Mathers daystianal available and the receiring of the lessons by Rev. Mr. further devotional exercises, prayer was offered by Rev. A. G. H. Dicker.

Rev. Mr. Richardson spoke from psalm 45, verse 16: , "Instead of thy fathers, shall be thy children whom thou mayest make princes in all the earth."

shall be thy children whom thou mayest make princes in all the earth."

On an occasion such as the present, he said, it was the fitting expectation that words in special: keeping with the nature of the gathering should be speken. The centennial celebration of the society was an epoch in which, in the natural order of events, comparatively few men could hope to be participants, but now that 100 years had passed since the organization's founding, and that, as members, their lot was so cast that at the attainment by their society of a century's existence, they stood as its representatives of 100 years of 'patriotic manthood,' was a distinction which they would not year the presentatives of 100 years of 'patriotic manthood,' was a distinction which they would not year had passed since of so many men, and women, for their presence demote more shahs at passing interest in the celebrations. The body of the church was reserved for the members of the society, who entered sharply at the appointed hour. They were attired in conventional frock coat and silk hat, with fraternal regalia. Also each member wore a bouquet comprising a crimson and white rose.

Forming at Orange hall, the society, in company with the Sons of England, marched directly to the church. The junior members of St. George's Society walked first, but at the church door this formation was reversed and the entrance made by the oldest in the society walking assisted by two associates directly behind whom were Dr. Thos. Walker, the society's president, who was supported by J. T. Hartt and J. Roy Campbell. Following came the society and the Sons of England.

The service opened with the singing of the Processional, chanting of psalm 34, and the president of the lessons by Rev. Mr.

GIFT OF A RUBENS

Famous Painting Bought for $50,-000, Given to the Metropolitan, New York.

New York, April 18-The Rubens "Holy Family," for which $50,000 was paid at the ecent sale of the paintings of the late F. O. Matthiessen, who had paid more than $60,000 for it abroad, has been presented to the Metropolitan Museum of Art by James Henry Smith. Only in two other instances have paintings presented to the museum exceeded this in commercial value.

One is Rosa Bonheur's "Horse Fair," for Which Cornelius Vanderbilt paid $53,000. Another is Meissonier's "Friedland, 1807," for which Judge Henry Hilton gave $66.

The former was with the second contingent and the latter a member of "G" company, first contingent. For several days he was a prisoner in Cronje's clutches at Paardeberg.

The Rubens, presented through the munificence of Mr. Smith, is thus one of the greatest single acquisitions to the museum. Its value, according to art standrds, probably exceeds that of the other wo pictures by painters of the present generation. Art critics pronounced the Rubens to be the most important work of art ever put up at public sale in this

DEATH FROM A HAMMER. Boston Painter Accidentally Killed While

Watching Sports.

Boston, April 18.—George A. Holland, a painter, 57 years old, died at his home, 11 Durham street, last night from the cffects of a blow accidentally received while watching Tech athletes exercising on the St. Botolph street playground Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Holland was hit by a 16-pound hammer, which is supposed to have slipped from the hands of a student before it was properly directed, and, the fore it was properly directed, and, the implement striking him in the abdomen, it is probable one or more blood vessels were ruptured, and death resulted from the ensuing hemorrhages.

Washington, April 18 .- The Colombian

Washington, April 18.—The Colombian canal protocol which was delivered at the state department on April 1 and afterward recalled by Minister Concha for modification, was again presented to Secretary Hay today. The proposal as to price is set out as follows:

One year after the exchange of ratification of a treaty the United States shall pay Colombia the lump sum of $7,000,000. This figure will represent 14 years rental at $500,000 a year. At the end of the 14 years' period the price which the United States shall pay each year is to be fixed by mutual consent of the two countries. In case the parties cannot agree upon a sum it will be left to an arbitrator selected by the two governments. It is realized that the building of a Panama canal would bring great numbers of persons of all sorts and conditions to the isthmus and for this reason it has been provided that the policing of the strip shall be performed by both American and Colombian constables."

The conditions at Union depot Monday were almost an exact reproduction of previous public expressions on the occasion of department valuateers for the South African departing volunteers for the South African street, St. John. conflict. There was the same thronging crowd, similar in appearance and deportment if not in make up; the same fervent farewell and last hearty handshake. It was difficult to determine just who the soldier was, for the great majority of the recruits wore civilian clothes, but here and there in the sober coated swarm, one could get a glimpse of a well worn khaki jacket or Stetson hat, testifying that some amongst the recruits were such in name only. All told, the men numbered about 70, and the non-commissioned officers in charge were Sergeants McKinney, Abell and Chesley.

Accommodations were afforded in two colonist sleepers attached to the Halifax express. They will arrive at Halifax early this morning, receive their uniforms and equipment and go into quarters to awant the general mobilization and final departure.
