THE OPPOSITION NEMESIS.

In presence of so remarkable an expression of public sentiment as occurred throughout Ontario yesterday, comment is almost superfluous. The figures tell far more eloquently than words the extent of the confidence felt in the capability and honesty of Premier Whitney and his colleagues. The main cause of this tidal wave that has swept over the province unquestionably lies in the policy that found embodiment in the appointment of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission and in the proposals having as their object the distribution of Niagara white coal at the minimum cost to the people. Approval of this effort to protect the most valuable provincial power asset from exploitation for private profit has given the Whitney government its overwhelming majority and this ought to confirm the premier and his colleagues in their determination to further the cause of public ownership and operation of all franchise monopolies. Premier Whitney has been trusted by the people because he has shown his willingness to stand by public rights and so long as he steadfastly follows this democratic principle the people of Ontario will stand by him.

Mr. A. G. MacKay on the other hand has lamentably failed in his first attempt to lead his party to victory. His collapse is easily explained by his refusal to "trust the people" with his own policy on the matter of Niagara power. Not only did he fail to declare himself on that main issue, but he developed increasing antagonism towards the Whitney-Beck power policy. In that he followed The Globe, which supported him by an editorial campaign unexampled in Canada for its mendacity and abusive violence. The disgust evoked even among Liberals by the misrepresentation and mud-throwing of the chief opposition organ most certainly effected the political ruin of Mr. A. G. MacKay and the sharp lesson thus taught both the leader and the organ will not be thrown away if it teaches both to trust the people with their policy on great public questions and to carry on political controversy with at least an attempt at honesty and fairness.

It will take the Liberal party of Ontario a long time to recover from the morass into which they have blindly dropped. Not till it has been purged and purified and has rehabilitated itself in the confidence it has betrayed can it hope to resume its proper place in provincial politics. The second significant fact in this election was the weakness of the opposition on the power question and its utter incapacity to realize the importance of the movement for the protection of the provincial resources and franchises. This the people have long been assured was a cardinal factor in the policy of the Liberal party, as it most certainly ought to be were it really a party of progress and reform. The official campaign of the opposition ought at least to open the eyes of the people by revealing the true nature of the goal towards which Mr. MacKay, under the prompting of The Globe, sought to lead the province. But Nemesis has come and the electors of Ontario are entitled to full credit for their determined adherence to the government that has squarely endeavored to uphold and vindicate public rights.

NOW WHAT?

What is the effect on the coming Dominion elections of yesterday's vote in Quebec and Ontario? That is the great conundrum to-day.

It will be some days before it can be satisfactorily answered. The Ottawa Government may try to put off the time until it can re-arrange itself. But to reorganize is no easy task and if reorganization is to be the hope of salvation it will have to be radical and even desperate. Is Sir Wilfrid up to that?

THE INDEPENDENT MAN.

The independent candidates in the Toronto and St. Catharines campaigns as fighters worthy of the best steel. The independent candidate has a single man's fight against a powerful party organization. He has to do all his own organization. He has no party help. He pays his own way and where partnership runs high is generally beaten.

This was proved in the west and the east, but in the north Mr. Hosack failed because he failed to see the main issue. It was not "close the bars," but cheap power that carried the day.

BRITISH POLITICS.

British politics present a very different appearance to-day from that which was anticipated at the opening of the year. This change of position and outlook may be accepted as inevitable after the retreat of the late premier, separated as it was from his death by only a brief period. But while allowing this, it is doubtful whether Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman himself could have kept the course he had marked out for the Liberal campaign. His crusade against the house of lords was not accompanied by the volume of popular support necessary to make it effective; the new educational reform bill was not acceptable to the Catholic church and other elements in the controversy steadily made for a pacific arrangement with the Church of England and the licensing reform measure had drawn upon itself strong and active opposition. And the one outstanding result of the introduction of the latter bill was to turn the party energies from political to social reform, an alteration which involved the entire recasting of the ministerial policy.

THE MORNING AFTER.

These currents were all in motion when Mr. Asquith succeeded to the premiership, and he has yielded to them with a readiness that shows them to be in consonance with his own opinions. They have been reinforced by the old age pension proposal, which in its turn has elicited a variety of criticism partly deprecatory, but largely contradictory. The principle underlying it is practically accepted by the opposition, the an influential section incline to prefer a contributory scheme. Many Conservatives and Conservative newspapers of note, however, find that a contributory system would not meet the admitted need of unskilled labor and direct their attack upon the government on the financial side. It is made matter of complaint that the government has not made more provision for the liabilities the state must incur, and the premier is accused of preparing to shuffle the responsibility for these onto the shoulders of his successor.

This last point leads up to the now first constructive plank in the platform of the Unionist party—fiscal reform. Mr. Balfour has committed himself with increasing definiteness to Mr. Chamberlain's agitation, helped doubtless by the evidence of its growing popularity in the constituencies. Speaking on May 30 as the guest of honor at a banquet of the Liberal-Unionist Club he declared that "at all events, the stars in their courses are fighting for us, and even if other arguments fall with the constituencies, the financial necessities which the government themselves are bringing on us make fiscal reform an absolute and inevitable certainty." An equally significant sign of the progress of the fiscal reform agitation can be found in a speech of Mr. Austen Chamberlain delivered at the annual meeting of the same club. He found it advisable to warn the opposition not to use arguments that will not stand complete examination or to make promises that cannot be fulfilled. The Unionist leaders are plainly already recognizing their responsibility for the authorship of a fiscal reform plan that will stand the test of experience.

TURNING OF THE TIDE.

During the last fifty years 3,250,000 Canadians have gone to the United States. The United States census of 1900 shows 1,311,255 from Canada. How times have changed.

Canadians are no longer seeking employment in the United States, while last year nearly 100,000 citizens of the United States moved into Canada. A few years ago Canadians were being imported there on their Carriages and Automobiles, but they no longer find this necessary since the Tires made by the Canadian Rubber Company of Montreal have been introduced to the Canadian people. These Tires are made by expert Canadian workmen, and are sold at all the branches of the company from Halifax to Victoria. Toronto branch, Front and Yonge Streets. Telephone Main 207.

AN UP-TO-DATE CIRCUS.

The Organization of Cole Brothers Big Show is a Perfect One.

It would be extremely difficult for the ordinary patron as he sits watching the performance of the Cole Brothers' shows to conceive what a wonderfully and perfectly organized business institution they are. The organization of the largest marvellous circus house or the most extensive banking house seems but the play of a child when compared to its organization. The departments are like so many different lines of business, at the head of each being a superintendent, all of whom are answerable and responsible to the general superintendent. The latter has no dealing whatever direct with the army of seven hundred employees. He deals only with the heads of the departments and holds them responsible for the work and department of the men under them. Every afternoon at 5 o'clock the general superintendent assembles the superintendents of the many departments and with them discusses the show's interests and advancement.

The show carries its own corps of detectives, presided over by those veteran detectives, Dowling and Brown. They are in charge of the show's safety. They co-operate with the local officials in protecting the show's patrons, and of such efficiency is the detective corps that the travelers usually found following up other circuses give them a wide berth. Three physicians are with the show at all times, not only to care for its employees, but its patrons as well, should circumstances require them. The legal department is headed by two of the most prominent attorneys in the country. One of the features is the existence of a sub-postoffice station of the show's mail. It is presided over by a regularly appointed postmaster, who has his office in the drawing-room tent, with boxes, registry and money order departments, the same as every well regulated postoffice. In the office wagon of the Cole Brothers is established a clerical force consisting of two stenographers, two bookkeepers, auditor, cashier, treasurer and paying teller. One of the beautiful business features of this magnificent show is that every day's business is complete in itself. Only a cash balance shows by the evidence of previous days and no running accounts further than salaries are carried over. Uncle Sam has been so favorably impressed with the working of this magnificent show that on several occasions he has detailed army officials to study the methods in use, with the view of adopting them in the regular army. Everywhere the remarkable and speedy system and the good department of this aggregation has been most favorably commented on.

The Cole Brothers' shows will be here for two days, opening on Monday, June 15.

Judgement Reserved.

Justice Riddell reserved judgement in the Ross-Imperial Bank case yesterday, in which some $36,000 is involved. John Ross alleges that when he was put out of the firm of Ross, McRae & Chandler, the firm of McRae, Chandler & McNeil was formed. The second firm got a cheque for $26,251.57, and he says, the Imperial Bank accepted it, endorsed it and deposited to the credit of the second firm after he had been put out, and he asks that the money be paid into the court so that he might get his share, alleging Chandler had no right to endorse it, and that the bank had no right to cash it.

1. Rex v. Spittal.
2. Antekel v. Robinson.
3. Biddle v. Boxer.
4. Garstide v. Webb.
5. McGuire v. Wilson.

Master-in-Chambers Cartwright has refused to change the place of trial in the action of Dowling against Brown, from Port Arthur to Woodstock. The action is for specific performance of an agreement by the executors of Enoch R. Brown, deceased, to sell certain lands at Port Arthur. All the parties formerly resided in Oxford County.

Justice Teetzel has given judgment in favor of Adam Ballentine, grocer of Hamilton, against the Ontario Pipe Company, for damages for allowing a quantity of gas to escape that exploded and injured Ballentine's premises. If the parties cannot agree as to amount his lordship will fix them. The company must also pay costs. Ballentine sued for $1500.

William A. Bawls, of Midland, thru his counsel, J. B. Mackenzie, obtained an order allowing him to serve a notice in quo warranto proceedings to set aside the election of Edwin Letherly, Mayor of Midland, and six of the councillors of that town. A number of grounds of irregularity are urged. Justice Teetzel yesterday declared Wm. Sanderson, missing since 1862, to be dead. It was necessary that he should be declared dead to make good the title of some property at Chatham and Port Elgin, which City Office, north-west corner King and Yonge streets.

THE GREAT MAJORITY

of the people in Canada earn every cent of the money that comes to them and, in turn, are deeply interested in the buying power of the money they spend.

Whatever the financial condition of the people is or is to be; whatever may be the solution of Canada's economic problems, this store realizes one fact—and acts upon it—that the people's money should bring back an overflowing measure of value for every expenditure.

So our province is to distribute the goods the people want—to save every possible cent between mills of manufacture and the wearers, between growth ground and consumer, and to pass along those savings to the people.

TRUST THE PEOPLE The full years back of us have justified our faith that the public would appreciate that business plan. To-day, and every day, our buying is done with the object of saving you money: your buying—your increased buying—encourages and tells us "forward to larger things."

As instances of the unprecedented buying power of money—read the list (briefly given here) for Wednesday's early shoppers:

WHY LIBERALS WEEP.

Editor World: The Globe, as a corporation organ directed by Senator Jaffray, ruined Geo. W. Ross and it ruined them all.

It kept MacKay in Ross' tracks and MacKay was a willing instrument. Sir Wilfrid Laurier failed to intervene and offset the corporation program of The Globe. He should at least have insisted on a Liberal leader who was not a corporation tool and the choice of The Globe. In other words for over ten years The Globe has been a corporation organ above anything else and the Liberals have failed to realize it. And the same people who own The Globe control The Star and that supposed second Liberal organ saw fit to make a pro-corporation fight. The trouble with the Liberals is that they have neither leader nor newspaper that sided or sides with the people in their momentous issues. The corporation Liberals drove Bourassa out of the party. It is high time that other Liberals like myself decided to speak out against this perversion of a great party.

AT THE ALEXANDRA

Among the English musical comedies that take their inspiration from the Land of the Chrysanthemum, none has proved more popular than "The Geisha." It enjoyed phenomenal runs in London and New York, a success easily explained by its bright and sparkling music, and a story unusually interesting for comic opera. Last night it again met with an enthusiastic reception from a large audience, who found the atmosphere of the Royal Alexandra pleasantly cool, thanks to the latest developments of theatrical enterprise.

During their four weeks' offerings, the Imperial Opera Company has steadily won its way into popular favor, and this will be greatly increased by the admirable and artistic presentation given "The Geisha." The principals were in excellent voice, and with the choruses entered fully into the spirit of the light and gay opera comedy. Good singing and clever and amusing acting can while away even the hours of a summer night, and the Royal Alexandra certainly excelled itself in the best of these virtues. "The Geisha" harmonious accessories, "The Geisha" ought to prove a drawing card this week, and the usual Thursday and Saturday matinees will be given.

At the Gaiety.

Phil Sheridan's City Sports show at the Gaiety this week provides a real good program from start to finish. The comedians are full of fun all thru. The chorus includes lots of pretty faces and fine costumes, good singing and music. They open with a scene in a Turkish harem. It does not include an Irish or Jew comedian, and they are very fine without these assets. The show is very bright and catchy. John Barrett sings some Irish songs, imitating Chauncey Olcott singing "My Wild Irish Rose." The chorus have a splendid dancing act called "The Musical Bell Ballet." This is followed by Humphreys, Keeler and Linden, singing funny songs. They are followed by the Lassard Brothers in a sketch entitled "The French Burglar." This act is an
