Rev. William I. Shaw, D.D., LL.D., Principal Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, says: "Not narrow, but broad. Champness, the presumed author, at his hottest could not be narrow. There is a pious vigor, often incorrectly termed puritanical, which deals many an unjust blow; but in this live, racy, strong, spiritual, sensible book nothing is found to which anyone could take exception, but much that should make the Church better. It cannot be read without much interest and profit."
