national future upon the same venerable shrine. If the people of the old world expect so much from us, how come it that we receive so little from them?

The young men, the young men, and the independent thinkers of the country do not propose to tam the party rank any longer. The grindstone party will learn why—all in the time.

It is understood among the initiated that one of the purposes of the forthcoming convention will be the rehabilitation of the U. E. Club, which has been on the ragged edge of insolvency ever since 1878.

The failure of this exclusive organization is creditable to the good sense of the rank and file of the party. There is no use for kid-glove politics in this work-a-day age and country.

It is not likely that Nicholas Flood Davin's patronizing apology for Goldwin Smith will either benefit or injure the latter, and we are quite sure that Mr. Davin's protestations of loyalty were not necessary in his own behalf.

Mr. Davin, always loyal and watchful of the loyalty of the Toronto Canadian, has been doubly so since the railway commission called him to aid in the government of the natives. "The ox knoweth his master's crib."

THE HAMILTON TIMES is in the throes of an effort to prove that the Tories of Hamilton have appointed more Scotchmen to office than the Grits. We never catch any of the organs disputing about how many Canadians their respective parties have appointed to office.

THE MONETARY TIMES warns the public against buying lots in paper villages and towns in the northwest. As a rule the buyers know and can know nothing about what they are bargaining for; and the greater the uncertainty the more they seem to like it.

A FEW MONTHS AGO a newspaper was started in this city as an independent journal. Its prospectus made very smooth promises in that behalf, which have been fulfilled by assailing Mr. Blake and calling on the young men of the city to join a confederate association. This is too old a confidence game to work successfully.

A JURY has been aptly described as an organization of twelve men formed to decide which side in the case before the court has the smartest lawyer. As the jury in the Giteau case have all declared that they don't know anything, the prisoner's counsel stands some chance of carrying off the oak.

WHATSOEVER may be the merits of the Mezer case in law or equity, the fact remains that the supreme court of Canada is not supreme. It is somewhat in the position of the henpecked husband who was the man of the house when his wife was away.

FIVE PUNISHMENTS going on concerning the claims of Mr. Stephen Clarke to the position rendered vacant by the death of Capt. Prince would indicate that the practice of appointing sitting members of the legislature to fat salaries is not to be abandoned.

THE TORONTO MAIL advocates the abolition of the military college at Kingston; the Kingston News reciprocates by insisting that Upper Canada college, an expensive sham, be abolished. Perhaps they are both right.

THE REASON Mr. Walter of the London Times did not visit Canada before condemning it, was probably because he understood that there were "no tall chimneys in that blasted country, you know."

EVERY PROVERB falls when to arbitrarily applied. Never judge an insurance man by the company he keeps. It is really his company that keeps him.

A TORONTO ORGAN justly avers that Mr. Chapleau "sways men as the tempest sways the tree tops." He must be almost as windy as Tupper.

PERSONAL CHIT CHAT. Mr. H. P. Dwight will arrive home this morning from Ottawa, a husband and father.

Hon. Jas. Cockburn having been appointed coadjutor of the laws of Canada, has pointed out his duties.

Bishop Dubamel, (R.C.) of Ottawa, is taking an active part in temperance matters, and will deliver a series of lectures thereon.

Mr. J. J. Dalton of this city has passed the examination before the board of land surveyors at Ottawa as a Dominion topographical surveyor.

The total weight of clothing and accoutrements of a German infantry soldier when he takes the field in full marching order amounts to 64 pounds.

John Tenniel, the cartoonist of Punch, is a bachelor and is beginning to look "gray and grizzly."

Alexander Bain, the well-known metaphysician, has been elected lord rector of Aberdeen University over Sir James Fyfe, the distinguished London surgeon and author.

Lord Rosebery is commonly styled in Scotland "The Irrepressible Firmness," on account of his unflinching obstinacy to obtain popularity.

Moody and Sankey seem to have given the Medical Press of London, alarm, for it says of their visit in England of Moody and Sankey of explosive revival fame.

The letter is an unfortunate expression. In the Falstaffian dictionary there is no such word as steel. "A fio for the phrase. Convey the wise it call." The Free Press should seek a better phrase than ex-aggerating. Scandals numerous and notorious prove that the exaggerators are now in
