healthy flesh. They make the skin clear, the eyes bright, the mind cheerful.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a medicine, and more than a medicine. They digest the food and make it easy of assimilation, and they relieve the inflamed, diseased condition of the membranous linings and the glands of the stomach and bowels. They help the digestive organs over the hard places, and pump them into a healthy, active condition. They effect a quick and permanent cure. You don't have to continue taking them forever, still it is well to have a box handy and take one at the first return of the trouble.

Perfectly well people are made sick by eating too much, or unwholesome food, but not if they take a tablet after eating. Treatment with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets does not necessitate dieting or any change of habits. They digest the proper food and act up on the other kind in such a way as to make it pass off quickly and harmlessly. You may eat and drink what you like as much as you like if you take a tablet afterwards.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50c for full-sized package.
