POST OFFICE CHANGES

Work upon the new floor being erected in the post office for the suite of offices of Postmaster Sears, Assistant Postmaster Fetter and Superintendent Flanagan, is well advanced and it is hoped to have them in occupation before the first of Christmas mail begins. It will be found more convenient having provided change made for space will be given for those on the main floor and those on the new part.

The old offices now occupied by the officials named are to be abandoned and the space taken up will give a larger floor space which will be found helpful not only with the gradual increase in the quantity of general mail and the projected scheme for parcels post system introduced next year. Of course it is a matter of but a little while, comparatively speaking, before the handsome new post office now in building will be occupied.

THE HINDU PROBLEM

British Columbia Official Proposes Drastic Methods

FORCE TO KEEP THEM OUT

McBride Expresses Himself—May Be Legislation at Ottawa—Earl of Crewe Supports Policy of Viceroy of India

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 2.—This judgment has brought about a critical state of affairs and one which will be given every possible consideration by the provincial government in order to protect the interests of the province insofar as the government's constitutional authority will permit, declared Premier McBride, discussing the turn of affairs in the Hindu immigration following the issuance of Chief Justice Hunter's written judgment. "We have always tried to make it clear that objections which the government cannot go into, but are of an economic and social nature," he said. Premier McBride intimated that he did not desire to express an opinion upon the judgment itself, but added that he believed the question would probably occupy the attention of the courts for some time.

Anonymous Official View

Very much more vehement was a certain official who has to do with newly arrived Hindus and who fears there is a good deal of trouble in store. He said: "The ink was hardly dry from Chief Justice Hunter's opinion on Saturday, ere news was flashed to India by cable that there was no efficient method of dealing with the influx of Hindus entering this country. I believe that thousands will start for Vancouver at once. You can depend on it that before the winter is out, there will be several shiploads here. It looks as if there will be twenty thousand rather than the ten thousand which the labor people in the province will have because if five or six thousand are added to the immigrant population of British Columbia, the province will be opened for white labor."

OTAWA MAY LEGISLATE

H. H. Stevens, Vancouver's parliamentary representative, returned from Ottawa last night with the announcement that the dominion government was considering legislation to deal with the influx of Hindus into British Columbia. A radical measure, Mr. Stevens said, would be presented at the next session of parliament. The government of Canada under a regulation compelling them to travel by ship until a few months ago, no such restriction in existence. Now, however, certain statements make the effect that Hindus could be deported only if such cases as would apply to any foreign citizen.

IN INDIA

London, Dec. 2.—The Marquis of Crewe, Lord Privy Seal, and at one time Secretary of State for India, replying to a deputation of Hindus in reference to the disorders in South Africa, where the influx of Hindus is being ill-treated in the mines, associated himself with the belief that the Hindu immigration problem is looked upon as a purely domestic question and any interference by the imperial authorities will be resented. The attitude of the Marquis of Crewe adds to the gravity of the situation and if Great Britain makes any concrete demands, things may become very awkward.

NO COMMISSION ON LIVING COST

Borden Government So Decides—Pressure From Both Sides Will Come When The House Meets

(Special to Times)

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 2.—There is to be no commission of inquiry into the high cost of living. The government signalled the return of Premier Borden from his holidays by coming to this decision. Practically it is Mr. Borden's first official act since his interview with President Wilson at Washington. While Premier Borden was still in the United States, Hon. Thomas Crothers, who has charge of the cost of living statistics, announced that there would be no commission of inquiry. Immediately on Premier Borden's return, the question was considered by the cabinet. There was an inclination among some of the ministers to do something, but the offer of Professor Leacock to charge nothing for looking behind the beyond, into the cost of living was considered and turned down. It was decided that it would not do to leave the settlement of such a question to a celebrated humorist. C. A. Macdonald was suggested as a suitable man, and so were Professor Robertson, W. Brewster and Professor Shortt.

Wilson's Message to Congress Brief Promises Special One on Trusts—Self-government for Porto Rico and Hawaii and Independence for Philippines

(Canadian Press) Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—President Wilson read his first annual message to congress today, at a joint session of both branches at one o'clock in the house chamber. It required less than thirty minutes for reading, though it treated upon a vast number of subjects. The Mexican situation, President Wilson dealt with briefly, and expressed the sentiment he expressed in a special address to congress on the subject of the Huerta government, and that the United States probably would not be obliged to alter its policy of waiting.

BELIEVE BANDIT IN MINE IS DEAD

Hundred Pounds of Sulphur an Hour to Smoke Him Out

KILLED SEVERAL MEN

Voice Heard Faintly Yesterday in Call to Friend But Now All is Still—Sheriff is Waiting Until Wednesday to be Sure

(Canadian Press)

Bingham, Utah, Dec. 2.—One hundred pounds of sulphur an hour, has been burning in the Minnie mine since 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in an attempt either to kill or smoke out Ralph Lopez, a Mexican bandit, who has killed five men since he became a fugitive twelve days ago, after murdering one of his countrymen. Sheriff Andrew Smith said today that he would not allow his men to take any more risks of being shot and that he would not open the mine for another search for Lopez for forty-eight hours from the time the fires were started. If this plan is carried out, the likelihood which now bars the passage into the mine will not be removed until Wednesday afternoon. Until that time, sulphur fumes will continue to be forced into the mine. There is little doubt that Lopez still is in the mine, where he has been hiding since last Friday night. Sheriff Smith said he believed the bandit was dead, but would make sure by keeping up his fires of sulphur another day.

Hundred on Guard

A hundred deputies remained on guard throughout the night, but no sound came from the mine. The last word from the fugitive was heard yesterday when he called faintly for a former comrade and partner, Julius Corrallo. Twice he called, "Julio" in a voice that indicated pulmonary trouble, but there was no response from time to time, and it is the belief that the dead man has accomplished their purpose. Only such work as has been necessary to keep up the fires of sulphur for several days, and business affairs are generally at a standstill, so intense has become the interest in the man hunt. The streets and hills in the vicinity of the mine which holds the numberless miles with men anxious to lead wherever assistance they can to capture Lopez. His own countrymen were misled against him, and threats were made that Lopez would never reach Bingham alive, even though he escaped in the mine and surrendered.

What's in a Name!

If it is a name made familiar to the public through persistent and truthful advertising there is frequently a fortune in it. It improves the old proverb of a good name being better than great riches—by making the good name bring great riches.

Advertising success is built on service. Merchandising is one of the greatest and most important factors in modern service. It is the electric railway over which customers come to the store, and goods more to the customers. Newspaper readers are becoming greater advertising readers day by day because they find it pays.

It keeps them in touch with the men who are doing the world's work in a workmanlike way. It tells them what to buy and when to buy at the best advantage and best of all it makes them familiar with the names worthy of their confidence.
