Lightning's Strange Freak.

Santa Fe, N. M., July 13.— the story of a remarkable play of lightning at an isolated point in Chaves county on Sunday has just reached here. During a thunderstorm lightning struck the house of W. E. Rail, a homesteader, and H. M. Rutherford, who, with the family was at the Rail home was killed. Following this at intervals of one minute eleven more bolts struck the house, each shocking an occupant, though none fatally. There were 13 persons in the house at the time of the storm. The last stroke set the house on fire, but the flames were extinguished by Mrs. Rail with buckets of water.

Vancouver Board of Trade Instructs Delegation to Wait on Government Regarding me Provision For Settlers

A deputation from the Vancouver Board of Trade will wait on Premier McBride tomorrow to request the Government, through him, to extend their program for the survey of land open for settlement. Although there are more parties in the field now than ever before at on time, Vancouver's citizens are of the opinion that the prospect of an unusually large influx is so sure that the authorities should increase their activity in providing for the newcomers. They also are anxious to lay some suggestions before the Premier relative to the encouragement of the settlement of provincial agricultural lands at present uncultivated.

WEATHER BUREAUS IN THE KOOTENAYS

Three New Stations Were Established By E. Baynes Reed In His Tour of the Interior

The establishment of three new meteorological stations was the chief result of an extensive tour of the Kootenays from which E. Baynes Reed, the local agent, has just returned. He visited in all twenty-three centres and everywhere found the work in good shape and things, generally, most satisfactory. The points which have been given weather pureaus are Needles, situated on the Arrow Lakes, Athlamer, a small town on the upper Columbia River, and Crambrook.

Mr. Reed explains that these extensions will not materially improve the Northwest system. They have been provided more for the benefit of the respective districts of which they are the centres than for the provision of better general facilities.

Throughout the Kootenays, according to Mr. Reed, business is good and prospects bright. Farmers and merchants are in a happy frame of mind. While the heavy winter of 1993-09 has resulted in a poor crop the financial loss has not, apparently, been as great as anticipated and moreover, they are looking forward to an improvement next year.

Among the effects are nothing which has led to a discovery of the man's identity, but there is a letter written and not posted which reads in part:

"My Dear Wife—I, received your last letter, and dear, I am happy to know that you are well and think of me all the time. I have been to the Klondyke but there was little work, so I have returned to Vancouver. I am sending you with this a postoffice order for five peunds. I am working now and getting $50 a month—

The letter is hardly decipherable in parts, as the water has worn and forn the pages. No sign of a money order, has been found, and it is supposed the man wrote the letter and intended to get the order and post it later. The letter is dated March 13.

There is a possibility that the body may be that of Thos. Anglesey, a fireman of the tug Celtic, who fell overboard at 1:50 o'clock on the morning of April 14, while going up the ladder at the Evans-Coleman dock. It is dressed in a blue serge suit, grey sweater and new shoes. This was the way the negro who fell overboard was dressed, and this fact led to the mistake in identification yesterday.
