Coming to Victoria.

Professor Tyndall, the famous thought reader, is now on his way to the coast, en route to Jupan, via the C.P.R., and will remain in Victoria for a day or two. He is second to none as a student and exponent of mesmerism and so-called second sight.

By the recent removal of the import duty on raw sugar for the United States, Canadian refiners have been given a decided advantage. In the past local wholesalers have bought in San Francisco at importing price in bond, bringing their purchases in at an advantage. Owing to the operations of the combines in the States, local sugar will be cheaper now than imported.

A Pleneer's Grave.

Many of the oldest residents of the city made it a point to accompany to the grave the remains of the late pioneer, D. Penny, who was buried at Ross Bay cemetery, yesterday afternoon. The funeral took place from the R. E. Church, where services were held by Rev. Mr. Dobbs, and the pall bearers were: Messrs Carr, Walsh, Haynes, Maguire, Perkins, and Elliott.

Musical novelties are provided in abundance, and the bill of fare on the whole is a good one.

Good Salmon Prospects.

One of the pioneer salmon canners who has just returned from the north states that are preparations are under way on the Naas and Skeena for a big pack this year. The prospect of a heavy run is based principally upon the fact of the heavy snowfall in the mountains during the winter. As the Indians say, and the experience of the past we has proved them good prophets, "hyion anow" means "hyiou salmon;" and there has been an unusually heavy snowfall during the past winter. A Broken shaft.

A telephone message from the Saanich mills, yesterday, announced that the Victoria steamer Lottie was lying off Dorsey Island with a broken shaft, waiting for assistance. She was on her way down from Nanaimo with a scow load of coal when the accident happened. The steamer North Star was sent to bring her in, and the probability is that the Lottie will be at once beached and repaired.

She sailed to-day with a large cargo and a full passenger list. Among the passengers on her were several tourists, who intend to spend several months in the North. The vessel will stop at Puget Sound ports.

A young man named Alfred Gammon, employed as teamster by Mr. Geo. Stelly, was kicked by a horse yesterday morning, while he was harnessing the animal. The horse must have trampled upon Gammon's foot, for the limb was badly torn. Dr. Morrison dressed the wounded foot, and the unfortunate man was removed to his residence on Vancouver street. His injujuries are not considered dangerous unless blood poisoning should set in.

The funeral of the late Wm. McNiff left the residence on View street, near St. Andrews Pro-cathedral, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. A large number of friends of the deceased followed the remains to the grave. The casket of black walnut beautifully mounted, was literally covered with floral offerings. Mass was celebrated in the cathedral by the Rev. Father Nicolaye, and the burial service was read by Rev. Father Mandart. The pallbearers were Messra. Wm. Harrison, Geo. Thompson, H. Behnsen, E. Pferdner, Jos. Loewen and J. Walsh. The fact that so many people followed the remains to the grave is one, amongst the many proofs, that the late Mr. McNiff was beloved and respected by all who knew him. The pioneers were present in full force as a last mark of respect to one who always took such an interest in the society, and filled the president's chair more than one term.

The Lillie L. is still in Port Townsend. It was expected she would put to sea on Sunday, but the men could not be controlled, and it was decided to remain until the trouble could be adjusted in some way.

E. H. Ladd, brother of the owner of the vessel, says that he applied to the shipping comnissioner, on Saturday, for instructions, and was told to apply to the cutter Wolcott for irons and use them on the men, but the officers on the Wolcott refused to let them have the irons until definitely instructed, on Saturday night, to do so. The men were then put in irons, but they broke them during the night. Deputy Commissioner G. B. The Kreutzer Sonata.

At one of the concerts given here by Musin, in which he is supported by this eminent company, he will play the celebrated "Kreutzer Sonata." This piece is alone will be the means of attracting a very large number of Victoria musical people, and also those who do not claim to be musical. This mow celebrated sonata was composed by Boethoven and dedicated to Kreutzer, a French violinist of the Sixteenth century. The great musician and composer, Beethoven, did not know, when he arranged the composition, that it would form a name for the world renowned novel. The music of this sonata, as played by Musin, is said to be most enchanting. Both the public and critics have raved over it wherever Musin has played it.
