

face would hear her. She has said, often—often: “Mary! Mary!”

“And heaven has heard your prayer!” exclaimed the priest.

“Kiskepila has thought many times upon the words of the blackgown,” said the young Mohawk; and pointing to the Huron captive, he continued: “Kiskepila took the Huron captive; and he told him over and over the teaching of the good father, that he might not forget it. The Mohawks are at war with the French; but the Mohawk brave has come hither to be baptized. Kiodego has gone to the spirit-land, and Kiskepila is a chief in his village. Morning Flower often talked of the teaching of the blackgown, and would seek the father of the pale face. She has come with the mother of Kiskepila.”

Father Laval learned that the Indian maiden, cherishing his instructions in her memory, and gaining further knowledge from the Huron captive, had re-
