TEACHERS PAID.
The money to pay teachers' salaries has been obtained on a note signed by some of the trustees. Perhaps the citizens having learned a lesson by standing back and allowing town elections to go by default, will take the trouble, next spring, to see to the election of a Council that will manage the finances in such a way as to preserve the town's credit. The situation is a disgrace to all concerned.—Graham World.

CHRISTMAS AT THE HOTEL DIEU HOSPITAL

It is well understood that in a hospital all the patients who are on the convalescent list must be at home for Christmas, but alas! all are not on this list, therefore the question that confronted the Sisters at the hospital on the approach of Christmas was "How can we make Christmas happy for all the inmates, patients, nurses and help their own pleasure and joy on Christmas consisting, even since their attachment to the institution in "making others happy."

Christmas eve was busy with preparation. The wards, rooms and corridors decorated in red and green with Christmas trees here and there changing the aspect of the surroundings and made one forget the regular hospital discipline.

Midnight mass in the chapel was followed by the singing of Christmas carols in the corridors of the wards which made all feel that Christmas had really come. Then a quiet came, which permitted all to enjoy a good sleep, the more relaxed as the eve was a day of excitement and expectation.

At breakfast, dinner and tea the trays tastefully decked, containing "something delicious" for each specially prepared diet were wheeled in on their decorated carriers, while music from the corridors resounded throughout the wards.

And last but not least Old Santa passed late in the afternoon on his well loaded special cart drawn by six nurses, giving as he went a small present to each patient, even was Corinne and Lois were not forgotten, and as he passed a sound of merry laughter arose from every sick bed.

The nurses had their own Christmas tree, and their dining room and tables decked for the occasion, left nothing to be desired in the way of tempting the appetite, and a quiet pleasant evening was spent at the nurses home.

A word of thanks would not be amiss here, to all the good friends of the Hotel Dieu, who by their thoughtful gifts helped to make the day a happy one, for I think I can safely say that no one was lonely in the Hotel Dieu Hospital on Christmas Day.

WILL VOTE ON BOND ISSUE

The Council Favors Borrowing $200,000 for Permanent Streets and Water.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held in the Fire Hall, Friday evening at 8 o'clock, His Worship Mayor McKay presiding, Couns. Belle-Lale, St. Onge and Duncan present. His Worship explained that the meeting had been called to discuss the matter of permanent streets and the extension of the water and sewerage system. He felt that as Campbellton had nearly 6,000 population its streets were a disgrace to a town of its importance. He regretted that more councillors were not present as it was an important matter. The matter of permanent streets was discussed informally but no action was taken, it being decided to hold a committee meeting of the whole Council Monday morning, Jan. 2nd. The Council then adjourned.

If you are feeling all worn out, if you can't eat, sleep or work with any satisfaction, you need Tanlac. Sold at Wran's Drug Store.

WHAT BOND ISSUE IS FOR
His Worship said that there were some property holders who had not paid their taxes this year. These taxes would have to be paid and parties interested in this matter. He thought everyone should be permitted to vote.

Coun. Patterson could understand property holders being allowed to vote but there were many who owned no property or had no interests in the town. These should not be allowed to vote.

Coun. Belle-Lale thought Coun. Patterson's point was well taken but it was hard to determine where to draw the line.

His Worship suggested that all who had not paid their taxes for more than two years be debarred.

Coun. Patterson favored a vote of property owners only. Many here were in favor of extending water main.

Coun. St. Onge said that there were many who owned no property but should be permitted to vote. Bank managers and railway men for instance. These paid taxes on high incomes.

Coun. Belle-Lale thought, resolution fair to all. He hoped that the ratepayers would take an interest in the matter.

Coun. St. Onge thought the man who did not take enough interest in the town to pay his taxes should not be permitted to vote.

Coun. Patterson thought the rate-payers should be permitted to vote upon the work they wished done. Some were in favor of permanent streets but did not favor extending water main.
