ACCIDENTAL DEATH

But Jury Recommend Better Protection for Roof Workers.

HAMILTON, Feb. 10.—(Special.)—Joseph Barry, night yard foreman, injured last Sunday at the Hamilton Steel and Iron Company plant, died this evening.

The coroner's inquest into the death of Andrew Stuart, fatally injured by falling from the roof of the Canada Drawn Steel Co's new building, resulted in a verdict of accidental death. The jury recommended that better protection be afforded for men engaged in roof work.

The lawyers of Thomas Lovejoy, whom Judge Monck declared was not entitled to sit in the city council because he failed to pay some taxes before he was nominated, feel that a new election should be held in ward one, and will happily either to Judge Monck or to the city council for an order to a by-election in that ward. His honor refused to issue an order for a by-election, but confined himself solely to the question of Mr. Lovejoy's qualification, and he also refused to say whether the third man in the race was qualified to take the vacant seat.

The police have adopted a new policy in dealing with offenders against the liquor law. Hereafter, when bars are found open after hours the men caught there will be prosecuted as well as the proprietor. This morning the magistrate fined Edward Duffy of the Northern Hotel $20, and a dozen men found in the bar by the police last Sunday $10 each.

LOYALTY AT STAKE

Sixth Ward Conservatives Unanimously Denounce Reciprocity.

The meeting of Ward Six Liberal Conservative Association held last night in the Oddfellows' Hall, corner of Northcote-ave. and Queen-st., was one of the most enthusiastic of the season, and attended by a big crowd. The chief topic under discussion was the reciprocity treaty, and added interest was given this matter by a resolution introduced by Ex-Ald. Dave Spence and John Fawcett, and which was as follows:

"That as loyal Canadians, having regard to our national instincts and our obligations to the throne, the flag and empire, under the sovereignty of His Gracious Majesty King George V., we most earnestly and emphatically protest against the adoption of the reciprocity agreement, and added interest was given this matter by a resolution introduced by Ex-Ald. Dave Spence and John Fawcett, and which was as follows:

GREATEST OF THE AGE

Is Mischa Elman, the Youthful Violinist, Who Will Be at Massey Hall on March 1.

Mischa Elman, the young Russian violinist, who is just now the reigning sensation of the music world, and who comes to Massey Hall on March 1, is a great genius with great egotism, but without any signs of it. Altogether he is conscious of the fact that he is wonderful, he accepts it as a matter of course. He has always been just as he is now, for ever since he can remember he has been able to play the violin and since it comes perfectly natural to him there is no necessity for any assumption whatever and his simplicity is his charm.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS

At the Royal Alexandra

Margaret Illington in "The Encounter." When Margaret Illington, broken in health, left the stage two years ago, her retirement was commented upon as a distinct loss to the drama. She was in the zenith of her fame and was playing in "The Thief," and was accepted as among the foremost representatives of the younger set of actresses appearing in emotional roles.

"The Encounter" is said to be an unusually adroit and well made drama and repeats with complete success Monday evening next, with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, and will present for its initial production in the city, her new play, "The Encounter," which is a writing of Pierre Berton, also author of "Zaza," and a play which enjoyed tremendous vogue in Paris, where it was given at the Comedie Francaise Theatre, with Mile. Cecil Sorel, in the same part that Miss Illington is playing in America.
