FAMILY ROW CURED IN LOCAL POLICE COURT

Caesar McLeod Charged William McRoberts With Assaulting Him.

There was a fine washing of dirty family linen at this morning's session of the police court, when Caesar Mc-Leod, of 484 St. James street, charged his brother-in-law, William McRoberts, who lives next door to him, with assaulting him on Tuesday evening by striking him in the mouth and loosening his teeth.

McRoberts was found guilty, and bound over in the sum of $200 to keep the peace, and be of good behavior for six months, and was ordered to pay $2 costs.

The two men have been unfriendly for some time, and about six weeks ago McRoberts threatened to smash McLeod's head with a shovel because McLeod was over in his yard digging up the water tap.

Consulted Lawyers. McLeod claimed the water tap was on his property, and that he had a right to dig it up. Both men consulted lawyers after this row, and as a result a survey was made. The surveyor found that McLeod's fence was some distance in an McRoberts' prop-Last Tuesday night McRoberts went out and started to tear the fence

McLeod came out and dared him to do it. McRoberts and his wife claim that McLeod hit McRoberts across the face, knockir; his pipe out of his mouth

Mrs. McLeod, who is McRoberts' sister, and her husband, both denied this in the most strenuous manner, and said that McRoberts came rusling through the hole in the fence that he had made, and struck McLeod in the mouth, and in the course of his rush knocked his aged mother, Mrs. Ann McRoberts, down and blackened her eye and injured her hip.

A Lot of Savages. "Rou behave like a lot of savages," ly believe that church-going people in city like this can act so unchristian-It is often said that the bitterest fights are those between blood relations, and it looks in this case as rible state of affairs between members of a family. I will bind McRoberts over to keep the peace."

McRoberts immediately asked to bound over also. This Magistrate Love refused to do.
