A Surprised Son

"I had noticed dad looking over the stock reports for sometime," said a Long Island farmer's son, but the idea of his speculating never entered my head. One morning just before the first big slump in Wall Street we started for Brooklyn with a load of potatoes. Dad had his hat on his ear and was looking sassy. Bimbley asked what was up.
"Bill," says he in reply, "I'm going to try the market."
"Shoo!"
"Seems to me that stocks have got to rise. I've been reading 'em on 'em, and I see no other way. They've got to rise, and that rise has got to come out of the stocks."
"I'm surprised at you dad. What you going to buy?"
"Preferred stocks, of course."
"Feelin' like a winner?" says I.
"Bill, you tend to business and I'll attend to Wall Street. That's the way when children should be seen and not heard, and this is one of them."
"I said no more," continued the son, "but I kept an eye on dad. He had brought along a wad, and he put with it what he got for the 'taters. He went over to Wall Street and was gone two hours, and when he came back he was steppin' high and feelin' seven feet tall. Wouldn't hardly speak a word to me all the way home, because I was only common trash. Things went along for four days and then dad borrowed a daily paper and took a look at the stock market. He turned as white as snow and his eyes bulged out.

"What is it?" says I.
"Busted all to squab," says he.
"As to how?"
"The market's gone down 17 miles."
"I thought you said it was bound to rise."
"Well, that's what I said—that stocks had got to rise, and that the rise had to come out of suckers. I was mistook. Stocks had got to drop like bags of sand, and the drop to come out of blamed old fools like your dad!"

SHE PATIENTLY BORE DISGRACE

A Sad letter from a lady whose Husband was Dissipated.

How She Cured Him with a Secret Remedy.

"I had for years patiently borne the disgrace, suffering, misery and privations due to my husband's drinking habits. Hearing of your marvelous remedy for the cure of drunkenness, which I could give my husband secretly, I decided to try it. I procured a package and mixed it in his food and coffee, and as the remedy was odorless and tasteless, he did not know what it was that so quickly relieved his craving for liquor. He soon began to pick up flesh, his appetite for solid food returned, and he was able to do his work regularly, and we now have a happy home. After he was completely cured, I told him what I had done, when he acknowledged that it had been his saying, as he had not the resolution to break off of his own accord. I hereby advise all women afflicted as I was to give your remedy a trial."

PREMIER PUGSLEY IS UNANIMOUS CHOICE

Every Delegate at Liberal Convention Last Night Voted for Dr. Pugsley as the Candidate for the City and County of St. John—Great Enthusiasm Shown

At the convention of the delegates chosen at the Liberal primaries last Monday to choose a candidate for the city and county seat at Ottawa, Hon. Wm. Pugsley was last night nominated amid great enthusiasm and no other name was placed before the convention.

Of the 130 odd delegates nominated less than ten were absent and every one present cast his vote for Dr. Pugsley as the next representative for St. John city and county.

Soon after the result had been announced Hon. Mr. Pugsley, to whom a telephone message had been sent, entered the hall and was received with ringing cheers. He gave a short and spirited address and promised to speak at greater length at the ratification meeting to be held next Wednesday. Among those present last night was A. B. Copp, Liberal organizer.

The convention was opened at 8 o'clock in Berryman's hall. Thos. McAvity was chairman and Heber S. Keith was secretary. Mr. McAvity briefly outlined the object of the gathering and declared the meeting open for nominations.

Thomas Gorman nominated Hon. William Pugsley and this was promptly seconded by Edward Antulum, M. P. P., and Dr. Ruddick, M. P. P., of St. Martin's. No other names were offered in nomination.

It was suggested that if one ballot were cast it would be sufficient. The meeting, however, decided otherwise and as the delegates names were called each advanced and deposited his ballot, every one for Dr. Pugsley. The announcement of the result from the chair of the result was received with great applause.

After the ballots had been counted Premier Pugsley was telephoned for and came to the hall. On entering he was received with great applause and cheers and was escorted to the platform, where Mr. McAvity announced the result of the ballot. He informed Dr. Pugsley that he was the unanimous choice of the Liberal party and that the ratification meeting would be held next Wednesday evening.

Dr. Pugsley delivered a short address. He was extremely grateful, he said, to find he had been unanimously chosen as the candidate of the Liberal party of this constituency. Having been for a long time in public life, where his conduct could be closely scrutinized, he could well understand that he would look upon this occasion as the proudest moment in his political career. It was impossible to overstate the honor of being selected by the Liberal party as its standard bearer.

He wished to express his deep sense of gratitude, and at the same time he thought it would be proper to mention a fact, which would be borne out by the delegates, that the movement in his favor had been entirely spontaneous on the part of the people.

He had not asked a single man to support him but had merely stated that if all the strong feeling in the party that he should be its candidate he would be willing to resign his position as premier and to offer his services to the constituency. He also felt that he could not allow the opportunity to go by without expressing his most sincere thanks to the large number of Conservatives who had signed the requisition asking him to allow himself to be put in nomination, and also to the large number of Liberals who had signed the requisition asking him to allow himself to be put in nomination, and also to the large number of Liberals who had signed the requisition asking him to allow himself to be put in nomination.

Dr. Pugsley referred to the fact that in some quarters there had been criticism as to the course of the Liberal party in favoring his candidature on the ground that he had not been a Liberal all his life time. During that time vast numbers of the electors had grown from boyhood to manhood and were entitled to take their share as voters in moulding the destiny of the country. He had left the Conservative party in 1896 because he differed from them on two great questions. One was the Manitoba school question and the other the course of Sir Charles Tupper, the then leader of the Conservative party, in entering into a provisional contract with the Allan Steamship Company which proposed to make Halifax the terminus of the line and to ignore the just claims of St. John.

As one who had been for many years engaged in urging that the claims of the city should be recognized, he shared in the indignation which was felt by all classes of citizens at that occasion irrespective of party, and had run on an independent ticket.

Having taken this course there was no reason why he should not have acted as he had by becoming a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and an adherent of the Liberal party. The Manitoba school question was settled by Sir Wilfrid in accordance with his views. The proposed injustice to St. John was prevented and under the policy of the government the winter port business grew to larger proportions.

Under his administration vast numbers of immigrants had been brought in, and the west was filling up with marvelous rapidity. The foreign trade of Canada had more than doubled, and a wave of prosperity was over the whole dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

He had received no personal benefit from becoming a member of the Liberal party. Although he had, like the mass of the people, shared in the advantages of general prosperity and the great increase in the value of land that this had brought out.

The premier then made a reference to the resolution which had been passed at the great meeting held in the hall last Saturday evening expressing the appreciation of the great political services of Hon. Mr. Emmerson. He had since received many letters from friends of that gentleman in various parts of the province, thanking him for moving a resolution and thus bearing testimony to the warm place which Mr. Emmerson occupied in the affections of the people of New Brunswick.

In conclusion Dr. Pugsley said that he would not trouble them with further remarks, but at the ratification meeting next Wednesday he would take occasion to make some observations on various matters in which they were all interested, and outline the policy which he intended to pursue if elected to parliament.

He thanked them for their great kindness in selecting him as a candidate and assured them that his time and whatever ability God had given him, would be devoted towards advancing the interests of this constituency and of the province. (Great applause.)

It was decided that the meeting that ratification be on Wednesday next as previously told in this paper, but the place of meeting was not announced last night.

After last evening's meeting closed many took occasion to personally greet the candidate and offer hearty support.

Are You Often Bilious?

Read This and Learn How to Prevent Attacks.

Biliousness is merely a term applied to a condition that exists when the body is overloaded with bile.

The complexion turns yellow, eyes look dull, pimples, itching and eczema break out, headaches are ever present.

Biliousness has two great causes, constipation and defective liver action.

When Dr. Hamilton's Pills are taken they not only correct the bowels, but act directly on the liver, regulating its bile secretion.

Unlike ordinary medicines which purge and give temporary relief, Dr. Hamilton's Pills remove the condition which causes biliousness; thus permanent cures are effected.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills do cure biliousness and liver ills under all circumstances.

We prove this by the statement of Mr. Warwick Ludington, of New Harbor, N. S., who writes: "Three months ago I had no expectation of ever getting free from periodical bilious attacks. They were preceded by dizziness and dreadful headaches. If I stooped over my head would swim and a nauseous feeling crept into my stomach."

MONTREAL HAS ANOTHER FIRE

J. N. Greenshields Home Damaged to the Extent of $75,000—An Accident at the Fire.

Montreal, April 26.—As the result of a fire which took place this afternoon in the residence of J. N. Greenshields, K. C., on Peel street, a short distance above Sherbrooke street, the whole interior of the house was ruined and the damage is estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000.

One of the maids employed in the house, Sarah Shields, was compelled to jump for safety from an upper balcony and sustained a broken leg and other injuries. After the other servants had made their way out of the building it was found that one of the maids was missing and it was learned that she was still in the upper story, while the flames were spreading through the building with terrific rapidity. The gardener, James Hunt, ran up stairs through the smoke and flames to the top story where he found the girl. By this time the whole stairway was wrapped in flames and smoke and the girl was afraid to go down so Hunt took her out to the back gallery and she jumped some thirty feet to the ground, sustaining a broken leg and severe shaking up.

Glacier ice is now delivered to some of the largest consumers of Lyons and other cities of Europe. There are so many railways in the Alps at present that it has been found profitable to gather this ice and transport it to the cities, where it is preferred to other ice because of its hardness and lasting quality. This ice is blasted and mined in the same manner as stone is quarried.
