THE WORLD ON THE ISLAND. Cottagers and Boarders can now have their papers delivered on the Island in good time

Beer Licenses on the Island. No substantial reason has yet been given for the arbitrary action of the licen on the Island. We hold that as long as liquor is sold in the city and the Island remains a part of the city, and is frequented as much as it is by citizens, a great injustice is done to those who have interests on the Island and those who frequent it in thus interfering with their liberties and their interests. The money that is being spent on the Island to make it attractive and in building wharves and renning ferries to it is the private means of enterprising men, who find their enterprise dampened and their expenditure jeopardised by this uncalled for interfer. nce. Most of all it is a direct interference with the comfort of the toiling masses of venient and denightful resort. We for one moment that we are on the side of intemperance; what we are urging is the cause of fair play and equal treatment to the Island by some who want it, and to others who go there it is supplied illicitly. Island because they are deprived of getting a glass of beer lawfully and they do not care to get it speakingly. If the development of Toronto into a great city is to b illiberal treatment of any class, or by the enforcement of harsh regulations. There must be freedom in all such matters. Two of the three members of the semmission are disposed to grant two bear licenses, but they are held back, so we are informed, by some rule or other about bringing up a case for consideration a second time. Cannot the rule be suspended? When Cannot the rule be suspended? When Treats weeks against the South act is will be time. must be freedom in all such matters. Two Toronto votes the Scott act it will be time enough to enforce a prehibitory law in any part of it.

On this matter, now become one of some Interest in Canada, the New York Tribune thus pronounces: Those who advocate the disarming of the Cheyennes can proposed remedy has been tried with has always had one of two results. When ing to be useless it has surrendered a lot of assorted rubbish in the shape of weapons carefully collected for that pur. pose; and at the same time it has buried or otherwise concealed its real arms.

No disarmament ever put in force has prevented the disarmed tribe from going on the warpath a few months afterward fully armed and equipped with good weapons, The proposed remedy therefore is really a mockery, delusion and spare, and even if would amount to nothing, for the simple reason that the Indians can always obtain il the weapons they are able to pay for from the post traders. What is really secure wealthy partners, and thus the British taxpayer might frequently escape the extra taxation which every royal marriage now entails. In times further back, when direct heirs to the crown were apt to be source, the situation was very different; but of late the number of princes and princesses to be provided for has been phenomenal. And it is not only our own royal family that has to be dowered, for almost each and every one must have a foreign consort, who must be provided for too, and that right hand-somely. On this subject a cable letter to New York says: The court gossip of the week has developed a spiteful undertone toward Germany. There has been not so much bad feeling because the crown prince's family refused to attend the Bat tenburg wedding, lnasmuch as that chimes science that can excel Dr. Fowler's Extract with the English hostility to Princesa of Wild Strawberry as a cure for cholera Beatrice's groom; but much anger has morbus, diarrhea, dysentery, or any form been evinced at the blunt scorn with of summer complaint afflicting children er the idea of any claims of the Duke of Cambridge or of the Duke of Edinburgh to Hanover and Coburg. The English say justly that this comes with bad grace from a country which has saddled a score of its princely paupers on England. The Prince of Wales loses no opportunity of showing that he shares in this anger, and the statement is incessantly made in his set that no child of his shall wed with a German and that Prince Edward of Wales shall marry an English girl. To which let us add that in this, as in some other matters, the Prince which the German press rejects the idea of any claims of the Duke of

Here is a fact, which let Toronto house keepers make a note of: Canadian eggs are selling in New York at 124 and 13 cents. In Montreal 13 cents is the highest wholesale quotation.

That Burns was born and brought up among the "honest men and bonnie lasses" of Ayrshire is well known: but perhaps it is not so generally known that the poet's ncestors, on the father's side, belonged to Kincardinshire, in the north. The unveiling of the restored tombstones of the ancestors of Burns took place recently in the kirkyard of Glenhevie, Kincardinshire. The monuments which have been restored are those of the poet's great grandparents, and of his great granduncle. Round the pedestal of the new monument to the grandparents the following inscription has been placed: "James Burnes, tenant, in Brawlinmuir, died January 23, 1743. Margaret Falconer, his wife, died December 18, 1749. This

The Mail has an item regarding a man being drowned at Welland while bathing on Sunday, and heads it "The Penalty of Sunday Bathing." More people are undoubtedly drowned op week days than on the Sabbath, but this is because the seventh day stands in the relation of one to six, and because the majority of mankind prefer to bathe, providing they have the time, on any day rather than on Sunday, mainly undoubtedly because of most preper religious scruples. It is, however, little short of blasphemy to call a drowning accident on the day of rest "The penalty of Sunday bathing." I would be quite as much in order to term is the penalty of Monday, Tuesday or any other day. The writer of the heading possibly forgot that cleanliness is next to godliness, and that it is just as necessary to be clean on Sunday as on any other day, stood as saying that the frequenters of the Rich people can enjoy their daily baths in leland are a horde of thirsty beer drinkers; their own houses but the poor have to take they are peaceable, moderate and wellto the open, and very often Sunday is the only day on which they can enjoy even that privilege. According to the ideas of strict Sabbatarians it may be rank heresy to say so, but we must profess a prefound preference for people who bathe on Sunday rather than those who bathe not at all. The New York Herald has information from Ottawa to the effect that Riel's trial stifled nothing will do it so quickly as will certainly begin on the 20th inst. that is, Monday next.

Such wounded officers shall be granted an annual pension according to the following scale: Lieutenant-colone, $1200; major, $800; captain, $400; lieutenant, $280. Soldiers' pensions rank under the four following degrees:

1. Men losing two limbs or both eyes from wound, or being so severely wounded as to be incapable of earning a livelihood and to require the assistance and care of some other person.

2. Men rendered incapable of earning a live-lihood, but not requiring the care of another person.

3. Men able to contribute in a small degree towards earning a livelihood.
4. Men able to contribute materially towards a livelihood, though unfit for ordinary duties from the post traders. What is really needed is, not so much to take away their guns from the Indians as to take away their disposition to use them against the whites."

Engiand a Refuge for Pauper Princes.
In view of the rapid increase and enormous branching out power of the British goyal family, it does seem as if would be a good thing to break the law, or custom, or tradition in virtue of which its members, if they marry at all, must in nearly every case marry a foreign prince or princess. If marrying them to subjects were in vogue, they might in many cases source wealthy partners, and thus the
