

"Time works great changes"

But there are some changes you can prevent. If you want to make money, as at the same time save money, you should look after the wooden things around the farm. Paint should be your best friend. For instance, is the wood-work of your wagon warped and checked? You know what it means if it is—the life of the neglected wagon is not much more than 6 years, when it should be 18 to 20 years. You ask, "How can this be done?" By getting out your paint pail and painting your wagon twice a year. It will require about 2 gallons of paint and about 4 hours of your time. In 5 years' time you will have saved $30 and $50 on your wagon. This is also true of your plows, rakes, and other wooden implements. The Little Paint Man.

INCREASED NUMBER OF BAKERIES ASCRIBED TO CHANGE IN LIVING

To the changed conditions of living rather than the natural increase in the population of St. John is attributed the great advance in the bakery business of the city. Twenty years ago four bakeries were sufficient to supply the citizens of this city with the bread and pastry consumed outside of what was cooked at home, while today there are nearly twenty large bakeries besides the great number of small shops where the proprietors or proprietresses, as the case may be, are their own bakers. One firm alone employs twenty-two hands in the bakery and stores, and the industry has rapidly assumed large proportions.

Another baker, asked if the housewives of today were not so industrious as the mothers of the past, said that the conditions of life, his mother had ironed his collar for him, but his wife never thought of doing such a thing. There were easier and neater ways of having it done nowadays.

Investigation showed, however, that with the higher prices of the materials used the poorer classes found it profitable to patronize the bakeries. A small family buys one loaf of bread a day, costing seven cents, making an annual outlay for bread of $25.55. As there are about 125 loaves of bread in one barrel of flour, the three barrels would cost nearly $17. The other ingredients and the extra fuel needed for baking in summer would increase the cost of the home-made article, to say nothing of the labor expended. Many women have found it the most profitable plan to buy their bread and cook all their own pastry. One barrel of flour will last a small family for a whole year if used for pastry alone, and the home-made article is generally much healthier and more palatable than the very young brides, more appreciated. If it were not for some special make of bread the bakers would reap but a small profit from this part of the business. With their bread and cook all their own pastry. One of the bakers said that it was on the cake and biscuits that the greatest profit was made. Another who made a specialty of a particular brand of the staff of life took an opposite view. He said his bread was sold right into the homes of the very best people in the city, largely through the stores, and he did not regard the cake business as profitable because it took so much handling in his own shops.

With price, at certain seasons of the year, it is difficult to figure out where the profit of a particular brand of the staff of life takes place. At forty cents a peck and eggs some times at fifty cents, the housewife who puts up a pie at much less than fifteen or twenty cents is displaying some ingenuity, to say the least.

An interesting question is likely to arise in connection with the renewal of leases. A local syndicate controls the fishing on the South Branch, Oronto Lake, and as their lease expires next year, action is being taken to renew the lease. A petition to the provincial government, asking that the lake be thrown open to fishing, has been widely circulated and signed by about 5,000 people.

Good sportsmen will be interested in any movement for the greater protection of the fish. It has been suggested that the sale of trout be prohibited in the same way that the partridge is protected. One family with fish and game matters told a reporter yesterday that at least half a ton of fish had been disposed of on the local market last year, and that many so-called sportsmen piled the rod out of a mercenary spirit. One party, as an instance, brought in 1,000 fish, and the Telegraph's informant said, there should be a penalty for a catch of this kind.

The open season for salmon will also begin on May 1, but will extend only to Aug. 15, while it is trout season last year until Oct. 1. Non-residents will have to pay $5 for a license, but to all residents the fishing is free with no restrictions except on leased property.

Correspondents who send letters to The Semi-Weekly Telegraph and who wish to have them returned if they are not printed, must send stamps for return postage.

Joseph H. Botwick and family, of Kingston, wish to thank the friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy during the recent bereavement.

Lee Nicholson, of Centerville, Carleton county, recently cut a pine tree on his timber land in the parish of Simonds, which scaled 350 feet. This at the rate of $4 per 100 feet, works out to about $22.

Chester M. Cochrane, who will leave soon for Vancouver to reside, was last evening presented with a handsome gift. He was a member of the staff of J. J. Crawford & Co., and his fellow employees took occasion to wish him success.

In the week just closed, what a probably a record was made in the grain shipments. A grand total of nearly 800,000 bushels of wheat, oats, corn, barley, and buckwheat was delivered to the winter C. P. R. elevators for shipment across the ocean.

He stated that the matter is progressing favorably. Mr. Miller will have the assistance of leading St. John promoters in bringing the project to a successful issue. —North Shore Leader.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Charlotte Melville.
There died at Sumnerland (B. C.), recently, a woman well known in this city and province, in the person of Mrs. Charlotte E. Melville, whose husband formerly owned a paper in Woodstock.

Mrs. Melville resided in this city for some years, and only a few months ago went west with two of her children, Miss Mary Melville, an ex-nuptial of several American hospitals, and her son Robert. She was slightly over 60 years of age and enjoyed good health up to a few months ago. The story is told of Mrs. Melville assisting her husband on the reception of the news of the fall of Sebastopol in 1855, to keep up the spirits during the night in order to have the paper come out early the next morning. It seems that the courier arrived at Woodstock during the night, and in their bed clothes, Mrs. Melville, carrying her infant son, Park, and her husband with their own hands set the type with the new of victory. This, Mrs. Melville afterwards engaged in newspaper work in St. John, and is now editor of the Boston Globe. Robert Melville formerly worked on the New York Sun, and his home is now at Sumnerland (B. C.).

Blame the Auditor Again.
Frederick, N. B., April 6.—The government people now believe that their ideal of a few years ago has been realized. The report of 1910 was misleading in the matter of the Havelock village culvert. In connection with this Havelock business another medical doctor was discovered as a bridge inspector. Dr. B. S. Thorne, Hon. Mr. Robinson pointed out that it is hardly to be expected that doctor will be completely to inspect concrete work and as was done on this culvert. The government men, of course, gave Dr. Thorne a good certificate as an inspector.

The decision, which was not unexpected, was a great relief to the Canadian government, as it had been a great obstacle to the treaty with England.
