

BELL OUTPLAYED CALLANDER, WON CANADIAN QUOITING CHAMPIONSHIP

Londoner Was Good at All Stages of the Game—Result Never in Doubt.

At the grounds of the Forest City Quoting Club on Saturday afternoon, James S. Bell, of this city, won the championship of the Dominion, which carries with it the handsome silver trophy presented to the club five years ago by Hon. C. S. Hyman.

Great things were expected of Jim Bell this year, and all expectations were realized. For three months he had been playing a game such as he never played in the years gone by, and his London friends were satisfied that if he had Callander to meet in the finals he would win.

At no stage of the game was the result in serious doubt. Callander started out strong, but his strength only lasted for five ends. At the end of the fifth, the score was 7 to 3 in favor of the Toronto man. This game was closed by Bell in the next five ends.

Both players did equally well from the tenth to the fifteenth end, and then Bell started to pull away from his opponent.

Bell was at a disadvantage—the same disadvantage he always experienced when playing with Callander—in that the latter throws a left hand quoit while Bell has a right hand delivery. This renders it especially difficult for Bell to make good when hard shots are wanted.

Saturday's game was for sixty-one points. At the twenty-fifth end Bell had nineteen to his credit, a lead of two over Callander, and then for eleven ends the Toronto man did not get a look-in, failing to score once, while Bell was running his own figure up to 24.

At forty-five ends Bell was twenty to the good, when Callander settled down and pulled a slice off Bell's lead, which was only fourteen at the end of the fifteenth. This was, however, ten in the next five ends, and when Callander der at the sixtieth end stood only five to the bad there were those among the spectators who imagined they saw defeat for Jimmy Bell. Instead, the good work of the Toronto man seemed only to act as an inspiration for Bell, who took every one of the next seven ends, and at the close of the seventeenth had fifteen to the good. This was increased one at the twenty-fifth, when Bell eased up, the score then standing 59 to 43 in his favor, leaving him only two to go.

When Bell scored his first shot in the 32nd end, Callander had a total of 51, giving Bell a lead of 10.

The victory of the Londoner gave immense satisfaction to the spectators, who cheered him heartily. George Young acted as marker for Callander, and Wm. Wiley, sen., set the papers for Bell. These two have acted in this capacity in every championship match that Bell and Callander have played.

The tournament was brought to a close on Saturday evening. It was expected that the play would have to be continued this morning, but the management of the club and the players from outside were anxious to have the games finished before Sunday, and the matches in the third series were pulled off with the aid of lanterns, the last quoit not being pitched until 11 o'clock at night.

The winners in the tournament, which was refereed by Mr. James Lewis, are: First series—First, Bell, 525 and the Hyman trophy; second, Callander, 520; third, Fox, 510; fourth, Errington, 510. First Race to Iroquois; Defeats the Challenger Rochester, Aug. 12.—The Iroquois of Rochester won the first race of the series for the Canada's cup today at Charlotte by defeating the Temeraire of Toronto, in a race around a nine-mile triangular course.

The Iroquois finished twelve minutes and 50 seconds ahead of the Canadian challenger. During the race the wind varied from ten miles an hour at the start to almost a calm near the finish.

When the preparatory gun was fired at 10:50 o'clock both boats began to jockey for the start and the Iroquois crossed the line fifteen seconds ahead of the Temeraire at 11 o'clock. American boat took the windward position and was followed by the challenger, which tried to blanket the leader, but failed. The Temeraire seemed to be pointing higher than her rival and finally got the lead when she broke out her balloon jib.

On the first leg of the last half the Iroquois pointed higher than her rival. The wind was following the challenger, which shifted from southwest to nearly northwest. At the outer buoy the Iroquois was a minute and 30 seconds in the lead, but both boats had run into a fog.

While the yachts were sailing the second leg of the last half the breeze decreased to four miles an hour and in the light wind the American boat distanced her rival easily.

At the craft were practically becalmed and as they drifted the Iroquois seemed to lose some of her advantage.

About 2:30 a fresh breeze from the southwest sprang up and the shift of wind gave the challenger an advantage. As the boats were nearing the last turn, the wind was blowing eight miles an hour. Mabbett was well ahead of Jedd at the turn into the last leg of the course. The Iroquois was close hauled while Temeraire seemed to have suffered from another change of wind and was coming with main boom out wide. Two minutes later the Canadian was able to flatten their main-sail, but the Iroquois lost none of her lead and came across the line fully three minutes ahead. The official time:

Boat.	Start.	First Second	Mark.	Home.
Iroquois	11:00:15	11:24:15	11:54:48	12:30:37
Temeraire	11:00:28	11:25:14	11:55:49	12:31:46

PERRIN NINE "PIE" FOR THE LONDONS

Biscuit Men Were Never in Saturday's Game—Rockets Beat Labels.

There were bunches of hitting in the two City League games at Tecumseh park on Saturday afternoon. The Londons won from the Perrins in easy fashion, while the Rockets won from the Blue Labels by better hitting.

The first game was London all the way. It was a good exhibition until the fifth, when the Perrins went to pieces, and the Londons were in clover after that. Bennett's slow ball was pie for the Old Boys, and Clarke was also good with men on bases. Perrins had no pinch hitters, and lost many chances because hits did not come when wanted. The Londons fielded very fast, while the Perrins were very bad fielders. Fleming and Wanless hit well.

A Snappy Game.
The second was a fine game of ball, snappy, and full of good fielding and hitting. Costello made the first home run of the season when he hit Smith for a beautiful drive between center and left. The ball was lost in the weeds, and Costello easily made the steal. Arthurs also had a three bagger in almost the same place, but the ball was recovered faster, and Ar-thurs was held on third. Ward had a terrible drive for two bases to left pitched by Bennett's boys on Saturday.
The Rockets got busy in the third, when a base on balls, four hits and an error allowed three runs to score. The Labels had hard work hitting Wilson, but they got to him in the fifth, and might have done much better had they coached. They scored two runs on a base on balls and three hits. The Rockets got one in the sixth on Costello's home run. They added two more in the seventh on a Chicago error. The Labels had three-base hit, and W. Arthurs' out.

The Labels got another in the seventh. R. Penwarden hit safely, stole second and while W. Wilson was dicrowing with his mask, stole third. The crowd gave Wilson the laugh. Pen-warden was on first on a base on balls.
The rain came on and the game was called. Good fielding was done by both teams. The Score:
