This is what we find in a Washington special to the New York Graphic the other day, concerning Guiteau's trial :-As the trial is drawing near to a close, Robinson Suiteau's counsel, will ask the court to instruct the jury to acquit on the ground of no jurisdiction. If the court refuses, counsel will take an exception and the case will be taken to the supreme court o the United States. If the latter decides that the ower court had no jurisdiction, the assassin goes

Whether such a contingency be probable, or even possible under the Amarican law, only those learned in the law can say. But that it should have to be contemplated as possible is a cutting satire upon the inglorious uncertainty which too frequently attends upon the administration of justice.

The law, instead of being always an aid to justice as it should be, is oftentimes the justice and provided in the sale of this literature, and benefitted to it. I can be traced back to the general error of a bygone time when state rights were pushed to an extreme point. Each state has its own laws for the punishment of crime, and, whenever different state laws or different jurisdictions are in conflict, the conflict is always to the advantage of the criminal and opposed to the interests of interests of the conflict is always to the advantage of the criminal and opposed to the interests of interests of the conflict is always to the advantage of the criminal and opposed to the interests of interests of interests of interests of the conflict is always to the advantage of the criminal and opposed to the interests of interests of interests of interests of the conflict interests of interests of interests of interests of the conflict interests of interest of interests of interests of interests of interests of interest of interests of interests of interests of interests of interest of interests justice. In another way, too, our neighbors used to suffer severely from the extreme of state's rights practice, in the matter of issuing of paper money. Before one currency was established for the whole nation this side of the Rocky mountains, each state had its own currency, which in most cases was at a heavy discount any considerable distance from home. "That a deep-laid conspiracy for my be-trayal was concocted by the parties con-cerned is evident from even a hasty perusal of the nine columns of statement of the ex-ecutive of the Mutual Union telegraph company in reiterating its charges against me. That it was a plot into which even the most wary might have fallen there can be no doubt, from the presoncerted series of events as detailed in the statement. That so much trouble should be taken by these officers to break the effect of the disclosures which follow from the discovery of justice as it should be, is oftentimes the very thing that defeats justice, and prevents justice from being done. The uncertainty as to the jurisdiction of a certain court, which appears is one of the complications in Guiteau's case, shows a special evil with our republican neighbors, which can be traced back to the general error of a bygone time when state rights were pushful to an extreme point. Each state has lization of the telegraphic business in Canada, which they were about to attempt, and where I have a large interest. I emphatically deny that I ever asked Mr. Plumb or any one else to procure papers from the office of the Mutual Union Telegraph company, or from the office of the contractors. Mr. Plumb, being president of a manufacturing company, in no way connected with the Mutual Union Telegraph company, is it reasonable to suppose that I would ask him to procure copies of these papers for me without some intimation from him? He forgets to state that he himself first volunteered to get me the copy, having written to me to call at his office for that have the same of the sam having written to me to call at his once for that purpose. A copy of his letter I herewith exhibit to you. I understood and bruises. For internal and external use. It has no equal in the world for what it is recommended. For sale by all dealers at grapher could take a copy of it, and I sent him for that purpose, as shown in my card. For what other purpose was there necessity to send a phonographer? I never knew nor had any reason to believe that a clerk world it. clerk would "purloin the same from an iron safe," or that I ever mentioned in any connection that in the information I was eeking I was representing the Western Union telegraph company or its officers. I may have remarked that they would be may have remarked that they would be gratified to see the contract, as it was most likely they would be interested in its contents; but the statement that I alleged I was acting on their behalf or intending in any way to represent them is most untrue.

"The letter to Fearing offering him employment was written at the instigation of Plumb himself, because when I spoke of sending my own phonographer to take down a copy of what he (Plumb) would have in his possession, he referred to a phono-grapher who would soon desire a situation. Having heard of a vacancy with friends of mine, I wrote the letter, intending to intro-duce him to them as soon as he was out of employment. I had no reason to believe that he ever was with John G. Moore & Co. and never was so informed; indeed, I was told that he was employed on Pearl street, and Plumb so informed my phonographer. Had I understood that he was with John G. Moore & Co., is it not reasonable to be-lieve that I would have been much more guarded and not fallen into the trap vidently laid for me?

"The affidavit of Plumb is a tissue of utterly untrue by witnesses present at the intervitws he describes. That being so, all else falls to the ground.

The plot which includes the origination of such a damaging disclosure, the carrying out of its details in the reception of money;

Artificial teeth life-like in appearance and professions. the writing of decoy notes, of which copies are kept to be read in the obscure light of a railway station on the eve of the hur signature to an artfully written, but apparently innocent receipt; and, finally, the SPECTACLES secreting of a phonographic witness taking notes behind a screen in the room in which an unguarded conversation was being held are all pieces of strategy entirely worthy of the individuals who have inspired and the individuals who have the individual who have the individ carried out the conspiracy. This must be admitted, that the evidence as to the guilt

NON-FORFEITABLE LIFE INSURANCE.

THE ÆTNA LIFE INS. CO. first introduced its Non-forfeitpublic in 1886. Previously thereto the universally prevalent objection to a man's insuring his life was found to be: "Oh, yes, it is all very fine so long as one can pay his premiums, but when unable to pay more he loses all he has paid." And then would follow instances of neighbours cruelly robbed in this manner, after paying 6, 10 or 20 years. Nots, however, with the ÆTNA'S NON-FORFEITABLE POLICIES, we answered: and so fair a system soon commended itself, and the ÆTNA'S policies became popular. Some of their features have since been imitated by other companies, but it is an undeniable fact that no policy is more highly esteemed throughout the Dominion by those fortunate enough to hold them, than those of the ÆTNA LIFE. Every ÆTNA policy now being issued in Canada contains a most liberal non-forfeiting feature, besides having its entire Reserve, or Re-Insurance Fund, annually and permanently deposited with the Finance Minister at Ottawa.

Strikingly the reverse of this liberality to persons unable to continue is the Strikingly the reverse of this liberality to persons unable to continue is the Tontine system, as it out Herods the worst features of the old confiscating system previously practised in Canada. "But," it is said in its favour. "some "cure is needed for the bad habit of letting policies lapse, and the Tontine system supplies it by giving NOTHING to those who drop out, and to those who "remain their 10, 15 or 20 years, giving greater results than are obtainable on "any other system." IN A PREVIOUS ADVERTISEMENT we have shown how mistaken was the representation of "greater results," when compared with the Etna's Nonforfeitable Endowment Bonds, and the following figures will afford proof that the other claim made—that it induces people to hold on to their policies—is equally groundless. They are from Prof. Cherriman's Insurance Reports, and relate solely to Canadian business transacted during the past three years:—

1,433 1,348 85 2,423 Members in good standing, Dec. 31st, 1880.... 8,460 2,423 1,139
From which it is plain that the two other companies increased their membership in three years by only 98 out of a possible 2,145—a little over 4 per 190: During the same time the ÆTNA LIFE, with nearly 9,000 exposed to lapse, increased its membership by 1,838 out of a possible 2,754, or about 87 per 190: The difference in favour of the ÆTNA LIFE'S Non-forfeitable System is very gratifying. It shows that when people are free to go or to stay, they prefer to stay with a good company; and that when they find their policies good for nothing if they stop paying, they are seventeen times more likely to pay no more.

All the ÆTNA'S Endowment Policies are Nonforfeitable after two Annual ayments, and all its Life Policies are so after three. For further particulars apply to
